TORNADOES KILL 12, HURT 100 KANSANS; TROOPS IN CONTROL

Military Rule Is Declared at Hutchinson; 800 Buildings Struck.

SIOUX CITY DAMAGED; STORMS IN 10 STATES

Colorado, Dakotas, Nebraska, Utah and Arizona Have Rain and Windstorms.

SNOW AND HAIL FALL; CLOUDBURST REPORTED

Laramie, Wyo., Is Flooded; Auto Blown From Road and Woman Drowns.

Hutchinson, Kans., May 8 (By A. P.). Eleven persons were known to be dead and probably 100 or more injured as a result of tornadoes which swept northeastward through Barber, Kingman, Reno and McPherson counties late Saturday night.

Cloudbursts that occurred along the storm's path flushed further the already swollen streams. Water stood 4 feet deep today in some low places.

Probably 800 residences along the path of the wind were damaged or demolished, while the combined damage to property will run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

There were at least two twisters, the first about 7:30 p. m., originating in Barber county and sweeping northeast into Kingman county. The other at 11 p. m. originated south of Hutchinson and swept northward through East Hutchinson, leaving a trail of devastation four blocks wide through the city. It hit the east industrial district, then smashed its way northward through the sandhills and tore a swath of destruction west of Medora and Inman.

Forty in One Hospital.

Comparatively few people in Hutchinson knew there had been a tornado, however, until Sunday morning, for the main residence section of the city was spared, the path of the twister being 2½ miles east of the main business district.

Three dead in Barber county, two more in Kingman county, one in Hutchinson and four in the Medora and Inman communities north of Hutchinson made up the toll of dead.

There were 40 injured under treatment at a hospital here tonight. About 40 others were cared for at emergency dressing stations and as many more elsewhere.

The tornado barely missed the State reformatory, where more than 900 young men and women are incarcerated.

Three batteries of nationa. guardsmen were on duty tonight, military rule having been established in the stricken district immediately after the storm.

The local Red Cross began relief work promptly and emergency kitchens and temporary lodging places were established. A relief fund was being raised here and no outside aid will be needed, a Red Cross official said.

Sioux City is Damaged.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 8 (By A. P.).—One woman was killed and hundreds of dollars worth of damage was caused by a wind and rain storm that swept Sioux City tonight.

Mrs. Grace Muhr drowned when an automobile driven by L. C. Noble, Lincoln, Nebr., salesman, was swept by the wind and water into a ditch half a mile north of here.

Reports from surrounding towns indicated that the fury of the storm was spent in Sioux City and Vermillion, S. Dak.

At Vermillion there was a heavy wind and rain storm, followed by damaging hail. Northeast Nebraska towns were visited by the heavy rain, but there was no damage from the wind.

Reports from Fort Laramie, Wyo. said a cloudburst late today flooded streets of that city to a depth of 2 feet, doing considerable property damage. It is also reported a tornado struck in the vicinity of Hershey, Nebr., although no details are available.

Freezing Temperature.

A day of intermittent snow and rain preceded freezing temperatures tonight, the weather bureau indicated.

A tornado which tore through a strip of Lincoln county, Nebr., about 7 o'clock tonight demolished a number of farm buildings and killed several head of live stock. No persons were reported injured.

A number of business buildings in North Platte were reported unroofed.

Strong winds did considerable damage at Cambridge, Seneca and Wilbur earlier in the afternoon.

Snow was reported from Yuma and Ray, Colo., and in the Black hill region.

Torrential rains washed out a railroad bridge near Shellburg, Iowa, today, reports reaching here said. Aside from a number of small streams overflowing, no other damage was reported.

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 8 (By A. P.).—Wyoming was gripped tonight by the worst blizzard in months.

Air mail service was ha'ed between

CAPITAL CORONER CALLED TO SOLVE BAKER MURDER

Time and Manner of Killing Sought; Attorney General Enters Case.

LETTER IS INQUIRED INTO

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Fredericksburg, Va., May 8.—Coincident with the uncovering today of a new angle in the mysterious murder of 9-year-old Albert Baker, of this city, Commonwealth's Attorney William Cole, of Fredericksburg, decided to seek unofficial aid of Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt, of Washington, in an effort to solve the crime that has baffled local and State authorities since the boy's strange disappearance here February 22.

Coroner Nevitt will be consulted in an effort to approximate the manner and time of the Baker boy's murder.

It was intimated strongly today that investigating authorities have abandoned the theory that the boy was murdered shortly after he mysteriously disappeared late in the afternoon of February 22, within a stone's throw of his home, and that his body was then tied in a burlap bag and thrown in the Rappahannock river, from which it was recovered by fishermen last Monday.

The fact that the boy's body was decomposed to such an extent that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Baker, were unable to identify it, other than by the clothing that he wore, has led the investigators to believe that the boy was buried in some lonely spot in, or near Fredericksburg, and that his body was only recently disinterred by the murderer or murderers and tossed into the river.

Medical authorities here pointed out the fact that the boy's body would have been in a much better state of preservation had it been thrown into the river within a reasonable time after the murder is supposed to have been committed.

John R. Saunders, attorney general of Virginia, arrived here today shortly after the departure of Headquarters Detective Ira M. Keck, of Washington, who, for the last four days has aided Fredericksburg police in connection with the murder. Saunders conferred with Dr. J. Garnett King, mayor of Fredericksburg, who has taken a lead-

RULING, FAVORING OIL MEN, SEEN IN MEXICO

Supreme Court Decision on Restraining Orders Next Week, Paper Says.

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Mexico City, May 8.—El Grafico yesterday afternoon published what seemed to have been an inspired story to the effect that the supreme court of Mexico will decide next week 10 or more oil amparcos (restraining orders) in favor of the oil men and return the cases to the lower courts. It is believed the lower courts will accept the viewpoint of the supreme court.

It was said that the authorities here are convinced that Mexico still possesses vast unexplored fields which need many millions of dollars in capital for exploitation, and only the assurance of protection for foreign capital invested in Mexico will induce capital to head for Mexico.

New agrarian regulations have been issued with the intention it appears, of giving confidence to land owners as they tend to restrict largely the seizure of lands for agrarian purposes. The landed proprietors' association has been assured that the landed proprietors will be enabled to resume extensive agriculture.

U.S. TREASURY CALLS BALANCE OF SECOND LIBERTY WAR BONDS

Interest Ceases Nov. 15 on $1,697,337,051, Holders Told.

Extraordinary Advertising in Newspapers and by Radio to Mark Notice.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.

The Treasury yesterday called from the strong boxes of millions of United States citizens the Second Liberty Loan bonds which filtered into their keeping during 1917, soon after America had entered the war.

On and after November 15 more than 3,500,000 of these bonds, with a face value of $1,697,337,050 will cease to bear interest. Issued to run for 25 years, bearing 4 and 4¼ per cent interest, the law under which they were authorized provided that they might be retired at the end of ten years.

By taking advantage of this privilege the government will effect a potential saving in interest charges of $1,018,402,230, for if the issue had been allowed to run the remaining fifteen years of its authorized life each bondholder would have received three-fifths of the face value of his bonds in interest. The actual saving may not run to this total since the Treasury will probably offer conversion privileges to the bondholders in the form of a security with a lower interest rate.

To Use Wide Publicity.

The resources of the nation were utilized in selling these bonds, and in an effort to drive home the fact that within six months they will cease to be revenue producers the Treasury will make use of every publicity medium at its command. Every English daily in the United States will carry an advertisement today telling of the Treasury's decision. Weekly and semiweekly publications are to be used as well. Every bank has been asked to inform its customers, and each postoffice, down to the humblest contract station, will spread the news through placards.

The radio will carry a similar message tomorrow night. The entire hookup of the "red" and "blue" stations of the National Broadcasting Co. will carry an address to be made by Charles S. Dewey, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in New York. The director of the Denver mint will go on the air in the Colorado capital to reach the Rocky mountain section, and an official of the Federal Reserve Board will broadcast from San Francisco.

The Treasury Department hopes by the means it has adopted to bring in for redemption the greater portion of the issue which the public absorbed, in order to finance American and allied participation in the war. It hopes to bring the decision to the attention of all the holders through one of the mediums used to avoid the situation which now keeps in the possession of their holders $30,000,000 worth of government bonds that have long since stopped bearing interest.

In order to facilitate the redemption of the bonds, the Treasury will accept them on and after October 15, al-

Col. A. E. Humphreys Is Shot by Accident

Denver, May 8 (By A. P.).—Col. A. E. Humphreys, millionaire Denver oil man, died here tonight in Mercy hospital, as the result of an accidental gunshot wound. The accident occurred late this afternoon, the full charge of a shotgun striking Col. Humphreys in the face. Col. Humphreys was wounded while alone in his home engaged in examining his guns and fishing tackle preparatory to a contemplated fishing and hunting trip.

He was removed immediately to the hospital where surgeons worked for hours in a vain effort to save his life.

Japanese in Hankow Demand Stern Policy

Shanghai, China, May 8 (By A. P.).—The Japanese residents of Hankow today adopted a resolution urging their government to take strong action in China against communists.

The resolution recited that if a soft policy is continued every Japanese will be forced to leave China.

Names of Victims' Babies Commemorate Big Flood

The Mississippi flood, despite its many drawbacks, has greatly simplified at least one problem of civilization—what to name the baby. Families are commemorating both the flood and additions to their ranks with names suggestive of the disaster they are now enduring.

Two babies born Saturday at the Red Cross camp in Forrest City, Ark., were named by their proud but flood-stricken parents, respectively, "Overflow Johnson," and "High-Water Jones." A new-born babe of a few days ago was given the peculiarly appropriate name of "Refugee Jones."

Not only significant names, but the crop of babies has been a feature of the flood situation, one Red Cross worker observing that "apparently the birth rate is the only thing the flood failed to disrupt."

The stork has been especially busy during the flood time. Nurses from the Red Cross relief camps have had to go in small boats to many of the cut-off towns to assist.

WOMEN FAINT IN CHURCH AS POLICE DRAW CLUBS

Philadelphia Elder Seeks to Make Address When Sermon Is Ended.

PASTOR UNDER CHARGES

Philadelphia, May 8 (By A. P.).—Mother's day services in the Hermon Presbyterian church in Frankford came to an abrupt and tumultuous end today when Ellwood W. Galindo, one of the elders, attempted to address the congregation at the conclusion of the sermon of the pastor, the Rev. Henry H. Crawford, against whom charges of "conduct unbecoming a minister" have been lodged.

When the organ failed to drown the words of the elder, three policemen were called to lead him away. At the sight of the officers, with clubs raised menacingly, two women fainted and many rushed for the exits.

Partisans of the elder, who had persuaded the policemen to release him, lined on one side of the pulpit and supporters of the clergyman took their places on the other. Within half an hour the edifice was cleared.

Several weeks ago a blanket charge of "conduct unbecoming a minister" was made against Dr. Crawford and the minister requested an investigation be made. This was done, and last Monday a commission of the Philadelphia presbytery gave Dr. Crawford an official vote of confidence.

Later, however, the commission was supplied with dates, names and other details alleging "osculatory indiscretions" with members of the congregation and a paid choir singer. The commission will sit as a tribunal tomorrow and hear witnesses under oath.

Demurrer by Chaplin To Be Argued Today

Los Angeles, May 8 (By A. P.).—Arguments on a demurrer and motion to strike out, directed by attorneys for Charles Spencer Chaplin against the divorce complaint of his wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, will be heard by Superior Judge Edwin Hahn here tomorrow.

The film comedian seeks to eliminate much of the allegations set forth by Mrs. Chaplin in her 45-page instrument, particularly sensational charges that he had improper associations with five unnamed women members of the motion picture colony here.

Girl Twins, 13, Swim Five Miles in 1:15:3

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—Bernice and Phyllis Zittenfield, of New York, 13-year-old twins, claimed a time of 1 hour 15 minutes 3 seconds for a 5-mile swim in the Hudson river this afternoon.

Taking off from the United States destroyer Whitney, they swam with the wind and the incoming tide, finishing abreast. The twins' time was given as exactly the same as that in which Phyllis Gant, of London, swam 5 miles and 60 yards in the Thames in 1918.

MAID FOUND BEATEN; DIES IN A HOSPITAL

Signs of Fierce Fight in Home of Millionaire; Chauffeur Is Arrested.

Chicago, May 8 (By A. P.).—The pretentious Lake Forest home of Thorne Connelley, millionaire manufacturer, was the scene of a slaying last night. Wilma Miller, 25, maid in the Connelley home, was beaten to death, and Odo Pueschell, 25, chauffeur on an adjoining estate, was arrested and charged with the crime.

Miss Miller's clothes were torn and disheveled, indicating she had made a fierce fight. Her head was crushed and she was sprawled on the main staircase in the home. She died after removal to a hospital.

The girl was found by Joe Harrison, negro, who told police he saw Pueschell run from the house.

Miss Miller had been alone in the Connelley mansion for more than a week while her employers were in the East.

Louisiana "Sugar Bowl," Cane Land, in Danger of Being Covered.

FLEET IS PREPARED FOR ANY EMERGENCY

Crest of the Flood Is "Lost," Observers Report; Has Left Banks of River.

New Orleans, May 8 (By A. P.).—Devastation of south central Louisiana by the flood was regarded as imminent tonight by Federal and State agents. A rescue fleet and supplies for this district were being concentrated against a probable break in the levees of the Bayou des Glaises, which is bearing the greater portion of the pressure from the Mississippi river flood and back waters of the great lake to the north.

Should these embankments give way, the flood would be released over seven parishes to the south, containing approximately 4,000,000 acres and 250,000 inhabitants. In this section is located the Louisiana "sugar bowl," where practically all of the domestic cane is grown.

A steady battle on this flood front has been carried on for almost a month in the hope that the dikes might be held, but with the tide rising with unprecedented rapidity this hope practically had been abandoned.

Fight Still Carried On.

The fight still was being carried on, however, with the engineers concentrating all available forces at danger points which were developing along a stretch of more than 30 miles.

A break there would divert a large portion of the flood water from the Mississippi to the Atchafalaya basin and materially relieve the situation south on the main stream from the mouth of the Old river north of Baton Rouge to New Orleans.

On this front of more than 250 miles the Mississippi embankments still were holding. The levees were inspected today by Secretaries Hoover and Davis, who made an automobile trip from Baton Rouge to New Orleans after conferring with former Gov. John M. Parker, Louisiana flood dictator, and State officials.

After a discussion of the situation with the members of the citizens' relief committee at New Orleans, Mr. Hoover, who is President Coolidge's personal representative in the flood area, will return to Baton Rouge to remain until the crisis is passed.

Meantime, Secretary Davis will proceed to St. Louis to meet with Charles L. Potter, chairman of the Mississippi river commission, and other engineers

Henry E. Huntington Reported Gravely Ill

Philadelphia, May 8 (By A. P.).—Henry E. Huntington, of Los Angeles, Calif., millionaire art collector and former railroad executive, is seriously ill in the Lankenau hospital here, it became known tonight.

Mr. Huntington was operated on by Dr. John B. Deaver Thursday. Neither the physician nor hospital authorities would disclose the nature of the operation or when Mr. Huntington was admitted to the institution. It was reported that his condition was so serious the physicians were considering summoning his relatives from the Pacific coast.

Two Firemen Perish In $1,500,000 Blaze

Harrisburg, Pa., May 8 (By A. P.).—Two bodies were recovered today from the ruins of the State printery which was destroyed by fire last night with a loss estimated between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000. Seven were injured.

Those killed were Wilbur Sadler and Bernard E. Goodyear, volunteer firemen.

SHOWER-BATH BURNS FATAL TO WOMAN, 83

Miss Eliza H. Miller, of Sandy Spring, Will Be Buried Today.

Miss Eliza H. Miller, 83 years old, of Sandy Spring, Md., who was fatally scalded while bathing at the home of her niece in Wilmington, Del., Friday, will be buried this morning in the Friends' cemetery, Sandy Springs, Md. Funeral services will be held from the home of Mrs. John C. Bentley at Sandy Springs, at 11 o'clock.

Miss Miller was taking a shower bath when she turned a handle by mistake releasing a flow of scalding water. Before she could turn off the flow of water she suffered severe burns on her body. Her niece, Mrs. Lawrence Stabler, ran to her assistance and summoned a physician. Miss Miller died within a few hours however.

She was the daughter of the late Albert H. Miller, of Alexandria, Va. She is survived by a brother, Benjamin H. Miller, of Ashton, Md., and a sister Mrs. Reeves, of Baltimore.

FRENCH AIRMEN FLYING PLANE ACROSS ATLANTIC INTO TEETH OF A STORM

Nungesser's Record in War Marked by Heroic Daring

Won Title of "Hussar of Death" by Capturing German Auto in Dash Through Lines; Felled 45 Planes; Coli a Former Sailor.

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, May 8.—The veteran of 100 fierce air battles and a dashing and daring flier, determined to bring the glory of a first nonstop transatlantic flight between Paris and New York to this country, Capt. Charles Nungesser, one of France's greatest wartime aces, has devoted the last two months to the concentration of every effort to a task eclipsing all his previous accomplishments.

Roll the curtain back thirteen years. War is sweeping over Europe. The nation is at war. Charles Nungesser, back from the Argentine pampas, fresh from a life of hunting wild game, is one of the first to answer the call to the flag. The days roll on and Nungesser is in the Second hussars. Inactive, Nungesser seeks adventure.

The scene shifts and he is with the 148th infantry. This is war. On a sultry afternoon his company is surrounded by the enemy. Nungesser is chosen to drive through a gauntlet of singing bullets to Laon for reinforcements. Machine guns bark, the engine is riddled and the car is halted. The Germans surround the car, but it is empty.

In the blackness Nungesser and two companions push toward their goal. They barricade the road and as daylight breaks halt the car of four enemy officers. Nungesser shoots—shoots straight—and takes the car. Hours later he reaches Laon, the car riddled but himself unwounded. He drops exhausted before the commanding officer, gasping out his message. When Nungesser told his name the commandant said:

"You are a Hussar and you drive a car of death. I name you the Hussar of Death."

CALLS ON GOV. FULLER

Boston, May 8 (By A. P.).—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italian aviator, received an enthusiastic welcome on his arrival here today after resuming his continent-to-continent aerial journey in his new monoplane, the Santa Maria II.

The plane, which Premier Mussolini sent from Italy to replace the machine destroyed by fire at Roosevelt dam, Ariz., landed at the Squantum naval air base at 11:15 a. m., about two hours and fifteen minutes after taking off from Miller field, Staten ilsand, N. Y.

Commander de Pinedo said that the new plane had performed perfectly during the flight. Eight army and navy planes greeted him as he neared the Squantum base and escorted him to the harbor, where he brought the Santa Maria II to the water in a graceful landing.

On stepping ashore, Commander de Pinedo was welcomed by Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of the first naval district, who extended the facilities of the navy in caring for the plane during the aviator's stay here.

A special guard was posted and special precautions taken to guard against a similar mishap to that which caused the loss of De Pinedo's first plane at Roosevelt dam.

The Italian flier was also greeted by a group of Boston Italians. Headed by Marquis Ferrante, Italian consul, he was conveyed from the naval air base to this city by automobile. After an informal call at the home of Gov. Fuller in the afternoon, Commander de Pinedo attended a mass meeting in his honor on Boston Common, where he was acclaimed by several thousand Italian residents of Greater Boston. Tonight he was guest of honor at a dinner at the Copley Plaza hotel.

Man Ends His Life In Niagara Plunge

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 8 (By A. P.). An unidentified man, about 40 years old, committed suicide here this afternoon by going over the American falls. He waded out into the stream about 100 feet above the brink and was swept down by the swift current. As he passed over the crest he was under water and barely visible to the hundreds of tourists at the point.

Before entering the water the man took off his overcoat and suit coat. The overcoat, dark blue with velvet collar, bears no identification mark. The suit coat was of dark blue serge with a light pencil stripe and had the label of a Cleveland clothier.

FRENCH, IF SUCCESSFUL, SECOND TO FLY ACROSS

Alcock and Brown, British, First to Span Atlantic in an Airplane.

FEAT OF U. S. SEAPLANES

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—If Capt. Charles Nungesser's "White Bird" succeeds in winging its way from Paris to New York, it will be the second plane ever to make a nonstop flight across the Atlantic ocean.

The first nonstop transatlantic flight was made by Capt. John Alcock and Lieut. Arthur Whitten Brown, British fliers, in July, 1919. They flew from St. Johns, Newfoundland, to Clifden, Ireland, covering 1,960 miles in 16 hours, 12 minutes, using a Vickers-Vimy biplane.

The same year Harry G. Hawkes and Lieut. Comdr Mackenzie Grieve attempted to cross from St. Johns to Ireland, but fell into the sea when their plane developed engine trouble. They were rescued six days after the start by a steamship.

An Atlantic crossing was made in 1919 when the United States naval seaplane NC-4 flew from Trepassy, British North America, to Lisbon, Portugal, stopping at the Azores. It covered 2,150 miles in 26 hours and 45 minutes' flying time.

Two dirigible airships have crossed the Atlantic in nonstop flights.

The British dirigible R-34 flew from East Fortune, Scotland, to Mineola, N. Y., in 1919, and then flew back to Pulham, England, crossing the ocean each time without stopping. The other nonstop crossing was made in October, 1924, by the present navy dirigible Los Angeles. As the Zeppelin ZR-3, it made a continuous flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany, to Lakehurst, N. J., 5,060 miles, in 81 hours.

Can Not Sleep, Shoots Noise-Maker Dead

Washington, Pa., May 8 (By A. P.).—Because there was so much noise he couldn't sleep, Christian Penico, 34, of Cokeburg, near here, today shot and killed John Landis, 40, according to police reports.

Penico remonstrated with Landis for making so much noise at their rooming house, authorities said, and an argument followed in which Landis was shot.

2 Roadhouses Robbed By Chicago Gangsters

Chicago, May 8 (By A. P.).—Touring gangsters today robbed two roadhouses and their patrons of money and gems estimated to value $6,000.

Four armed men interrupted a fox trot at the Blue Bird tavern, lined up 17 men and women and took their valuables. They then raided the cafe till and fled. Later, the Highland cafe was held up in the same fashion.

Nungesser and Coli Are Last Reported Off the Coast of Ireland.

MORNING HAZE HIDES AERO OVER CHANNEL

CRASH AT THE START IS NARROWLY AVERTED

Snow Flurries and Winds Off Newfoundland in the Path of Fliers.

(By the Associated Press.)

Flying directly into a great storm area over the Atlantic, France's courageous aviators, Capt. Nungesser and Capt. Coli, both war veterans, are supposed to be nearing the Newfoundland coast this morning.

They took off from Le Bourget, France, almost in the midst of a thunderstorm. Off Newfoundland they will encounter high winds, snow and rain.

They were last reported, by private wireless, off the coast of Ireland. Since then they have been lost in silence.

No ship has seen them, so far as any of the watching radio stations has been informed. Numerous vessels have sent in wireless messages, but there was no news of the White Bird.

Neither London nor Paris has received word of the plane other than the early morning reports of passing Havre, Cherbourg, and the unconfirmed message from Ireland.

May Change Course.

The Canadian and Newfoundland radio stations, which will probably be the first to report the coming of the plane, are all on the alert, but the actual sighting of the airship will be a difficult matter, for weather reports show a very low visibility, and cloudy and unsettled conditions are predicted in the New York area for Monday.

Early reports from Paris intimated that Nungesser was steering a northerly course which would take him out of the path of the regular steamers plying the Atlantic, and this, necessarily would account for failure to sight the plane. It is possible, also, that, confronted by the dangers of a storm, the White Bird's course may be still further changed.

London, Monday, May 9 (By A. P.). Today's Daily Mail prints an unconfirmed rumor that Capt. Nungesser's plane had been sighted during the day Sunday by a British destroyer which hoisted the tricolor in salute. The information, the Mail says, came in a private message from Paris.

Plane Speeds West.

Paris, May 8 (By A. P.).—Somewhere over the waters of the north Atlantic a French airplane is winging its way from Paris to New York tonight. In the pilot's seat is one of the greatest heroes aviation gave to the war, Capt. Charles Nungesser. Next to him is a veteran navigator, both of the sea and the air, Capt. Francois Coli.

Since they left the French coast not long after dawn this morning not one word of them has come back to Paris. Their "White Bird" carries no wireless, and the route they are probably taking is many miles north of the path steamships plow in their procession between New York and channel ports.

Aside from their skill, Capts. Nungesser and Coli are staking their fate almost entirely on their plane, its single 450-horsepower motor and enough gasoline to keep it going until tomorrow evening. To reduce weight and wind resistance, and thus increase their speed, they decided to cut themselves off from the world by doing without wireless.

May Land in Afternoon.

With the same end in view they dropped their landing year ten minutes after they got into the air at Le Bourget, and if all goes well the two Frenchmen expect to glide down upon the waters of New York bay tomorrow afternoon.

If atmospheric conditions are moderately favorable, it is expected that Capts. Nungesser and Coli will reach New York shortly after 7 o'clock Monday evening, Paris time. (About 2 p. m. New York time.) It is now said that

Science to Learn History Of Builders of Ancient Kish

Chicago, May 8 (By A. P.).—One of the most alluring problems of archeology—the origin and history of the ancient Sumerians, a round-headed, non-Semitic people who are credited with constructing Kish, believed to be the first city built after the great flood—is expected to be solved next year by members of the Field museum-Oxford university joint expedition into Mesopotamia.

This was predicted today by D. C. Davies, director of the Field museum, in a statement telling of the expedition's achievements in archeological discoveries during the past five years.

Twenty-five feet under a Sumerian temple, rebuilt by Nabonidus, king of Babylon in the sixth century B. C., the party discovered the ruins of an-

From Starvation to Acute Indigestion in Three Days

From starvation to acute indigestion in three days. This was the experience of Harold A. Jarvis, 21 years old, of Indianapolis, Ind., who tips the scale at 205 pounds. He came to this city, police were informed, seeking a job and is still looking for one.

Thursday at Thirteenth and F streets northwest things looked very black to the big Hoosier. He collapsed and was taken to Emergency hospital. He was found to be suffering from starvation and declared he had not eaten for four days. A few hours later, after a large meal, he left the hospital with a smile and a full stomach.

Saturday at Delaware avenue and C street southwest he collapsed once more. He was hurried to Casualty hospital. Physicians found he was suffering from acute indigestion. After treatment he was boarded at Dr. Joseph Rogers' institution for the night and released yesterday afternoon, again feeling fit.

ARLINGTON CROWDS STAND IN DOWNPOUR TO HONOR MOTHERS

Unsung Heroines of Jersey and Pennsylvania Journey to Cemetery.

TRIBUTES LAID ON GRAVE OF UNKNOWN SOLDIER

Score of Patriotic Organizations Hold Services to Honor Women.

Only a flower, white or red. But in its folded petals yesterday lay expressed the affection which typified a nation's observance of Mother's day.

Washington's tribute was given fullest expression at Arlington National cemetery. Despite a steady downpour of rain, several hundred war mothers from Pennsylvania and New Jersey jioned with District mothers and more than a score of patriotic organizations in exercises suitable to the day.

Scattered among the throngs which gathered there were those who wore the single flower—a carnation—red, emblematic of a living mother, and white, symbolic of the revered dead.

President and Mrs. Coolidge took part in the observance of the day by attending First Congregational services in the Metropolitan theater. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns. Mrs. Coolidge returned with Mr. and Mrs. Stearns to the evening services.

The presidential party heard motherhood glorified by the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce.

"Motherhood personifies love," Dr. Pierce said. "The terms 'love' and 'mother,' wherever they occur, are interchangeable. To be truly great one must first have had a great mother."

"The greatest battles of the world have been fought by the mothers of men," Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington university, told those gathered in the memorial amphitheater, "Women always have been the unsung heroes of the wars of the world."

Dr. Lewis extolled the home as the unit of civilization and declared that civilization itself will crumble when the home and mother influence dwindle to a memory. Increased crime and lawlessness, he said, can be traced to the declining supremacy of the home.

"Let no son of a mother say that women are the weaker sex," Dr. Lewis said. "Women have proved that among all the powers in the world the power of motherhood is greatest.

Former Representative William E. Andrews, of Nebraska, presided at the exercises, which were sponsored by the American War Mothers. A brief tribute to mothers was delivered by William Knowles Cooper, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Invocation was by the Rev. Francis J. Hurney and benediction by Dr. W. S. Abernethy.

Musicians in Downpour.

While others sought cover from the rain under the sheltered colonnade, the Army, Navy and Marine bands, which furnished the music for the exercises, remained at their posts throughout the downpour.

Following the ceremonies in the amphitheater, wreaths were placed on the grave of the Unknown, while six service men, two each selected from the army, the navy and the marine corps, stood guard. Tributes were laid as Capt Jared Wood read the names of those participating. At the conclusion of the exercises Sergt. Frank Witchey, of the Third cavalry, sounded taps over the tomb.

Many Organizations Represented.

Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart; District of Columbia Sons of the American Revolution, Kenneth S. Wales; Daughters of Veterans, Ellen Spencer Mussey camp, No. 1, Mrs. Katherine C. Rahn; Mary Taliaferro Thompson Southern Memorial association, Mrs. Frank Morrison; United Daughters of the Confederacy, Mrs. Madeline C. Tuk; Robert E. Lee chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, Mrs. W. E. Hutton; Spanish-American War Veterans auxiliary, Mrs. Summerfield; American War Mothers of the District, Mrs. Eudora Shehan, mother of an unknown dead, and Mrs. Tibbitts; American War Mothers of New Jersey, Mrs. Anna Shannahan; American War Mothers of Philadelphia, Mrs. Jackson, mother of an unknown dead; American War Mothers of Wilkes-Barre, Mrs. Patterson; Susie Dawson chapter, American War Mothers of Newark, Mrs. Davenport.

Schools and churches are at best poor substitutes for homes, the Rev. J. Hillman Hollister said yesterday in a Mother's day sermon at the Chevy Chase Presbyterian church. Rarely, he added, can a church lift the level of a life above the spiritual level of the home.

Woman should never let her interest in philanthropy, or in politics displace her interest in the greater things that belong to the home, he said.

"Shall we fathers and mothers withdraw just now when our youths need us most," he asked, "when crime among the so-called better class is on the gain, when materialism among educated youth is growing fast, and when much that takes the name of home is not home at all?"

The Rev. James Shera Montgomery, in his sermon at the Metropolitan Methodist church, declared that "the paramount need of today is the consecrated mother at the fireside, teaching the girls the high and holy virtue of Christian motherhood.

"Tomorrow will then be safe," he said, "for the girls of today are to become the mothers of tomorrow. America needs mothers. America must have them."

Gratitude, sacrifice and affection of mothers the world over, as typified in the Blessed Virgin, was theme of a sermon by Bishop Thomas J. Shahan at mass yesterday morning in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception at Catholic university.

Sixty members of the Detroit chapter, Salve Regina, made a Mother's day pilgrimage to the shrine. Mass was attended also by 300 members of the Catholic Women's Benevolent legion. Returning for vesper services, they were addressed by the Rev. Bernard McKenna.

Celebration of Mother's day at the Fifteenth Street Presbyterian church was featured by an address by the Rev. J. Milton Waldron, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist church. Mrs. Frances Boyce spoke on behalf of the Missionary society, and Mrs. M. L. Meriwether on behalf of the Temperance union. The Christian Endeavor society was represented by Miss Viola Robinson and the Mothers' club by Mrs. Jessie Jenefer Jones. The benediction was said by the Rev. J. Francis Grimke, former pastor.

Love of Mother Is Called Highest Ideal by J. J. Davis

Indianapolis, Ind., May 8 (By A. P.).—Faithfulness to the ideal image of him abiding forever in a loving mother's heart was his conception of man's highest destiny, said James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, in a Mothers' day address here today.

"All that I am in life, all that I have been able to accomplish, I owe to her," was his tribute to his mother, lost since last Mother's day.

"The best in any man is what he derived from his mother, and the greater the man, the more indebted to his mother he is always found to have been," said the Secretary.

He traced the hand of woman in the world's affairs and asserted "our indebtedness to woman is beyond all calculation."

RITES FOR BEN W. MURCH AT GEORGETOWN CHURCH

First-Division Schools to Close Wednesday During Funeral of Supervisor.

BURIAL TO BE IN MAINE

Funeral services for Ben W. Murch, supervising principal of the First division of public schools, who died Saturday in Georgetown hospital, will be held in Georgetown Presbyterian church Wednesday at 3 p. m. Honorary pallbearers will be Frank W. Ballou, Stephen E. Kramer, Robert L. Haycock, Raymond O. Wilmarth, Seldon M. Ely, Walter B. Patterson, Ephraim G. Kimball, John A. Chamberlain, Harry O. Hine, Charles K. Finckel, Charles A. Johnson and Henry W. Draper.

Burial will be in Cornell, Maine, the birthplace of Mr. Murch. The body will be accompanied to Cornell by his two sisters, Mrs. M. J. Hutchinson and Miss Minnie Murch, and his daughter, Miss Olive Murch.

Mr. Murch was born at Cornell, Maine, June 29, 1858. He received his education in the Cornell public schools and Central institute, later entering Yale, but receiving his degrees of A. B. and A. M. at Bates college in 1882. He became principal of the academy at Derby, Vt., in 1887. There he married Rosa Foster. He came to Washington as principal of Curtis school the same year. In 1892 Mr. Mursh was appointed principal of Force school, later becoming assistant superintendent. In 1908 he was promoted to supervising principal of the second division and was transferred in 1916 to the first division, which includes schools in Georgetown, Cleveland Park, Chevy Chase, Tenleytown, Wesley Heights and Conduit road sections.

He was active in civic and fraternal affairs. He was a member of the Georgetown Citizens association, Board of Trade, Caravan club, National Geographic association, Federal Schoolman's club, of several educational associations of the District, and was a past president of the Maine association.

Schools in Mr. Murch's district will close Wednesday afternoon during the services and will fly the flag at half staff.

DANIEL OSCAR MILLER, EDITOR, IS DEAD AT 51

Head of Columbia Heights Observer Was Born in Indiana.

Daniel Oscar Miller, 51 years old, 1820 Clydesdale place northwest, editor of the Columbia Heights Observer, died unexpectedly yesterday of heart disease at his residence.

Mr. Miller was born in New Haven, Ind. After finishing school he came to Washington and obtained employment with Lansburgh & Bros.' department store, where he worked for 23 years. When he left this firm to go with M. Brooks & Co., he was advertising manager. For the past two years he had been editor of the Columbia Heights Observer.

Mr. Miller is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lauretta C. Miller; a daughter, Florence Miller; a son, Herbert Miller; his mother, Mrs. G. W. Thiebolt, and a brother, Edward C. Miller.

Osgood, Music Critic And Composer, Dies

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—Henry Osborne Osgood, associate editor of the Musical Courier, author, critic and composer, died today after an illness of several months. He was 48 years old.

At one time Mr. Osgood conducted at the Royal Opera at Munich. At the outbreak of the world war he returned with his family to this country. He occupied a prominent place among American composers, many outstanding artists using his compositions for voice and piano. He was born in Peabody, Mass., educated in Boston and studied music later in Germany, France and Italy.

Ducal Head of Noted Spanish House Dies

Madrid, Spain, May 8 (By A. P.).—The Duke of Fernandez-Nunez, grandee of Spain, died here today. He was the head of one of the most important and oldest houses of nobility and 20 years ago retired as court chamberlain.

His daughter is the wife of the Count de Maza, now visiting the United States. The Duke of Arco, his eldest son, succeeds to the title.

ULRIC S. J. DUNBAR SERVICES

Funeral services for Ulric S. J. Dunbar, celebrated sculptor and artist, who died Saturday, will be held in his home this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Masonic Scottish Rite services will be held. Burial will be in Fort Lincoln cemetery, where the Masonic blue lodge ceremony will be held.

Mr. Dunbar was a resident of Washington 45 years, during which he rose to fame in his art. He designed and sculptured numerous figures of great men and is said to have made more death masks of famous men than any other sculptor.

EDUCATION IS URGED IN CITY PLANNING AT SESSIONS HERE

Courses Which Should Be Taught and Where Discussed by American Institute.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE TO CONTINUE 3 DAYS

Zoning, Skyscraper Regulations and Beautification Are Among Topics on Program.

Education in city planning was discussed at a meeting of the American City Planning institute last night in Wardman Park hotel. The meeting discussed the courses in city planning which should be taught professional men and where the courses should be taught.

The secretary, Flavel Shurtleff, was directed to make a survey of present courses on the subject and make a digest of the matter taught in order that a more comprehensive plan for city planning education might be worked out. John Nolen, president of the institute, and who will preside at the meetings of the nineteenth national conference on city planning, which will open at the Wardman Park hotel today, presided at the meeting. Seven new members of the governing board were elected last night.

The conference on city planning will attempt to thresh out questions on city planning which have been bothering the men in charge of this work, and to work out zoning and skyscraper regulations that will be feasible and yet in comport with beauty in the planning of a city, according to Mr. Nolen.

The nineteenth national conference on city planning will open a three-day session at the Wardman Park hotel this morning at 9 o'clock when delegates to the conference will register. An informal reception will be held at 11 o'clock and a welcoming luncheon at 12:15 o'clock.

John Nolen, president of the conference, will preside at the opening session at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Among the speakers will be Hugh R. Pomeroy, secretary of the Los Angeles county regional planning commission; Nicholas S. Hill, jr., consulting engineer of New York; Chester I. Barnard, vice president Bell Telephone Co., of Pennsylvania; Dean Frank H. Sommer, New York University Law school, and Howard E. Long, secretary Niagara frontier planning board, Tonawanda, N. Y.

Prof. James S. Pray, school of landscape architecture, Harvard university, and J. Rowland Bibbins, consulting engineer of this city, will lead the discussion at the dinner at 6 o'clock tonight.

President Nolen will address the conference at the evening session, which begins at 8 o'clock. Lewis Mumford and Charles Moore, chairman of the commission of fine arts of Washington, also will speak at the evening session.

The conference will discuss the development of the National Capital and its environs at the evening session tomorrow, which will be attended by representatives of the citizens' associations of Washington and other civic organizations.

LONDON BISHOP LAUDS MORALS OF AMERICA

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

London, May 8.—"Despite the opinion of the pessimists both inside and outside the church, there are no indications that we and the Americans are going to the dogs," declared the Rev. Edward Henry Winnington-Ingram, bishop of London, who returned to London last night after a nine months' world tour, which carried him across America.

"At no time in the history of the world have people been so discouraged by doubt and swayed by unbelief, yet my tour has taught me that the morals of the world are not as bad as they are painted," the bishop continued. "Christianity has not failed, despite the suffering of mankind during the war or the disappointment and bitterness engendered afterward."

When questioned regarding America particularly, the bishop declared enthusiastically:

"One of my greatest impressions was gained through preaching to 10,000 people in the cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. That is a magnificent edifice and a proud monument to Christianity. I was quite proud of my American game of tennis with Miss Helen Wills!"

DUKE OF YORK OPENS AUSTRALIAN BUILDING

Canberra, Australia, May 9 (Monday) (By A. P.).—The culmination of the royal tour came today when the Duke of York formally opened the new temporary parliament building at noon in the new federal capital. The ceremonies were elaborate and picturesque. The Duchess of York was present and a huge assemblage had gathered from all parts of Australia. Lord Stonehaven, governor general, and the prime minister, Stanley M. Bruce, were in attendance, and two million people listened by radio to descriptions of the affair broadcast throughout the dominion.

In the course of his speech the Duke of York said: "Today marks the end of one epoch and the beginning of another, and our thoughts turn instinctively to what the future may have in store. One's own life would hardly be worth living without its dream of better things, and the life of a nation without such dreams for a better and larger future would be poor indeed."

In behalf of the king, the duke conferred various honors on Premier Bruce and others connected with the function.

Woman in Motor Car Swallows Poison

While riding in the rear seat of an automobile operated by Leo Tweedale, of 1741 Lanier place northwest, late last night, Miss Claudia Wayman, 22 years old, of the same address, swallowed poison. She was unconscious early today at Emergency hospital, and no reason could be ascribed for her act. Her condition is serious.

Tweedale told Dr. Clyde Cantrell, of the hospital staff, who treated the young woman, that he noticed her slump down on the rear seat of the car at Fourteenth street and Florida avenue northwest. Upon investigation he found a bottle, labeled and containing a few drops of poison. He sped to Emergency hospital and en route Miss Wayman lapsed into unconsciousness.

Collections Throughout Nation Now Stand at $9,005,000, Reports Show.

EASTERN STATES GIVE $5,800,000 FOR RELIEF

Coast Guard and Other Government Boats Doing Valiant Service.

More than the $10,000,000 now being raised for flood relief in the Mississippi valley will be required, it was said at the headquarters of the American Red Cross last night. Less than $1,000,000 more is needed to bring the $10,000,000 campaign to completion, but this sum will not be enough to care for the flood sufferers.

The actual total of the fund last night was $9,500,000, the Eastern States having given $5,800,000; the mid-Western States, $2,292,000; the Pacific coast States, $797,000; Red Cross chapters outside the United States, $22,000, and Red Cross headquarters here, $100,000. There are 340,000 refugees dependent upon the Red Cross for sustenance and more being taken in daily.

Acting Chairman James L. Fieser of the Red Cross, with Secretary of Commerce Hoover, chairman of the special Mississippi river flood relief committee, and Secretary of War Davis inspected the model camp at Natchez, Miss., Saturday, and reported that assignments of shelter and relief measures are being conducted in a most orderly manner. He declared coast guard and other government boats are doing valiant service.

337,854 Under Care.

A record total of 337,854 refugees are under the care of the Red Coss in the seven States swept by the flood. Despite this great army of homeless, the Red Cross forces are preparing for an even greater number in anticipation of new breaks in lower Louisiana, which engineers state may occur at any time.

It is believed the boats mustered at the danger points are sufficient to cope with the situation if the flood beaks into southern Louisiana parishes. Supplies and other relief material are moving in efficient fashion to all points, with the emergency situation well organized, a report to the headquaters here yesterday said.

Director of Disaster Relief Henry M. Baker has announced an appropriation of $75,000 for emergency seed and other supplies for Arkansas farmers, which will be used in the next ten days, but only as an emergency aid. He also promised such aid in other sections as the flood recedes.

A back-to-the-farm movement already has started at Mariana, Ark., but the receding water will soon make it difficult to get supplies to that camp, it was feared, due to deep mud and broken bridges. Refugees, however, are returning to their farms, where they will receive the aid they need from the Red Cross, it was said.

"Mudding-in" the cotton crop will be a feature of the post-disaster agricultural processes in many sections now under water, Red Cross relief headquarters in Memphis, Tenn., reports. As the flood waters recede negro farm workers will go out into the heavy soft mud left by the water over the former cotton fields, and dropping the seed into the mud, will press it into the ground with their bare feet. Thousands of acres of cotton will be planted in this manner in the Mississippi valley, it was said.

In the meantime, the Red Cross forces are waging an unceasing fight against disease, with approximately 119,000 inoculated against typhoid and 108,000 against smallpox.

The Mount Pleasant Attic Players, all children in their early teens, gave a vaudeville show Saturday night for the benefit of the flood sufferers and realized $11.50, which will be given to the Red Cross fund. The performance was at the home of the youthful director, Theodore Tiller 2d, and was witnessed by more than 60 grown-ups and children. Included in the cast were: Elsie Ward, Frances Vaughan, Jessie Thurston, Barry Mulligan, Dorothy Witcover, Wallace Witcover, Teel Tiller and Howard Smith. Theodore Tiller wrote most of the skits. William Backus and Churchill Downey gave violin duets.

Policeman Collects $101.

Policeman Dallas A. Gourley, of the Third precinct, one of the crack pistol shots of the Metropolitan police force, made a score of $101.40 yesterday for the benefit of the relief fund. He collected the money from the residents of his beat at Eighteenth and I streets northwest, in a two-hour campaign.

Five little girls gave a garden party yesterday at the home of one of their number and raised $3.10 for the fund. The girls, Jane and Jean Gibbons, Peggy and Barbara Keyser and Betty Attwill, sent their contribution to The Post to be included in the relief fund being collected for the Red Cross by The Post.

Committees for the flood relief ball, which will be held at the Willard hotel tonight, were announced as follows yesterday:

Reception committee—Charlton M. Clark, chairman; Maj. Gen. B. Frank Cheatham, Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, Rear Admiral R. H. Leigh, Col. W. A. McCain, Commander Garland Fulton, Maj. Sam I. McCants, Senator Pat Harrison, Jeff Busby, Justice Charles B. Howry, Judge Edgar A. McCullough, Capt. Fred Beall, Harry Peyton, Carl Schaifer, Dr. Clifton P. Clark, Dr. Oscar Wilkinson, Orlando H. Smith, Harry R. Fulton, Robert A. Lacey, and their wives.

Floor committee—W. E. Erwin, Maj. O. M. Lawrence, Maj. John A. Sullivan, Paul Wooten, Orlando H. Smith, jr., James Lea. Committee on arrangements—George M. Potter, Harvey C. Long, W. R. King, Vernon B. Lowrey, S. J. Lowrey, Commander F. L. Sandoz, for the Louisiana State society; H. R. Young, for the Arkansas State society; Mrs. W. W. Badgley, for the Missouri State society; A. L. Duncan, for the Tennessee State society; Mrs. V. Y. Moore, for the Kentucky State society; V. B. Martin, for the Illinois State society; I. Y. Bain, for the Alabama State society, and Lee Lamar Robinson, for the Pan-State society.

Previously acknowledged, $3,772.95.
Alfred E. Simond, $2.
Kate T. Bonner, $5.
Five little girls—Jane Gibbons, Jean Gibbons, Peggy Keyser, Barbara Keyser and Betty Attwill, $3.10.
Total received yesterday, $15.10.
Total received, $3,788.05.

Young Woman, Playing With Children, Dies

Winchester, Va., May 8.—Death came to Mrs. Katharine Green, young wife of Douglas Green, yesterday afternoon as she joined some of the children of her neighborhood in games.

As she laughed and entered into the spirit of the amusements of the children she was seized with a heart attack and died before a doctor could be called.

for a discussion of a comprehensive plan of future flood control for recommendation to Congress next December.

To Visit Artificial Crevasse.

While in New Orleans both Secretary Hoover and Secretary Davis will visit the artificial crevasse made week before last at Caernavan, 15 miles below this city, to relieve the flood pressure here. This crevasse now is more than 2,000 feet wide and high explosives still were being used today to remove the batture in front of the break so that the full force of the current might be directed into St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes, a large portion of which already are flooded.

While crevasse waters from the Mississippi were completing the inundation of the east central portion of the State, further improvement in the situation to the north, below the Arkansas line, was reported. The flood waters flowing down from the Arkansas river apparently had passed their crest and the levels in a number of towns in that section were lowering steadily.

Refugees Held Together.

Vicksburg, Miss., May 8 (By A. P.).—L. O. Crosby, director of the State relief and rehabilitation committee, has issued an appeal to flood refugees here, asking that they return to their homes as soon as possible after the flood waters recede.

"While we appreciate the attitude of our people," Mr. Crosby said, "a full review of the circumstances would convince them that it is extremely inadvisable to move any one from the camps except back to their original abode. If we are to help the inundated section of the great delta, we must get the labor back upon the farms as fast as the water recedes and it is imperative that they be kept in the concentration camps ready for movement."

The statement was made in answer to the suggestions received from many parts of the State that the laborers be allowed to go to various parts of the State before they were taken back to their homes.

Crest of Flood Is "Lost."

New Orleans, La., May 8 (By A. P.).—The crest of the record-breaking Mississippi river flood has been "lost" somewhere in the vast expanse of flooded area in northeast Louisiana.

So long as it remained in the river, all was well, gauges along the line showed its arrival and its departure by ascending and descending stages, but tonight the crest has eluded the government weather bureau officials and rambling across fertile farms and through dense swmaps where no government gauges check its course.

"Somewhere in northeastern Louisiana," was the reply of Dr. I. M. Cline, meteorologist in the local weather bureau, when asked where the crest was tonight. "I'm trying to find it," he said, by telephone communication to that section, particularly Jonesville.

Power Boats Are Asked.

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—Members of the American Power Boat association were requested today to put their craft at the disposal of rescue workers in the Mississippi flood territory.

Motorcraft should be shipped to Edwin J. Mullins, jr., director of the motor division of the American Red Cross, Clarksdale, Miss., said Fred R. Still, president of the association, in telegrams sent to members.

"Herein lies an opportunity for our yacht clubs and their members to put into action the true fraternal spirit that has always characterized the yachtsmen of the country," he said.

Ira Hand, secretary of the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, estimated that 40,000 boats of al l sorts were in use between Memphis and New Orleans in relief work.

Town Team Defeated By Southerners Gives $500

St. Louis, May 8 (By A. P.).—A tale of true sportsmanship came out of mid-Western Red Cross headquarters here today.

In the recent national basketball tournament the Huron, S. Dak., team was eliminated by a team from Florence, Miss. Accompanied by a $500 flood relief contribution, the Red Cross received this note from Huron:

"The writer just remembers that in the national basketball tournament our Huron team was eliminated by the Florence, Miss., team. If Florence is in the flood district, we would be very pleased if you would kindly mention to them that Huron, S. Dak., is especially glad and anxious to help them in their distress."

POLICE SEEK AUTOIST AFTER BRIDGE CRASH

Two, Arrested After Car Hits Trolley, Say Driver Ran Away.

Police are seeking the driver of an automobile which early yesterday morning crashed into a street car on the Highway bridge, damaging the street car and nearly demolishing the auto. Two men who were in the automobile were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct, police say, but a third, whom the other two declare was driving the automobile, jumped from the auto and ran away.

Shortly after the accident a man in civilian clothes walked into the White House lunch room at 1227 Pennsylvania avenue near Thirteenth street and called a military base in Washington, employes of the lunch room declare. He said over the telephone that he was a lieutenant but the men in the store did not understand the name. The automobile he called for went to the lunch room and took him away.

The two other men, who gave their names as Pharmacist Mate Francis Hickey and Jack Barraza, of the naval hospital at Quantico, Va., were released from the Fourth precinct station on their deposit of $5 collateral. They told police they did not know the third man and that they had met him on Ninth street.

FRANCE PAYS HONOR TO ST. JOAN OF ARC

Paris, May 8 (By A. P.).—In all of France, from the tiniest hamlets to the crowded streets of Paris, the glorious memory of St. Joan of Arc was celebrated today, piously and patriotically. Everywhere there were fetes and flowers, speeches, sermons and songs in honor of France's saintly heroine and in all the churches her memory was especially observed, for this was Joan's day in the calendar of saints.

Buildings, public and private, in the lowly streets, as well as in the pretentious avenues and boulevards, were beflagged with the tricolor of the republic, the blue and white banner of Joan of Arc, the fleur de lis she had fought for and the white and gold of the church that made her one of the saints. Tonight her statues all over France are heaped high with flowers.

In Paris a thunderstorm did not prevent 50,000 crowding the Rue de Rivoli to get as close as possible to the statue of Joan of Arc that looks out upon Tuilleries gardens. At the foot of this statue two ministers, Premier Painleve and M. Sarraut, placed a wreath in the name of the republic. The archbishop of Paris, Cardinal Dubois, likewise laid a floral offering there.

BUSINESS OF ITALY HIT BY MUSSOLINI'S ECONOMIC PROGRAM

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Rome, May 8.—Premier Mussolini's program for deflation and revaluation of the lira has been crowned with political success, but his miracle-working in Italian finance may cost the nation's industry dearly, for awhile, at least. The loss of foreign markets, owing to the high price of Italian wares, may have a lasting effect on Italy's commerce. It is certain that the effect of what many bankers call the too rapid rise of the lira is now being felt extensively by the nation's business and industry.

The correspondent has just returned to Rome after making a detailed investigation in the commercial and industrial regions of northern Italy. There he found general production decreasing rapidly.

Bankers, especially those who finance big commercial undertakings, expressed fears that the business depression had just begun, and that before normal conditions are re-established there will have been many business failures and more general hard times.

At bottom Italy's financial structure is sound. This is the opinion of virtually every financial expert. But no business, no matter how sound, can pass through a period of rapid fluctuation, either upward or downward, without serious consequences.

Increase in Failures.

It is pointed out that while the average number of business failures in 1913 and in 1925 and 1926 was under 25 a day, in the first three months of 1927 the number had increased to more than 35 a day. In the thirteen business days from April 19 to May 4, inclusive, there were 689 failures, either voluntary or involuntary, in Italy, according to Il Sole, organ of the Milan Chamber of Commerce.

Bankers say these figures are not alarming and are more or less to be expected as soon as a general financial depression hits a country. Most of the firms which failed were small ones which sprang up during the war in numbers greater than the country could support in normal times. These firms are being allowed to disappear for the general good of the nation.

It is pointed out, however, that the full effects of the depression are not yet being felt. However, it is significant that several large banking and industrial institutions have been saved only by the direct intervention and assistance by the government.

One large bank, which must remain anonymous, was put on its feet when failure appeared certain, through Premier Mussolini's order to Milan's most capable banker to take over its management and to provide sufficient credit to tide it over. Two large automotive undertakings likewise were saved from failure by government intervention, chiefly in the form of government orders for airplane motors and other necessary military supplies.

The heavy industries in the textile trade, with the exception of the artificial silk business, are in a precarious condition. While the official unemployment figures do not show a great increase, there is more part-time employment than before. The large textile firms are operating three or four days a week rather than lay off workmen entirely. Representatives of the American cotton firms are finding practically no market for bale cotton.

With the lira at the present rate of exchange and with large stocks of cotton priced at high-lira prices on hand, spinners and weavers are finding competition with the German and British mills extremely difficult. Markets which formerly were exclusively Italian now are turning to Germany and Great Britain for their piece goods.

In the automotive industry there has been considerable overproduction. The home market absorbed only about 75 per cent of the estimated quantity, while the competition for Italian cars abroad is exceedingly difficult until new price cuts are made. These are impossible at present in view of the cost of stocks and raw materials on hand.

There have been two important causes for the rapid rise in the value of the lira, which has gone entirely beyond the government's estimate. The first and probably most important is the number of loans in foreign currency negotiated for Italy's account, giving the country a surplus for exchange.

Second, there has been much speculation abroad in lira, based on Premier Mussolini's speeches, which created an unusual demand in other countries for the lira. There was no intention to permit the increase in the value of the lira to be so rapid as to disorganize the country's industry and finance, but nothing but a retraction of the revaluation policy would stop the rise in value when it became dangerous to industry. This, naturally, was impossible for Premier Mussolini for political reasons.

Increase Nearly Double.

In six months the increase brought the lira from the low value of 3.30 cents to 5.50 or 5.66 cents. At the same time wholesale prices were reduced only 20 per cent, while retail costs show only 1 per cent reduction today.

However, European financiers have faith in the soundness of Italy's position and believe Premier Mussolini's policy will be crowned with success if he is able to tide industry over the present difficult period of readjustment, or if the revaluation is not carried too far.

The question of balancing Italy's budget, which naturally has been disorganized by the rapid increase of the lira, is an important one. The gold value of Italy's internal debt has been increased from $3,500,000,000 to more than $5,000,000,000. Bankers point out that this probably is the most serious aspect of the entire problem, since service on the foreign debt was provided for through Germany's reparations payment.

With the lira values up and prices being reduced to meet international competition, there naturally is going to be a severe decrease in the lira value of profits, and hence the tax on incomes.

Premier Mussolini's financial task for the future appears to be the most serious problem he has had to face since his advent to power. It might be called a real test for fascism.

Woman Loses Jewels In Robbery on Liner

Plymouth, England, May 8 (By A. P.).—Miss Matilda Pillot, of Park avenue, New York, was robbed of jewels, checks and cash aggregating $12,000 in value, while on board the Red Star liner Belgenland, en route from New York to Europe. This was learned when the steamer arrived here at 5 o'clock this morning.

Merrick and Maj. E. W. Cushing.

The mile strip on Columbia pike connecting at the Fairfax line will be completed by Wednesday. With this section resurfaced motorists will have a direct hard surfaced road from Washington by way of the Highway bridge over Columbia pike to Winchester, a distance of more than 50 miles.

The Arlington county Red Cross fund for the Mississippi flood sufferers has reached $1,195.46. The county's quota is $1,600.

GOODYEAR CONTROL SUIT TO OPEN TODAY

Stockholders Ask $15,000,000 Damages and Accounting of Profits.

Akron, Ohio, May 8 (By A. P.).—The trial of a suit upon which hinges control of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the country's largest rubber-producing firm, will open in common pleas court tomorrow.

It is the suit brought by Frank C. Tomlinson and eight other stockholders against Clarence Dillon, New York, and John Sherwin, Cleveland, bankers; Dillon, Read & Co., New York, and the Goodyear company.

The action demands an accounting of Goodyear profits since Dillon, Read & Co. and others took over control of the firm. It also asks $15,000,000 damages and seeks removal of management stock trustees.

The Tomlinson action is the pivotal suit in much similar litigation aimed at the management of the rubber company. Counter-suits and answers have been filed, and F. A. Seiberling, formerly president of the company, who is said to be interested in the Tomlinson action, has been made defendant in an action brought by Goodyear officials, in which they seek recovery of more than $3,000,000. Seiberling was accused by Goodyear officials of mismanagement.

Officer Faces Charge Of Killing With Plane

Montgomery, Ala., May 8 (By A. P.). Lieut. Arthur Lehman, United States army aviator, will face a court-martial sitting at Maxwell field here tomorrow afternoon, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death on October 26, 1926, of Frank G. Browder, a Confederate veteran.

The court will be composed of fifteen army officers. The prosecution will be conducted by Maj. John Park, assisted by Lieut. Knapp, of Maxwell field. Lieut. Lehman will be defended by Maj. Charles A. Stokes and Lieut. Powers, of Fort McPherson, Atlanta.

Browder was killed on his plantation near here by a low flying airplane. Several planes from Maxwell field were in the air at the time Browder was killed and bloodstains and hair found on the landing gear of Lehman's machine led to his arrest

Auto Hits Pillar; Two Men Injured

Two men were injured late last night when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a pillar of the viaduct at First and K streets northeast. The car was demolished. The injured were treated at Casualty hospital.

Warner Bailey, of the Army and Navy club, drove the car. He suffered cuts and abrasions. William Stayton, 60 years old, of Baltimore, Md., a passenger in the car, was cut.

5,110 PAY ALEXANDRIA TAX IN ORDER TO VOTE

Greatest Number Turn In Fee Since Women's Enfranchisement in 1921.

I. O. O. F. SESSION PLANNED

The largest number of persons since 1921, the year the franchise was extended to women in Virginia, have paid their capitation taxes which will qualify them to vote in the August primary in Alexandria. The number paid at the closing of the office of City Treasurer Roger C. Sullivan Saturday night was 5,110, the highest previous number being 5,048, in 1921, and the number last year, 4,903. The office of the city treasurer will be open tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock, this being the last day on which the tax may be paid in order to render the person eligible to vote in the Democratic primary.

The reason assigned for the unusually large number of persons paying the tax is that there are candidates in the field for representative in the State legislature, and a loca. candidate, Charles Henry Smith, will oppose Frank L. Ball, of Arlington county, for the State senate.

Alexandria will be represented at the annual meeting of the Retail Merchants association of Virginia at Virginia Beach, June 20-22, by 20 members of the local Retail Merchants association. J. Kent White and F. C. Knight are in charge of arrangements. Claude W. Fletcher, of this city, is one of the directors of the State organization, and will attend the meeting. State authorities have notified the Alexandria association that several thousand stickers will be sent this week for distribution among the merchants.

Plans are being made to entertain 900 delegates to the grand lodge of Odd Fellows and the encampment of the Rebekahs to be held in Alexandria May 22 to 25, while the number of visitors will doubtless bring the total to 1,500 persons.

Woll Asks Canceling Of Debts to America

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—Mathew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and president of the Protoengravers' union, made an appeal in the current issue of the American Photo Engraver for a reduction or complete cancellation of the foreign war debts due this country.

Mr. Woll said that both the industrialists and workers in this country realize that the debts should be reduced if not cancelled, not by reason of legal considerations, but because of industrial or economic requirements.

"With America the greatest creditor nation of all time," Mr. Woll said, "nationalistic hatreds are being created and directed against this country."

Boy, Missing Nearly Month, Found in River

Little Rock, Ark., May 8 (By A. P.).—The body of Lonnie White, 13-year-old boy who disappeared April 11, was found in driftwood 5 miles east of Little Rock today. The boy apparently had drowned in the Arkansas river.

With the discovery of the body, the double mystery surrounding his disappearance and that of 12-year-old Floella McDonald the day following, was cleared up. The body of the McDonald girl was found a week ago in the belfry of the First Presbyterian church, where Lonnie Dixon, a 16-year-old son of the negro janitor of the church, has confessed that he had murdered her.

$750,000 for Jewish Culture Center Move

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—A quota of $750,000 was pledged today by delegates of 69 New York and New England lodges of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith toward a $2,000,000 fund for establishing Jewish cultural centers in American universities and among young Jewish workers and combatting anti-Semitic prejudices.

The delegates met at the annual convention of District Grand lodge, No. 1. Dr. Boris D. Bogen, of Cincinnati, told them Hillel foundations similar to those at the Universities of Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and California are contemplated in all American universities.

Both Houses in Japan Pass Bank Relief Bill

Tokyo, Japan, May 8 (By A. P.).—Both houses of the diet have passed the financial relief bill. The lower house adopted an amendment providing that aid shall be given not only to banks which have already reopened but also to those still suspended whose prospects of recovery are reasonably good. For this purpose an imperial ordinance will be issued appointing a special commission of investigation.

All the branches of the Bank of Taiwan (Bank of Formosa) have been ordered to reopen tomorrow (Monday).

Easton Home Burns; Fireburg Suspected

Special to The Washington Post.

Easton, Md., May 8.—The large two-story dwelling on the farm of Mrs. Bessie, Marine, on Dutchman Lane road, about 2 miles from Easton, tenanted by her brother, James Ross, was destroyed by fire last night, together with all wearing apparel and nearly all the furniture.

There was no one home at the time and an incendiary origin is suspected as Mr. Ross, jr., said there was no fire in the house.

MRS. SNYDER HEARS SERVICES IN PRISON; GRAY ALSO PRESENT

Murder Defendants, Whose Fate Jury Gets Today, Keep Eyes Averted.

WIDOW'S MOTHER HAS FAITH IN GOD'S POWER

She Will Not Attend Court; Salesman's Wife Fears Gaping Crowd.

New York, May 8.—Henry Judd Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, jointly accused of the murder of Albert Snyder, the woman's husband, sought spiritual strength today from the Rev. J. Hill Johnson, chaplain of the Queens county jail in Long Island City. The case will go to the jury late tomorrow afternoon in supreme court, and the pair, while outwardly prepared for an adverse verdict, desired the counsel of a minister.

Mrs. Snyder was the first to enter the jail chapel when the service began in midafternoon. She walked far down front and listened attentively. Gray followed her by a few moments and sat in the back. Neither paid any attention to the other. After the service they were taken to separate rooms and each in turn talked with Mr. Johnson, an Episcopal rector of Glendale, Queens.

Mrs. Snyder was cheerful throughout the day, her sense of humor maintained in spite of the fact that by tomorrow night she may find herself convicted of first degree murder. She awakened early, partook heartily of the jail fare, and was delighted when she received a Mother's day card from Lorraine, her 9-year-old daughter. She also sent such a card to her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown, who continues to live in the Snyder home in Queens Village.

Gray continues to believe that he will receive a verdict of first-degree murder, but the conviction does not terrify him. Since he unburdened himself from the witness stand of what he steadfastly maintains is a true account of the murder of Snyder, he has grown constantly more calm and placid. He is like a man who has lifted a great weight from his mind.

Convenes at 10 a. m.

The court will convene at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and Justice Townsend Scudder will call counsel before him, informing them that he will not restrict their summations as to time, but will suggest that each hold himself within two hours. The first summation will be made by Dana Wallace, of counsel for Mrs. Snyder, and this will last until noon, when court will adjourn.

Court will be resumed at 1 o'clock, it now is planned, and William J. Millard will make the summation for Gray. Richard S. Newcombe is expected to begin his summation about 3 o'clock and Justice Scudder probably will begin to charge the jury at about 5 o'clock or soon thereafter. The case should be in the jury's hands by 6 o'clock at the latest. There is no way in which to determine how long it will take to reach a verdict, nor to speculate on the verdict.

Lawyers and Justice Scudder were secluded today, preparing their summations and the charge. The mountain of evidence adduced in two weeks of the trial had to be digested and the conflicting points worked into the summations.

Mrs. Brown was seen today and said she did not "know what the jury will do, for men are very strange and queer."

Mother Hopes for Best.

"I can only hope for the best and pray to God to take care of the rest," she declared. "I do not know whether Ruth will be acquitted or not," she said. She does not expect to attend the trial tomorrow.

Warren Schneider, brother of the slain man, declared today that he would attend tomorrow's session. He was overcome Wednesday when Gray was in the midst of describing the murder itself, and Friday announced that he could not stand another day in court. Today, however, Schneider said he had recovered completely and would be at the courthouse early tomorrow.

The principal missing figure will be Mrs. Isabella Gray, wife of the corset salesman whose life is in the balance. For the first time, today, Mrs. Gray revealed through her mother-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Gray, the fact that only fear of the smirks and stares of the ever-present crowd of murder trial fans has kept her from being at her husband's side during his trial.

"I can not go and face that crowd," Gray's wife told his mother. "If it would help him I would go. I was not asked to be a witness. If I had been called all I could have said was that Judd was a good husband, and a good father. The blow came to me like a horrible nightmare that unfortunately proved to be true."

Gives His Wife Report.

Mrs. Gray, the mother, let it be known also that she has telephoned to Gray's wife every night since the trial began, giving her a complete report of the happenings of the day, and that Gray received several letters of encouragement from his wife during the trial.

"They say Judd's wife is not standing by him," said the mother today. "That is not so. She has even mortgaged their home to provide funds for his defense. But she can not arouse her courage to the point of attending court and facing the gaping crowd she sees pictured in the newspapers.

"It is cruel to say she has deserted my boy in his time of need, for I know she feels he is only the victim of weakness, not inherent viciousness, in his relations with that woman. I feel the world must be convinced he told the whole truth on the witness stand. When he had finished his story he said to me, 'Mother, I feel better now that I have told everything and got it off my chest.'"

Will Rogers Holds Democratic Wrecks Aid Crusoe Coolidge

New York, May 8.—Mr. Butler, Mr. Coolidge's man Friday, just returned from a reconnoitering tramp over on the west end of Crusoe island and reported to Robinson that from the looks of what had been washed up on the beach from mishandled Democratic crafts that Crusoe should have plenty to subsist on for another four years.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

P. S.—We all would like to see our boys the first to make the Paris flight, but as the Frenchmen have started they are carrying the good wishes of everybody over here.

THREE WISCONSIN SITES INSPECTED FOR COOLIDGE

SILENT ON IMPRESSIONS

Special to The Washington Post.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 8.—President Coolidge, should he decide to vacation in Wisconsin, would be interested only in three of the scores of sites offered by Badgers as a summer White House, it was indicated today when his secret service aid, Col. Edward Starling, moved toward St. Paul and Minnesota.

The three places inspected by Col. Starling are the Victor Lawson estate at Green Lake, now owned by a real estate syndicate; Fahrnwold, on Lake Winnebago, home of E. C. Fahrney, Chicago and Oshkosh financier, and the home of G. B. Heinneman, Wausau, on Trout lake. All are possessed of the facilities necessary to a presidential party, which means good roads, office space for seven to ten clerks, accommodations for newspaper correspondents and photographers and general help.

Col. Starling refused to give his impression of any of the sites visited, preferring to make a confidential report to the President.

The President's selection, however, is expected to be made known within two weeks, inasmuch as considerable work remains to be done on either of the three sites in the way of telegraph and telephone service before the presidential party leaves Washington on June 30.

11 DIE IN TORNADOES; 100 KANSANS INJURED

Salt Lake City and Omaha, trains were delayed, telegraph and telephone service was crippled at times in several directions, and scores of motorists were reported marooned on highways.

Both Union Pacific and Colorado & Southern traffic was delayed because of the driving snow which prevented trainmen from seeing far ahead or catching signals readily.

Telegraph companies reported difficulty in getting messages through to Greeley and North Platte, with some of their lines down. Ice on telephone wires west of here hampered long-distance service for a time.

Storms Over Nine States.

Denver, Colo., May 8 (By A. P.).—A general storm area covering seven Rocky mountain States, centering over Pueblo, Colo., and moving northeastward, was reported to the local United States weather bureau early today, while commercial telegraph companies experienced partial demoralization of service between Denver and Kansas City.

Heavy rains had fallen in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Utah, northern Arizona and northern New Mexico, and indications for the Denver vicinity were for unsettled and colder weather with heavy frosts and freezing temperatures in the western and extreme northeastern sections of the State.

Some snow was falling here, and in northern Wyoming and western Montana similar flurries were experienced. Bismarck, N. Dak., reported 1.80 inches precipitation and Denver 1.25 inches. The wind velocity here had reached 38 miles an hour, and during the night had reached velocities of 48, 46 and 52 miles an hour at Santa Fe, N.. Mex.; Roswell, N. Mex., and El Paso, Tex., respectively.

Train service as a whole was little affected, according to rail headquarters here. The Denver-Colorado Springs-Pueblo air mail plane, scheduled to leave here this morning, was unable to get through. Returning to the Denver air port, it dispatched its cargo on a mid-afternoon train. No report had been received on the northbound mail plane from Pueblo, due here at 6:30 p. m., and none was available on the westbound transcontinental flier, due here at 4:30 p. m. The eastbound plane was on schedule.

Scouts Will Honor Franklin as Athlete

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—Having discovered that Benjamin Franklin was an athlete as well as a wise man, Boy Scouts will recognize his prowess Tuesday by laying a wreath on a newly unveiled bust in the Hall of Fame. The Amateur Athletic Union, New York Athletic club and Public Schools Athletic association will cooperate.

From Franklin's own writings it was learned he was something of a wrestler and long-distance swimmer. As a youth of 20 in London he swam 5 miles in the Thames, "performing on the way many feats of activity, both upon and under water."

BRAZIL TRIES VAINLY TO FIND SAINT ROMAN

Ships Search Coast, Without Avail; Lack of Wreckage Inspires Hope.

Rio Janeiro, May 8 (By A. P.).—Alarm increases over the fate of Capt. St. Roman and his comrade, Commander Mouneyres, who early Thursday morning hopped off from St. Louis, Senegal, on the 1,875-mile air flight to Pernambuco, and who since have not been heard from.

All the radio stations of Brazil have been in action seeking to get into communication with the aviators and ships have searched the coast and outlying points in vain.

There are several places yet where the aviators might have landed, either one of the barren islands or some point along the coast where there are few inhabitants. No trace of wreckage has been found, and as it is thought the plane would have remained afloat for a considerable time, this gives hope to those who are optimistic enough to think that the French aviators have made a landing somewhere.

Hop to Some Other City Than Paris Would Be Tried, It Is Announced.

AIRMEN AT NEW YORK PREPARE FOR LANDING

Bad Weather Develops Over Mid-Atlantic, the Weather Observers Warn.

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—The endurance record-breaking Bellanca monoplane will not attempt to fly to Paris if Nungesser succeeds in his Paris-New York flight, was the official announcement tonight of Charles A. Levine, chairman of the board of directors of the Columbia Aircraft Corporation, owner of the plane.

If the flight is accomplished by Nungesser, the Bellanca plane will, however, attempt a distance flight to some point other than Paris, he declared. This flight, to be undertaken by Clarence D. Chamberlain and Lloyd W. Bertaud, will be announced within a day or two after Nungesser's arrival in New York, Mr. Levine added.

With the spirit of fraternity that ignores international rivalries, American airmen tonight were preparing for the reception of Capt. Charles Nungesser and Capt. Francois Coli, who, barring mishaps, will land here tomorrow to complete the first Paris-to-New-York nonstop flight.

At 6:18 p. m. (New York time) the fliers had been in the air 18 hours, having started at 12:18 midnight Sunday. Estimating their average speed at 100 miles an hour, they were believed to have covered approximately 1,800 miles, nearly half the distance.

Since it cleared the French coast at 5:10 a. m. (New York time), when it was seen to turn north as it put out to sea, nothing has been heard from the plane. None of the wireless stations here had heard of it nor had it been reported by ships to their agents.

Aviation experts said they were unable to estimate the exact position of the White Bird in the face of reports of the weather conditions prevailing over the course.

Chamberlin to Greet Him.

With the receipt of word that Nungesser plans to land in New York harbor, near the statue of Liberty, preparations were begun today for the reception of the plane there. First among those who will be on hand to greet fliers will be Clarence D. Chamberlin and Lloyd Bertaud, the American aviators who are preparing to take off in their Bellanca monoplane for a New York-Paris nonstop flight within a few days.

A fleet of tugs will be on hand in the harbor to keep space clear for the landing, should the French plane land there. Harbor officials said tonight they had not yet received official notice that Nungesser would bring his plane down on the waters of the harbor.

Nungesser is flying a Levasseur Lorraine biplane equipped with a 450-horsepower motor. In the event the plane is forced down, it will float 24 hours.

The plane was supplied with fuel sufficient for 40 hours' cruising, which her pilots estimated would give them a margin of about five hours beyond the actual flying time from Le Bourget to New York.

A squadron of five army exhibition planes, led by Lieut. Col. Benjamin D. Foulois plans to fly out to extend the greeting of the United States army air corps to Capts. Nungesser and Coli when they near New York tomorrow, if their attempt is successful. The Americans will meet Nungesser about 20 miles out from the Statue of Liberty and escort the French plane to its landing.

Lieut. Col. Foulois said that there probably would be a score of planes in the air as the transatlantic fliers neared port, including photographers' planes, and that it would be necessary for all of them to keep well above the Nungesser plane to avoid a collision should the Frenchmen's gas be spent forcing them to make a quick landing.

Chamberlin and Bertaud, with Charles A. Levine, sponsor for their proposed transatlantic flight and G. M. Bellanca, designer of their plane, will fly out to meet Nungesser with the military air escort from Mitchel field.

Weather Blocks Messages From Steamers at Sea

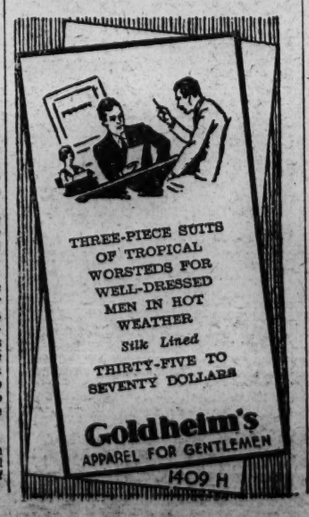

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—An explanation for the fact that no word of Capt. Nungesser in his transatlantic flight had been received at 11 o'clock tonight was advanced in the report of the United States weather bureau that atmospheric conditions made reception almost impossible.

The bureau said that it had been unable to compile any late report as to weather conditions in mid-Atlantic, as no radio reports had been received from ships at sea. The inability of North American stations to communicate with vessels in the ship lane, it was believed at the weather bureau, would indicate that any ships that may have sighted the Nungesser plane would have been unable to announce the fact here.

Woman Dies Watching Camp Meeting Fire

Hamilton, Mass., May 8 (By A. P.).—Fire cut a swath 300 yards wide through Asbury Grove, famous camp meeting spot, here tonight, destroying 112 cottages with a loss estimated at $125,000. The flames raced for a quarter of a mile.

Mrs. Frank P. Trussell, 60, of Hamilton, died from a heart attack while watching the fire. Firemen saved the tabernacle at the northern end of the settlement.

ATLANTIC FLIERS DASH TO SEA; LAST SEEN OFF IRISH COAST

they intend to slip down upon the bay and have their machine towed to the docks of the French steamship company.

If they hold to the itinerary Capt. Coli has mapped out, they will sight Newfoundland at about 7:30 o'clock Monday morning; Isle Hunt, Maine, at 1:30 p. m., and Cape Ann, northeast of Boston, at 5 o'clock.

It is considered likely that in crossing the ocean the fliers will follow the course followed by the Liverpool-Quebec steamships.

The White Bird took the air gracebeams across the flying field. At 6:48 it passed out over the channel north of Havre. The four planes which escorted Nungesser and Coli from Le Bourget left them a short distance from the coast and turned back to land.

A little after 10 o'clock the fliers were taking a more northerly course than had been expected. They had pased over the channel between Cherbourg and Southampton. None of the ships, lighthouses or airplanes that had been put on the alert for them got a glimpse of their plane, for the morning haze still hung over the water separating England and France.

Since then there has been no word of them, except a private wireless message saying they had been seen off the Irish coast.

Scene Is Unforgettable.

Saturday night was an unforgettable one of agonizing tenseness at Le Borget, but the actual beginning of the adventure was brief and businesslike. The fliers shook hands with a few friends and got into the cockpit, and within four minutes after taking their seats they were in the air. Their plane ran 900 meters before the wheels on the third bound left the earth not far from where the course was crossed by a stream, so that had they run much farther they might have met the fate which befell Capt. Fonck's plane at Mitchel field a few months ago.

This bit of luck may be attributed in part to the fact that, at the last minute, knowing they would have a following wind for at least the first half of the journey, they decided to take only 3,800 liters of gasoline, instead of 4,000, as originally contemplated.

Having been informed that weather conditions were propitious—that they would have the wind at their back for 1,500 miles, although conditions off Newfoundland were not so good—Nungesser and Coli decided that now was the appointed time. Without hesitation, Capt. Coli, with his one good eye gazing directly at M. Delcambre, head of the government weather bureau, who had apprised him of conditions, said:

"Very well, I will take the responsibility. We will go."

Fliers Grasp Hands.

When Capt. Nungesser approached, Coli said sharply:

"We start. Is everything ready?"

"Yes," replied the war ace.

"All right, then, we're off."

Instinctively the two men who were to trust one another with their lives on the Atlantic grasped each other's hands. Then they went home—Nungesser to sleep, Coli merely to lie down and relax.

Somehow, word of their decision spread quickly, and by midnight automobiles began to arrive at Le Bourget in droves. Before dawn there was a procession of them. Women in silks, satins and furs and men in dinner jackets came to top off an evening at the night clubs with a fresh experience at dawn. Mechanics labored at the plane with deft touch, but with care and at 3 o'clock in the morning the ship was ready. The aviators had already arrived. They were soon in their leather flying suits, and awaited the final word.

Few Enter Hangar.

Only a few friends were allowed in the hangar with them. These cleared out from the waiting room when the doctor who had saved Nungesser's life in the war came to examine him.

The doctor gave him a small injection of caffeine, to keep him awake the 30 or 40 hours he must pilot the plane if he is to succeed for Coli is not a pilot—he is a navigator. From the moment of departure until he lands Capt. Nungesser can not leave his seat in the cockpit for a second.

Coli and Nungesser then had a few words together. They decided to cut out the emergency food rations and take with them only a few bananas, some caviar, and coffee in a thermos bottle.

Gen. Girod, who gave Nungesser his first airplane in the war, grasped the blond Frenchman by the arm.

"My little one," he said, "we are putting all our confidence in your prudence, your courage, your will. You carry with you some of the soul of France. You will make it greater, if it has need to be made greater. You will succeed."

"Yes," said Nungesser. "We will succeed."

Start Is Accomplished.

Marching on to the field the two fliers were greeted with "Vive Nungesser! Vive oli! Bravo!"

The crowds gathered behind the soldiers, who held them back with fixed bayonets. The aviators stepped into a car and were driven to the corner of the field where their "white bird" was in readiness. The business of adjusting straps, goggles and instruments was quickly accomplished. The engine had already been warmed. It began to roar again, fast, then slow, then a full roar.

In a moment the wheels began to roll faster and faster. Forty terribly long seconds passed, as the plane raced down the field—and then a bound—another bound—every one wondered—then a third bound, and gracefully and gradually the white bird took the air for the long, long trackless trail to New York.

Off the Irish Coast.

Paris, May 8 (By A. P.).—La Presse, Paris newspaper, reports that private wireless operators have signaled that they saw Nungesser flying off the Irish coast. No time is mentioned.

Havre, France, May 8 (By A. P.).—The White Bird, transatlantic airplane piloted by Capts. Nungesser and Coli, has gone westward out of sight of France on its daring flight to New York.

It was seen here and at Cherbourg and was last sighted at 10:10 a. m., when wel out at sea. A small pilot plane which accompanied Nungesser as far as Honfleurs, returned with a report that the French ace had slightly altered his course after quitting the French coast, turning more to the north than originally planned.

The returning pilot said that Nungesser's speed at the start was at the rate of 100 miles an hour. Passing over the Seine at St. Cloud, however, a few minutes later Nungesser dropped his landing gear and his speed shot up to 115 miles an hour.

Flies Off Havre.

Havre, France, May 8 (By A. P.).—The White Bird, piloted by Nungesser and Coli, passed out of sight of the French coast off this port at 6:48 o'clock this morning. They were headed northwest.

Plymouth, England, May 8 (By A. P.).—Capt. Nungesser, flying from Paris to New York, crossed the channel too far to the south to be visible here.

All ships arriving here today had wireless messages that Nungesser had started and were on the lookout for him. None sighted the plane, though visibility in the channel was good.

The Cunarder Alannia, arriving from Montreal at 8:30 a. m., had notice of the hop-off, but did not sight the machine. Capt. Gibbons said weather conditions for the flight were most favorable today.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, May 8 (By A. P.).—Watches along the Newfoundland and Nova Scotia coasts from Belle Isle to Cape Sable were on the qui vive tonight for sign of the White Bird and the intrepid Nungesser and Coli.

All the government wireless stations were standing by in order to relay any information of the fliers which might come from transatlantic ships.

Cape Race reports nothing has been heard from the French plane.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, May 8 (By A. P.).—At 8 o'clock tonight, Eastern daylight time, the Cape Race wireless station reported a brisk northeast wind, with alternating snow flurries and showers in the ocean, toward which the transatlantic fliers are heading. The visibility at that hour was approximately 2 miles, the station said.

How French Aviators' Names Are Pronounced

New York, May 8.—Capt. Charles Nungesser, who has come to America from Paris several times since 1921, has heard his name pronounced various incorrect ways.

His name, according to Raymond Orteig, jr., son of the Hotel Brevoort proprietor who has offered the Orteig prize, should be pronounced as if it were spelled Shari Nuhn-jhey-sair—the accent on the first syllable.

Capt. Francois Coli, Nungesser's navigator, also has heard various incorrect versions of his name. Francois, according to Orteig, should be pronounced as if it were spelled Frawn-swa, accent on the first syllable. Coli is not pronounced "collie." It is pronounced Ko-lee.

Nungesser Plane Bringing Medals for Awards in U. S.

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—The transatlantic plane, White Bird, is bringing from Paris four medals presented by the International League of Aviators, a cable received by Maj. Lester D. Gardner, editor of the magazine Aviation, today stated.

The medals are to be awarded, upon arrival of the plane in New York, to Capt. Charles Nungesser and Capt. Francis Coli, for accomplishing a Paris-New York flight, to President Coolidge for his work in the advancement of aviation and to Maj. Gardner in recognition of his 21,000 miles of flying in Europe last summer.

The cable was signed by Clifford D. Harmon, president of the league. Maj. Gardner said he would ask President Coolidge to present the medals to Nungesser and Coli.

NUNGESSER'S RECORD MARKED BY DARING

a black background, a candle burning on each side. A skull and crossbones grins underneath the emblem of the Hussar of Death.

In April, 1915, in his first bombing action at Ostend, his plane was struck six times. He was awarded a citation. The next month he got his first enemy plane. His death roll mounts. At the end of the war he is Capt. Nungesser, with 45 enemy planes to his credit.

Today, at the age of 35, he attempts to blaze a trail across the Atlantic to New York with the Hussar death emblem on the fuselage.

His war honors include the medaille militaire, the croix de guerre with 28 palms and 2 stars, the British military cross, the Order of the Crown of Leopold, the Belgian croix de guerre, the American distinguished service cross and Serbian and Portuguese decorations.

Capt. Francois Coli, the one-eyed navigator and companion of Capt. Nungesser in the latter's attempted transatlantic flight, was formerly a seaman, is the son of a seaman and the nephew of three uncles who spend their lives on the sea. For more than fourteen years he served as an officer of the French merchant marine, and the war's outbreak found him aboard a freighter in an Argentine port.

Refused enlistment in the French navy, Coli entered the army as a private, rising to the rank of lieutenant in 1915 and then captain. Following his promotion, he was twice wounded and declared unfit for service in the infantry.

Finally he found a place in the air service. A short period of training qualified him as a pilot in a pursuit squadron, which was placed under Coli's command before the war's end. He lost his right eye and received three more wounds and the cross of the Legion of Honor.

Since the war he has been busy flying, especially on hazardous pioneer flights. He made a double crossing of the Mediterranean with Roget in 1919. The Atlantic then tempted him, and he finally found backers to build a huge plane in 1924 for a Vilta-Coublay—New York hop. The machine was damaged a few hours before the take-off, and the attempt was abandoned.

Last year he made three attempts to win the Raymond Ortieg prize of $25,000, first with Capt. Arrachart, the second alone and the third with Tarascon, but all the planes were unsatisfactor in the final tests. Coli is 46 years old and was born at Marseille. His knowledge of sea navigation led to the choosing of Coli as Nungesser's companion.

CHARGES IN CABINET, STATES AND IN ARMY

Labor Council Urges War on Church; Priests on Trains; K. C. Property Seized.

By GEORGE SELDES.

Mexico City, May 8.—Immediately following the battle between the rebels and the federal troops at Ocatlan, in the state of Jalisco, in which many civilian train passengers were among the victims, President Calles threw aside the pretenses of democratic government in Mexico and announced his dictatorship.

This is one of the most vital and sensational facts of the present situation in Mexico which the censorship, that followed immediately, has suppressed. The circumstances were:

President Calles was furious when he learned that three priests were reported present at the battle. This fact incidentally is boasted by the rebels, who claim they are fighting a fair war and have the right to take up arms in their struggle for religious liberty.

Gen. Calles called in the editors of Universal and Excelsior, the two big Mexican papers. He handed them an official statement concerning the battle.

"You will print this statement, without change, without editorial comment, and without any headlines whatever," Calles ordered them. "In case you want any headlines, you may set the first paragraph in large type. Otherwise no change, no comment."

"Presidency at End."

The editors protested.

"Gentlemen," replied Calles, "I accept no protests. From this day the presidency of Mexico ends; the dictatorship of Mexico begins." Immediately after this open declaration of dictatorship President Calles ordered a mobilization and clamped on a censorship. This censorship, which enraged the American and other foreign press representatives, was, according to the Calles spokesmen, put into effect because the Catholic hierarchy in Mexico had been sending instructions to the rebels in Jalisco and other states where fighting is going on.

The archbishops and bishops then resident in Mexico City, who were forced to register with the police every day, were deported. Hundreds of priests were placed under surveillance. Many have since been deported. It is estimated that almost 1,000 of the 4,000 priests have already been deported or have fled from the country.

Troops were sent immediately into every section of the rebel states. They were moved by motor truck, not railroad. Several airplanes were also sent and have bombed the rebel concentrations. The wooden coaches have been taken from the trains traversing the revolt area. Steel coaches are now used.

Troops With Trains.

Each train has two flat steel cars in front and one or two at the rear, filled with soldiers. The government has placed machine guns on them. Previously the soldiers had only rifles. The result is that the soldiers no longer mingle with the second-class passengers. According to the church authorities it was due to the fact that the soldiers were mixed with the civilians that so many civilian men, women and children, "95 per cent of whom were Catholics," were victims in the Ocatlan battle.

In carrying out his dictatorship, Gen. Calles ordered a session of his chief supporters, the labor council, which met and voted the following program for their chief:

1. That priests be put on all trains crossing the war zone.

2. That the Knights of Columbus members holding government positions be discharged.

3. That the property of all Knights of Columbus be expropriated.

4. That the two big papers, Excelsior and Universal, on account of some or all their stock being owned by the Catholic Church, or by Catholic sympathizers, be taken over by the government.

5. That so-called "red and black," or labor battalions, be recruited for a final battle between church and state.

Censorship not Effective.

So far as the censorship of news to foreign countries is concerned, the action taken by President Calles has been accompanied with the same stupidities which marked the Russian bolshevik and Italian fascist consorships. To begin with, it has been impossible to keep the real news from leaving the country, and on the other hand, with every one doubting the news in newspapers, the wildest and most sensational rumors have found credence.

As dictator, Gen. Calles also has set about strengthening his internal position. One of his strangest and most unconventional actions has been to call in members of the cabinet and other big leaders and lay down the law to them. They must either support him to the end or get out. Among the leaders called in were Minister of Agriculture Leon and Gen. Alvarez, chief of staff.

According to information which had reached the dictator, many leaders and cabinet members had been spending all their time with their mistresses in cabarets or at private drinking parties, one of which took place regularly in (of all places) an American-Mexican dairy. Calles said, "You will give up your mistresses and stand by me in this war with the church, or you can leave the government and devote yourselves to your women."

Many Shifts in Army.

Gen. Alvarez promised to stand by Minister Leon quit the government.

Gen. Calles began weeding out the pro-Catholic officers from the national army immediately following his declaration of dictatorship. Many minor officers have been shifted or let out. Generals in command of troops are being changed. Governors of states, whose loyalty is doubted, are being supplanted. In short, the whole regime is furiously at work strengthening all positions, material and moral, for war to the end.

"If Calles goes down," said one of his unofficial cabinet, who sees the president evey morning, "it will be with flying colors. It is a fight to a finish. The church has been here for 400 years. It has been said that no one can break its power. It is true that even Calles' closest friends have told him he has made his biggest mistake when he attempted to enforce the antichurch laws, which have been dormant for many years. But Calles is a fanatic in his war on the church and is risking his and his party's fate on it."

BANKERS SAY BUSINESS RANGES FAIR TO GOOD

Last Year's Volume Kept Up, Reports to Investment Men Disclose.

INCREASE IN SOUTHWEST

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 8 (By A. P.).—Conservative optimism regarding business conditions throughout the United States and Canada is expressed in a symposium of business surveys prepared by members of the Investment Bankers Association of America, here for the spring meeting of the board of governors.

The symposium, made public today, disclosed that business conditions generally range from fair to good. Last year's volume is being maintained, the symposium said.

"New England is doing nicely," was the comment of Pliney Jewell, president of the association. "Railroad receipts in the first quarter were barely under comparable figures for 1926, bank clearings were greater, building permits and department store sales increased."

"As measured by the volume of bank debits in the first qurater of 1927, business activity in the Southwest increased slightly over the same period last year," according to Sigmund Stern, of Kansas City, Mo.

George V. Rotan, of Houston, Tex., ventured the opinion that general business conditions were above normal in the southern and eastern parts of his State but less favorable in northwest and central Texas.

"The volume of business in Wisconsin this year has accomplished a normal spring advance," stated Hugh W. Grove, of Milwaukee. "Perhaps the most favorable feature is the large excess of prospective building over the same period last year."

"There is a good deal of evidence to show that the prosperity that prevailed in Canada throughout 1926 is continuing," asserted J. H. Gundy, of Toronto, Canada. "The output of pig iron during the first quarter has been larger than in any year since 1920, manufacture of newsprint is greater than in any previous year; the knitting industry is reported to be operating at 90 per cent of capacity; mineral production is increasing, and permits for new construction during the first quarter were the largest on record."

U.S. Smallpox Exceeds All Lands But Asia

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—The American Association for Medical Progress announced today that the United States for the year 1926 reported more cases of smallpox than any other country outside of Asia, although the percentage was less than that of 1925.

According to State reports there were 33,752 cases of smallpox in this country in 1926, distributed over 46 States and the District of Columbia, compared with 41,643 cases in 1925. Only two States, Rhode Island and Vermont, were entirely free from the disease.

Largest numbers reported were Indiana, with 3,571 cases; Florida, 2,890; California, 2,794; Washington, 2,413, and Ohio, with 2,133. Total number of deaths was 361, representing a fatality rate of more than 1 per cent.

Heckscher Is Silent Regarding Diva's Suit

Hamburg, Germany, May 8 (By A. P.). August Heckscher, New York millionaire, declined today to discuss the suit brought against him by Mme. Frieda Hempl, concert singer, for alleged breach of contract to pay her $48,000 a year for life. He declared that he had no information respecting the published accounts of the singer's action and referred inquiries to his New York attorneys.

He declined to say whether he intended to remain in Europe for any length of time, but indicated that he might proceed to Berlin.

ENSIGN M'SHANE FOUGHT, FAMILY LAWYER THINKS

Brother Officer May Become Involved When Inquiry Into Death Reopens.

WOMAN TELLS OF PARTY

Los Angeles, May 8 (By A. P.).—L. W. Frankley, attorney retained by the mother of Ensign Julian J. McShane in connection with the reopening of the naval inquiry into the death of the officer last October, today announced that he would turn over to the naval investigators information indicating that the ensign may have engaged in a fight with a brother officer prior to his death.

Frankley, who will represent Mrs. Maria J. McShane, of Ellicott City, Md., at the naval inquiry, said he had been told by a former sweetheart of the ensign that McShane left a party at the California Yacht club the night he disappeared in company with another naval officer. This officer was said to have returned to the ship to which he was attached at daybreak the following morning bearing marks of having engaged in a fist fight.

The first naval board of inquiry reported that McShane's death was accidental. His body was found in the water off a pier at San Pedro. Investigations by members of McShane's family caused Secretary Wilbur recently to order the reopening of the investigation.

Winds May Prevent Fort Sill Air Exhibit

Fort Sill, Okla., May 8 (By A. P.).—Strong southwest winds, which forced the nonrigid dirigible TC-52 to leave here last night for Fort Leavenworth, grew stronger today and caused officials in command of the field here to express doubt that the annual air demonstration will be held tomorrow.

Three army bombers that passed the night at Oklahoma City, arrived here today after fighting heavy winds. Twenty-seven airplanes are here to participate in the events.

Former Envoy Here Is in Persian Cabinet

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Teheran, May 8.—Mizra Hussein Khan Alia, former Persian Minister to Washington, has accepted the portfolio of public works, agriculture, mines, commerce and industry. His pro-Americanism has been proved by his activity toward a closer relationship between America and Persia.

A fairly large number of Americans now in service here, who were misunderstood and misjudged by former Ministers, will be sure to receive the greatest help and sympathy from the new Minister.

OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS

EARLE

Vincent Lopez, personally conducting an orchestra new to Washington, his famous Casa Lopez orchestra is the topline feature of an excellent bill at the Earle this week. While some of the familiar faces remain in the orchestra, there are a number of new ones, and the program has been changed about to give the best presentation yet heard from this leader. A singer, Joe Griffith, in a newsboy role, has been added, and a screamingly funny comedy number, "A Few Minutes in a Crazy House," offers a lot of laughs. Selections from Victor Herbert will appeal to all who loved this great composer's works, and, of course, Vincent in person give one of his splendid piano solos. Repeated appearances here have made Lopez orchestras well known, and the gang "got a hand" on their appearances yesterday.

Fleurette Jeoffrie, beautifully gowned and possessing a brilliant coloratura soprano voice, was most charming in classic songs. Her echo song, made famous years ago by Jennie Lind, is probably her best.

The opening act on the bill is a tight-wire walking and dancing skit by Jackie Collier, who is assisted by her sister, who gives one dance. Jackie takes some clever steps on the wire.

"Love 'Em and Leave 'Em," the title of the feature picture, stars Evelyn Brent, Louise Brooks and Lawrence Grey, and is really a heart-touching picture, bringing out incidents of everyday life. It is a story which carries the elements of love, romance, theft, pride, selfishness and unselfishness, each of which are handled with a really fine touch of humanness.

The story shows different types: The unselfish girl, (Evelyn Brent) who promised her dying mother to care for her younger sister (Louise Brooks), who portrays the selfish character. And then the self-important—at first modest—department store clerk (Lawrence Grey), and then his character of loving one and leaving her for another, realizing at last his neglect and his faults.

Last of 1926 Apples To Be Sold This Week

Winchester, Va., May 8.—The last of the 1926 crop of apples in cold storage here will be cleaned up and disposed of the latter part of this week, it was stated today by William Beverley, manager of the Winchester Cold Storage Co. The only apples of the 1926 crop now on hand are several small blocks of Newtown Pippins and Ben Davis.

During the last season the plant handled 340,000 barrels of the fruit

METROPOLITAN

As Old Bill of the Bairnsfather cartoons, famous in wartime, Syd Chaplin comes surprisingly into his own. "The Better 'Ole," the film to be seen at the Metropolitan theater this week, has little if any bearing on the stage play of the same name, but Old Bill is completely, unerringly himself. The lesser Chaplin, if so he must now be named, not only achieves perfection in make-up but seizes on Old Bill's spirit in every attitude and gesture. Besides, they have made him a film with the rich gold of laughter shining in every foot. Give him a few more reels of this twist of rope and he will run Brother Charlie into second pasture.

As most of us know, Old Bill is a veteran private in the British army, not over-intelligent, but brilliant in lovable traits and racy thoughts on life in general and war in particular. In the story here told about him he undergoes a swift variety of hilarious adventures in and out of the enemy's lines. The uproarious climax arrives when Bill and his buddy Alf, playing severally the front and hind ends of a horse in a regimental melodrama, are unable to get out when the town is suddenly taken by the enemy, and proceed to spy on the proceedings, unsuspected as anything but a horse by two drunken German soldiers who stable them.

With many exciting and ludicrous incidents they escape in German uniforms, and Bill wins glory by saving his outfit from destruction and unmasking a spy in the guise of a British major. Many will agree that this is the funniest comedy of the world war yet produced. Jack Acroyd is entertaining in his own way as the little private Alf, and Doris Hill gives the necessary feminine touch in the person of somebody's French sweetheart.

The Vitaphone offers a full musical score for "The Better 'Ole," but this is turned on only when the Metro's own Mr. Breeskin's orchestra comes to the resting place. In this system the management shows admirable judgment, for the Vitaphone's version of orchestral harmonies still leaves something to be sought. It is at its best, however, in the humorous monologue by George Jessel, in which a telephone conversation with his mamma takes most of the time. The boy is clever. Another Vitaphone reel shows "the Rollickers," a singing quintet of young men in three really rollicking numbers. A good news reel completes the program.

COLUMBIA

"Rookies," with all that name implies, seasonably presented, is one of the best comedies of the year. It is Columbia's share of "Comedy Week" on F street.

Staged in the interests of boosting the annual citizens' military training camps, the wonderful discipline and benefits from such a vacation for any of our men is pictured before his eye.

There is just enough story (plot if you wish) to provide situations and love interest which are really funny; enough thrills to make it somewhat exciting; and lessons taught to make it extremely interesting.

"Rookies," summed up, is a minimum of subtlety, a modicum of facial contortions and a maximum of hilarity.

"Rookies" tells the story of 30 days at a citizens' military training camp with a rookie and top sergeant as the principle characters. Gregg Lee, a very effeminate dancer, incurs the wrath of military and civil authorities for interrupting a parade and is sentenced to 30 days—at a C. M. T. C. Fate places him under Sergt. Diggs, aggressive, revengeful superior, whose rival he becomes for the hand of pretty Betty Wayne of the nearby town.

About this skeleton of a plot the picture presents laugh after laugh, increases in interest leading up to a thrilling climax in a runaway observation balloon and succeeding parachute jumps. Gregg does some stunt flying to rescue Betty, her uncle (also the judge who sentenced Gregg), and unfortunately, in Gregg's eyes, the top sergeant. The final fadeout of the picture provokes a long laugh which carries well into the succeeding film.

Photography work throughout is worthy of mention. Karl Dane as the top sergeant proves his ability to star. His facial expressions succeed in places which might prove disastrous. George K. Authur runs a close second to the star. His part of the timid, bullied, but undefeated rookie, continually getting the sergeant's "goat," brings many a laugh. Marceline Day as Betty Wayne is the other principle. She does her bit well but she is more the acted upon than the actress. Louise Lorraine has the only other part worthy of note.

An Our Gang comedy, "Flying Feathers," puts the Gang in the West with the wild Indians, and carries them out with flying colors. Columbia magazine, newsreel and orchestral music complete the program.

KEITH'S

Will Mahoney, tap-dancer par excellence, wit, comic, is making his third visit of the season to Keith's theater and still capturing honors. This, too, on a bill that comes close to being an all-round comedy offering. Seemingly, the vaudeville fans never tire of Mahoney. He is as good as ever.

There is a big little revue that suggests some of the more extravagant shows of the winter season, the sixth annual revue of Jeannette Hackett and Harry Delmar, wherein these two are assisted by Betty and Margie Hallack—and seven young misses strong in the terpsichorean art. They are Betty Welsh, Nita Johns, Irene Griffith, Mary O'Roarke, Priscilla Thompson, Edna Norris and Billie Sedore—and one of them, dancing unattached, comes very near running away with the show, as the saying goes, or at least with the act.

Visions of artistic beauty open the bill, a number called "Color Poems," followed by one of the merriest acts that ever occupied the deuce-spot—Three Vagrants, singers and musicians. Then comes Johnny Hyman, billed as a vaudeville author, who plays pranks with Webster.

Sidney Marion, a comic, steps on the stage one act before Will Mahoney. He has with him Gene Ford, and then are moments in the funmaking when it seems as if the headliner might have a difficult time of it, taking away the audience from Marion, who is, sure enough, rather a funny fellow.

Faulty Windshields Resold for $42,000

Chicago, May 8 (By A. P.).—J. Meyer Friedman, young Chicago financier, saw a path to profit through a pile of imperfect glass windshields for Fords and has realized $42,000 profit on his vision, his friends here told today.

Recently Friedman saw a huge pile of the imperfect Ford windshields at the Ford plant in Omaha. He dickered with the plant manager and purchased them at 10 cents each.

Less than an hour later he had resold the lot at 50 cents each to a Chicago glass dealer. Friedman then proceeded to visit all the Ford plants, buying up the faulty windshields nad modestly admits making $42,000 for his trouble.

PALACE

The Washington baseball club being out of town—and it raining to boot—all of Washington's 30,000 baseball fans moved down on Loew's Palace Sunday afternoon, where Wallace Beery opened a week's engagement in the gerat national pastime in "Casey at the Bat."

And it was some Casey, too! Beery delivered in truly Casiestic style from first to last, and brought down the everlasting glory assigned to his namesake on his own bulleted, taurine brow.

"Casey at the Bat" is a story of "The Gay Nineties"—thank God for them!—when men were men and every woman hoped some day to flag a train—else why did they carry around on their persons whole stocks of dry goods.

Anyway, Casey, the town's "idler on week days and idol on Sundays," beats them out between draughts of the foaming pre-Volsteadian evil, and wins a berth with the "Noo 'ork Giants." His love—in Zazu Pitts—follows him on guardian wings. A rival has managed to get the "great Casey" in his pernicious grasp by sneaking a contract on him as manager. In "Noo 'ork" Casey carries all before him to the last day and last inning of the world series. And then!—Well, the faithful little sweetheart from back home has something to say from here on.

The stage presentation for the week finds expression in a dual honorary, George Lyons is heard first in a selected group of exquisite harp numbers, while "A Night in Old Madrid" restfully closes the personality with Sebastian and Nord in a tango number followed by Fronzini, accordion virtuoso. Dick Liebert and his "Troubadours," furnish the stage harmony for the week.

The overture is a "World of Lullabys," a special arrangement of mother-love songs from the distant spaces, by Tom Gannon, orchestral leader, in honor of Mother's day. An Aesop's Fable and Minute News round out the bill.

LITTLE THEATER

Most motion pictures deal with standardized emotions—love of mother, home, wife, lodge, country, &c., and therefore it comes as a surprise to find a brand new emotion and theme in the films. "Chained," a UFA production, at the Little theater this week, is the picture.

An elderly and world-famous artist, majestic in his genius and intelligence, has formed an attachment for a handsome youth who has been his model. The boy is made his heir and foster son, but betrays his guardian to dally with a Russian princess. Briefly, this is the story of "Chained," as quietly thoughtful and artistic picture as has ever come here. Based on the life of Rodin, the film is one that can appeal but to the few.

Through remarkable settings the well-picked characters of the story work out their respective destinies. The Germans have a genius for casting a play—the work of Benjamin Christiansen as the artist, is a wonderful restrained piece of work. Walter Slezak, new here, lives the part of the weak-willed boy, while Nora Gregor, who looks like a human being and not a movie star, is exactly the type for the role of the princess.

Also on the bill at the Little theater, there is evident the pioneer work of the Motion Picture guild in the first colored shots of the "aurora Borealis," a comedy in which Will Rogers burlesques other cinema stars, and the fourth of the Guild superproductions. The latter is sometimes amusing, but not up to the mark set by Leonard Hall and Lee Somers.

Over the Coffee Cup by John Wilkins

If we had spent the last quarter of a century—

In worrying about our competitors instead of trying to give the public a coffee of superior quality at a moderate price—

We wouldn't now enjoy the privilege of selling the leading brand of coffee in Washington today.

RIALTO

Mothers, mothers-in-law, sons and daughters will find much that appeals to them, respectively, in "The Fourth Commandment," starring Belle Bennett, at the Rialto theater this week.

"Honor thy father and mother"—the Biblical injunction of old—is the hinge upon which the play swings. It is a story of what can—and often does—happen, not so much when that injunction is violated, as when there is not sympathetic appreciation of "in-laws." But for all that the play is a wonderful study in married life—especially for the younger folk.

Miss Bennett is the temperamental wife of a struggling young man brought up, with all the deep devotion human nature is capable of, to love and cherish his mother. The temperamental young wife—she has never known a mother—"misunderstands." There is the inevitable clash; the young wife goes, taking her child. She marries wealth. In her son grown to manhood, married, her life repeats in her relationship to her daughter-in-law, after her husband is dead, an embezzler, and she is left alone penniless. A strong ending evolves.

Miss Bennett does not find in the play an opportunity for the full expression of her great dramatic talents. Her rendition of the role, though, assigned to her, is most capably done. Kathleen Myers, as the "second-generation daughter-in-law," does a very realistic stretch; Wendall Phillips Franklin, the screen's newest child "find," as Sonny, turns in a corking bit of child work; while Mary Carr, as "the first mother-in-law," wins all hearts.

The stage attraction for the week is Lou Zoeller and Janet Bodwell in "Songs of Their Own," entertaining specialties. The overture for the week, Rox Rommell conducting, is a clever adaptation of the "Ask Me Another?" newspaper feature adapted to a musical program. The funfest is a Universal comedy, "Buster's Frame-Up," all about the latest adventure of Buster and Tige. A newsreel rounds out the bill.

STRAND

The "World Dancers," presented by the Strand players, is a musical comedy with plenty of laughs and pep. The players have achieved great success and continue to show wonderful ability with every performance.

Bud Brewer is to be highly complimented for his acting in "Turn Me Around." Other scenes were "At the Bazaar," which furnishes a good laugh when the dude is fooled, with Billie La Monte. "All is Not Old That Listens," and "A Wee Bit of Scotch." In these scenes appear such actors as Earl Root, Lew Lewis, Irvin B. Hamp, and Miss Vincent. Root and Hamp are not far behind in the reception of applause while Miss Vincent also reminds us that it is "Mothers Day."

The Misses Shaeffer and Deery lead the chorus and swing in rythm to the "Black Bottom."

Arthur Manvell's orchestra plays "Give Me a Smile, as the overture, and the exit march, "I'm Back In Love Again."

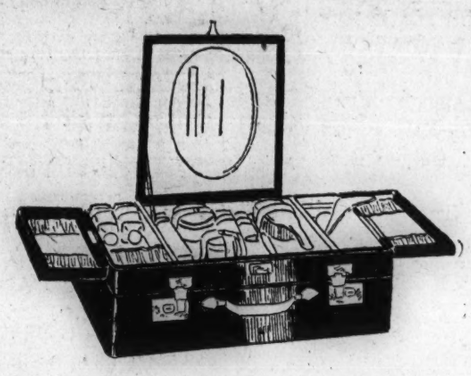

There are some new cuties in the chorus and their singing helps to bring out the songs in a more vivid manner.

"Down the Stretch," with Marion Nixon, Robert Agnew and Otis Harlan, is the screen attraction for this week.

FLOOD LOSSES FAIL TO HALT PROGRESS IN WEEK'S BUSINESS

Reconstruction in Inundated Area Stimulating Many Lines.

MOTOR TRADE IS MOVING DISTINCTLY ON UPGRADE

Car Loadings Shrink; Oil Industry Rallies; Agricultural Outlook Good.

New York, May 8 (By the Associated Press).—In spite of the widespread damage caused by record-breaking floods in the Mississippi valley, and, in some instances, because of them, business during the last week again displayed signs of gathering momentum.

While there continued to be a number of weak spots, American commerce on the whole appeared to be in slightly better state than at this time last year.

Although the Mississippit flood has not yet receded, and too little time has passed to warrant an exact survey of the resulting situation, preliminary inspections indicate that the damage, particularly to railroad properties, was not as great as had been feared. Losses in the inundated areas, however, have unquestionably been great, and huge expenditures for reconstruction will be necessary. This is inevitably a stimulating factor in many lines of business, notably those dealing with railway, industrial and farm repairs.

Steel operations declined from the high peak of April, in which the daily average of pig iron output reached the highest figure in a year. A resultant softening of pig iron prices was in a measure offset by increasing inquiry and stiffening prices for sheets.

The motor trade was distinctly on the upgrade, its momentum carrying over from April, when a record of production is believed to have been established. Auto parts and accessories naturally were stimulated, and substantial gains over last year were recorded by heavy machinery and tool lines.

The bituminous mine strike was again a factor in freight loadings, which fell off for the second consecutive week. The sharp drop in coal shipments carried the average slightly under the figure for the corresponding week of last year. Merchandise freight, however, continued to gain steadily. Grain and live stock loadings decreased.

The oil industry displayed signs that it was in the way of recovering its health after several weeks of overproduction and sinking prices. The gasoline price war on the Pacific coast was terminated, and there was some stiffening of crude quotations in the Mid-Continent field. The output continued at flood stage, but the petroleum trade appeared to take a more optimistic view of the future in the expectation that the close attention given the situation by high executives will result in a workable plan for the cooperation of oil producers.

The agricultural outlook was excellent. The Southern flood's curtailment of cotton production indicates higher prices, while wheat was benefited by a greater export demand. Unfavorable weather in many sections of the country led to stiffening prices for most of the grains.

Aside from a good report from the cotton and rayon branches, the textile trade continued to lag behind the general movement. Retail trade, however, was stimulated by various factors.

Credit conditions were easy after the heavy demand for money at the first of the month, and loans were plentiful at moderate rates. Bank clearings increased about 13.2 per cent over the week before and nearly 3 per cent over the same week of 1926.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—The general interest which Wall street shows in a meeting of General Motors' directors is exceptionally keen over the meeting next Thursday for dividend action, which is expected to be another generous distribution for stockholders. First quarter earnings this year, equivalent to $5.80 a share on the common stock, against $4.95 a share in the first quarter of 1926, has bolstered belief in the street that an extra cash dividend of $2 a share will be authorized.

Growth of 50 per cent in business and earnings in 1926 over the year before is reported by Lloyd Sabaudo, one of the leading Italian shipping companies operating between Italy and New York, South America and Australia. After payment of all charges, provision was made for a 10 per cent dividend on the 150,000,000 lire capital stock, this having been increased during the year from its former figure of 100,000,000 lire.

International Securities Trust Co., of America, an investment trust, has declared a quarterly dividend of 48 cents on its class A common shares payable June 1. This represents an annual advance of 12 cents over the previous annual rate of $1.80 a share.

Issue of $50,000,000 For Erie Road Today

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—A new issue of $50,000,000 refunding and improvement mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the Erie Railroad Co. will be offered tomorrow by a nation-wide syndicate, headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. The bonds will be marketed at 94½ and interest, to yield about 5.33 per cent.

The proceeds of the issue will be used, in part, to pay off the entire debt to the government arising out of the Federal control period, as well as all the company's floating debt. The balance will be used for improvements and betterments, and to increase the road's working capital.

This issue, which is the first one of long-term bonds since 1916, is considered as a step toward reconstruction of the company's financial structure. It is believed that it will answer the contention made by Chesapeake & Ohio stockholders at the time of the original consolidation plan that the Erie's funded debt was so cumbersome and involved that it would be impossible to undertake any new financing.

DEALINGS RATHER DULL IN WEEK'S BOND MART

Easy Money Helps Keep Prices Firm; New Issues Attract Interest.

APRIL RECORD IS BROKEN

New York, May 8 (By the Associated Press).—Attention of bond traders last week was focused on future developments, with the result that dealings were of a desultory character and most of the sessions of the listed market extremely dull. Continuued easy money conditions, however, exerted their usual sustaining influence, and prices on the whole were firm.

Particular interest was manifested in the attitude Secretary Mellon will take toward refunding the outstanding balance of the second liberty loan. If these 4¼ per cent bonds are to be redeemed on November 15, the callable date, the Treasury Department must act on or before May 15 to comply with the terms of the law. What course will be taken is, of course, unknown, but there is considerable feeling in some quarters that the Liberty seconds may be refunded by Treasury notes maturing within five years and callable after two years.

New financing and talk of impending new bond issues continued to attract their share of interest. Municipal loans in sight for the remainder of May are unusually heavy in volume, and may reach a higher total than in any month of this year. These issues include one of $60,000,000 4s of the City of New York, to be sold by the municipality next Wednesday. New issues of this class aggregated around $116,000,000 in April, and for the first four months the total was approximately $457,000,000, slightly more than in the corresponding period of 1926.

The list of new issues for next week is headed by one of $50,000,000 of Erie railroad bonds, which will be placed on the market tomorrow. Proceeds of the issue are to be used to pay off the entire debt to the government arising out of the Federal control period, as well as all the company's floating debt. The bonds wil be priced to yield about 5.33 per cent.

Reports were current in bond circles that a new issue of $50,000,000 bonds of an unidentified industrial concern are due some time next week. One rumor was to the effect that the loan is being arranged by a recently organized corporation which has taken over the business of a private enterprise.

The long delayed Polish loan of $80,000,000 or so was variously used by the week's crop of rumors. Early in the week Wall street heard that the Polish government had accepted the terms laid down by New York bankers, while private dispatches later intimated that the deal had fallen through at the last minute. Bankers believed to be in close touch with the Polish situation declined to comment upon either report.

A new record for new bond issues was established in April, when a total of slightly less than $698,000,000 in new bonds represented the best aggregate of any month since the war. This was more than $40,000,000 above January's huge volume of new financing.

More than $2,000,000,000 in new bonds have been poured into the market since the first of the year, substantially over the amount which had been issued up to this time last year.

New offerings during the past week totaled over $121,000,000, against $170,000,000 in the preceding week, and about $41,000,000 in the first week of May, 1926.

Decrease in Estate And Automobile Tax

(By the Associated Press.)

Decreased collections of taxes on estates and on automobiles and motorcycles during the first nine months of the fiscal year, as compared with the similar period last year, was announced yesterday by the Treasury. Both taxes were reduced by the revenue act of 1926.

Collection of automobile and motorcycle taxes aggregated $46,921,222, comparing with $88,104,162 during the first nine months of the fiscal year 1926. The estate tax amounted to $81,092,239, comparing with $97,401,301.

May Increase Dividend.

In the absence of any expression of dividend policy by the management of Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Co., on the recent decision to recapitalize with an issue of $15,000,000 ten-year 5 per cent debentures to replace $16,500,000 of 7 per cent preferred, Wall street opinion is that the company can now increase the dividend rate on the common stock from $6 to $7 annually. This action is expected in the near future.

What's Behind Your Stock

Gulf, Mobile and Northern Railroad

The Gulf, Mobile & Northern railroad has come into increasing prominence during the past two years because of its desirability as an acquisition for some carrier which requires an outlet to the Gulf coast. The company operates about 465 miles of road which extends from Mobile on the Gulf northward to Jackson, Tenn., where connection is had with the Illinois Central, Mobile & Ohio, and the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis systems. There have been two reorganizations in the road's history, the last one being very drastic and almost entirely wiping out funded debt.

Since this last reorganization occurred, in 1916, the revenues and earnings have increased by leaps and bounds largely because expenditurs on property during the receivership placed it in good physical condition to handle increased traffic. In 1919 and 1920 deficits were reported, but in 1925 net income amounted to $1,389,970 and in 1926 totaled $1,412,885. Last year's earnings were equal to $5.77 per common share as compared with $5.58 earned in 1925.

At the present time the company's funded debt totals only 7 million dollars. Preferred stock is outstanding to the extent of $11,415,600. This preferred issue has been placed on the 6% basis to which it is entitled and extras of 3½% and 2½% as partial payment on arrears have been declared since January 1, 1926. Present accumulated unpaid preferred dividends amount to 17½%.

ISSUE OF $37,000,000 AS EMPIRE GAS AID

Henry L. Doherty Company Also Announces Formation of Two Subsidiaries.

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—Three new bond issues, totaling $73,000,000, are being issued in connection with new plans of the Empire Gas & Fuel Co., announced tonight by Henry L. Doherty & Co. These plans involve the formation of two subsidiaries, Empire Oil & Gas Co., which will acquire most of the oil properties, and Cities Service Gas Co., which will take over the entire pipe line system and practically all the gas properties now held by Empire Gas & Fuel. A third company, Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Co., which is controlled by Empire Gas & Fuel, will retain its oil producing properties in the Seminole field of Oklahoma.

Proceeds of the three bond issues will be used to refund all the outstanding bonds of Empire Gas & Fuel Co. and of the Kansas Oklahoma Gas Co., and to finance the segregation of oil and gas properties.

The issues, which are expected to reach the market in a day or two, comprise $30,000,000 Empire Oil & Refining Co. first mortgage and collateral trust 5½s; Cities Service Gas Co. first mortgage pipe line 5½s, and $18,000,000 Empire Gas & Fuel 5 per cent serial notes. Outstanding bonds to be retired carry interest rates ranging from 6½ to 7½ per cent.

NOTICE OF REDEMPTION

All outstanding Second Liberty Loan 4 per cent bonds of 1927-42 (Second 4's) and all outstanding Second Liberty Loan Converted 4¼ per cent bonds of 1927-42 (Second 4¼'s) are called for redemption on November 15, 1927, pursuant to the terms of their issue. Interest on all Second 4's and Second 4¼'s will cease on said redemption date, November 15, 1927.

Holders of Second 4's and Second 4¼'s will be entitled to have the bonds redeemed and paid at par on November 15, 1927. Such holders may, however, in advance of November 15, 1927, be offered the privilege of exchanging all or part of their bonds for other interest-bearing obligations of the United States. Holders who desire to avail themselves of the exchange privilege, if and when announced, should request their bank or trust company to notify them when information regarding the exchange offering is received.

CURB MARKET ACTIVITY SPREADS DURING WEEK

Utilities Shares Lead With Numerous Gains; Motors Are Buoyant.

OTHER GROUPS STRONG

New York May 8 (By the Associated Press).—Bullish activities spread over a wide variety of stocks in the curb market last week, and resulted in a number of substantial gains. The movement toward higher ground was largely in sympathy with the strength of shares on the "big board," although there were a few issues which reflected individual developments favorable to stock owners.

Public utilities held the center of the stage with gains of 1 to 5 points fairly numerous, and other advances ranging up to 18 points over last week's closing quotations. The upward movement was based largely on talk of new superpower projects and favorable dividend actions as a result of some good current profit showings.

Motor shares were stimulated by increasing demand for automobiles as reflected by heavy production last month. Tire shares also participated in the advance. Numerous specialties moved steadily into higher ground, including artificial silk, cigar, farm machinery, mining and baking shares. Mercantile issues were irregular, for the most part moving in sympathy with individual reports.

The trend of the oils was upward, the largest gains being scored by the pipe line shares, while issues of producing companies responded to stiffening of crude prices, the termination of the gasoline price war on the Pacific coast, and expectations of cooperative steps toward curtailment of flood production.

A score of issues admitted to trading included common stock of the Celanese Corporation and the International Paper Company, common and preferred of the proposed U. S. L. Battery Corporation, class A preference and common stocks of Pathe Exchange, Inc. and bonds of Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation, Remington Band, Inc., and Philadelphia-Suburban Counties Electric Co.

Receiver to Be Asked For Julian Oil Firm

Los Angeles, May 8 (By A. P.).—The Times says Walter Duisenberg, member of the New York, San Francisco and Honolulu Stock exchanges and head of Duisenberg-Wichman & Co., of San Francisco, bond brokers, has instructed his attorney to file a bill in equity in the United States district court tomorrow asking that the affairs of the Julian Petroleum Corporation be placed in receivership.

His action follows that of the board of governors of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, who Friday night suspended trading in the Julian stock because of an asserted overissue.

I. B. BABCOCK IS MADE HERTZ COMPANY HEAD

C. W. Litsey Becomes Vice President of $3,000,000 Drivurself Corporation.

Chicago, May 8 (By A. P.).—Irving B. Babcock, formerly comptroller of the Yellow Cab Manufacturing Co., today became president of the Hertz Drivurself Corporation, succeeding John Hertz, who became chairman of the board of directors. The announcement, made by Hertz, also told of the promotion of C. W. Litsey to vice president and general manager.

Babcock, who is but 37 years old, heads the $3,000,000 corporation, the largest of its kind in the country, and has direct charge of the business in 300 cities in 42 States, the District of Columbia and throughout Canada. He started his career with the Yellow Cab Manufacturing Co., gradually rising to the position of vice president of the Yellow Truck & Coach Manufacturing Co., which he also maintains. He also is president of the Yellow Manufacturing Acceptance Corporation, a $3,000,000 company, which he helped organize in 1923 for the purpose of aiding in financing the sale of Yellow cabs.

The Hertz Drivurself Corporation rents automobiles on an honor basis, with a small payment down plus a mileage charge.

Erie Railroad Company

REFUNDING AND IMPROVEMENT MORTGAGE 5% GOLD BONDS
SERIES OF 1927

Dated May 1, 1927 Due May 1, 1967

Interest payable May 1 and November 1 in New York City.

Issued under Mortgage dated December 1, 1916, to be amended by Supplemental Indenture to be dated May 1, 1927, Bankers Trust Company, New York, Trustee.

Redeemable in whole or in part, at the Company's option, upon 60 days' notice, on any interest payment date, at 105% and accrued interest.

Coupon Bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500, registerable as to principal. Registered Bonds in denominations of $1,000 and authorized multiples thereof. Coupon and registered Bonds, and the several denominations of each, interchangeable.

Issue and sale subject to authorization by the Interstate Commerce Commission and to approval of Supplemental Indenture by the stockholders of the Company.

J. J. Bernet, Esq., President of Erie Railroad Company, has summarized as follows his letter to us regarding this issue:

ERIE RAILROAD SYSTEM — The Erie Railroad System covers the so-called trunk line territory and reaches the important gateways and traffic centers of Chicago, Buffalo, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Indianapolis. Its main line from New York to Chicago is double tracked throughout except for a distance of nine miles. The total mileage operated is 2,317 miles.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE — The proceeds of this issue will be applied, in part, to the payment and retirement of $32,919,450 short-term notes and loans, including the 6% Collateral Notes held by the United States Government and those formerly held by the Director-General of Railroads, and $10,000,000 Two-Year Secured 4½% Gold Notes which are to be called for retirement on July 1, 1927. Upon the retirement of such obligations, the Company will be entirely free from floating debt. The balance of the proceeds will be used for additions and betterments to the Company's property, to increase its working capital and for other corporate purposes.

IMPROVEMENT OF PROPERTY — Since 1907, substantially the entire net income of the Company, aggregating approximately $97,000,000, has been invested in additions and improvements, applied to the reduction of debt or added to working capital. Between June 30, 1907 and December 31, 1926, the Company's net investment in road and equipment (without deducting accrued depreciation on equipment) increased by over $148,000,000, whereas its funded debt, including equipment trust certificates, increased by less than $36,000,000. The improvements effected during this period have made possible a large increase in the traffic carried and a marked improvement in operating efficiency.

EARNINGS

|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1923 | 132,978,455 | 25,219,116* | 14,676,458 | 10,542,658 |

*After eliminating debits to income caused by the adjustment of claims against the United States Government covering the Federal control and guaranty periods prior to September 1, 1920 as follows: In 1922, $1,329,268; and in 1923, $2,107,386.

During the five-year period covered by the above table, annual income applicable to fixed charges averaged 1.47 times total fixed charges. Income applicable to fixed charges in 1926 amounted to 1.68 times total fixed charges. Annual interest charges will be increased by less than $715,000 by the issue of these Bonds. It is expected that the expenditure of the proceeds not required for refunding purposes will be productive of net income substantially in excess of this amount.

SECURITY — Subject to underlying mortgages securing $195,252,300 bonds outstanding in the hands of the public, the Refunding and Improvement Mortgage covers substantially all the railroads of the Erie System, comprising about 2,185 miles of line. The Mortgage is a direct lien on 858 miles of road owned in fee and a lien upon the Company's rights by stock ownership, leasehold and otherwise in the rest of the System covered by the Mortgage. Upon the retirement of the above mentioned short-term notes and loans from the proceeds of this issue, these $50,000,000 Bonds will be the only bonds outstanding under the Mortgage.

Subject to the prior liens of the Company's Pennsylvania Collateral Indenture and of its General Mortgage securing, respectively, $13,140,000 4% Bonds and $37,331,600 4% Convertible Bonds outstanding in the hands of the public, the Mortgage has a lien upon the entire capital stock of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, which has no funded debt outstanding. The Coal Company's average annual net earnings for the ten years ended December 31, 1926 were $4,130,575, as compared with $2,018,864, the present total annual interest charges on the prior debt secured on that Company's capital stock. The latter figure will be reduced to approximately $1,330,000 if all the Series D General Mortgage Bonds are converted prior to the expiration of the conversion privilege on October 1, 1927, and will be further reduced to $840,600 upon the complete retirement of the Pennsylvania Collateral Bonds, which, based on the current rate of retirement by sinking fund, should be effected by December 31, 1935.

EQUITY — The Company's capital stock, consisting of $47,904,400 First Preferred Stock, $16,000,000 Second Preferred Stock, and $119,102,900 Common Stock, has an aggregate indicated market value, based on current quotations, of approximately $102,000,000.

THE ABOVE BONDS ARE OFFERED FOR SUBSCRIPTION, SUBJECT TO THE CONDITIONS STATED BELOW, AT 94½% AND ACCRUED INTEREST, TO YIELD OVER 5.30% TO MATURITY.

Subscription books will be opened at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. at 10 o'clock A. M., Monday, May 9, 1927, and will be closed in their discretion. The right is reserved to reject any or all applications, and also, in any case, to allot a smaller amount than applied for. All subscriptions will be received subject to the due authorization of the issue and sale of the Bonds as planned, and to approval by counsel of the form and validity of the documents and proceedings.

The amounts due on allotments will be payable at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., in New York funds to their order, and the date of payment (on or about May 25, 1927) will be stated in the notices of allotment. Interim Certificates, exchangeable for definitive Bonds when received, are to be delivered.

THE GOVERNMENT IN SHIPPING.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has gone on record as opposing the entry of the government into the field of shipbuilding. The chamber also opposes any further restrictions upon the authority of the Shipping Board to dispose of vessels to private parties. "Private construction, ownership and operation" seems to be the ideal of the chamber.

In the meantime Chairman O'Connor states the policy of the Shipping Board as follows:

> The Shipping Board is in favor of carrying out the merchant marine act, which provides for an American merchant marine ultimately to be privately owned. Meanwhile and until private American capital can and will take it over, ships are to be operated by the government for the protection of commerce and national security.

The Senate resolution of last December, requesting the Shipping Board to postpone further sales of ships until the committee on commerce could make an investigation, expressed the opinion that sale of ships "may seriously impede the design of Congress for an American merchant marine."

Private construction, ownership and operation of the merchant marine seems to be practically unattainable, in spite of the desire of the government to retire from the shipping business. The fundamental difficulty appears to be the inability of private operators to compete with foreigners. But there is another impediment to private operation and that is the duty of the government to provide for the national defense. Private operators can not be expected to design and operate ships and establish routes with a view to the national defense. It is not their duty or their business to do so. If left to their own devices, they might adapt themselves to the stress of foreign competition and successfully operate a merchant marine; but it would not meet the requirements of the national defense.

Foreign governments meet the problem in various ways, all of them simmering down to government protection, direction and aid of their merchant ships. They retain the right to assimilate their merchant marine with their navies; and some of the largest foreign merchant marines are well equipped and well manned adjuncts of the navies under whose flag they operate. Routes are maintained with an eye to national defense. Subsidies are paid in order to keep ships in operation. Certain governments are large owners of shipping stock and make it their duty to get business for their ships. One or two powerful foreign governments are engaged in producing raw materials outside of their territories, which provide good business for their ships.

It is impossible to dissociate the United States government from the merchant marine. The attempt should be abandoned. No apology should be offered for government participation in shipbuilding, ownership, or operation. The government should join hands with private enterprise, in order that profitable commerce may go hand in hand with adequate national defense.

WANTED: A PELVIS AND A SKULL.

The Smithsonian institution reports that Dr. James W. Gidley, paleontologist of the National museum, has returned from an elephant hunt without having captured, shot or seen a single complete elephant, mammoth or anything resembling such an animal.

Dr. Gidley did not conduct his hunt in Asia or Africa, but right here in continental United States. One reason for his failure may have been that the last American elephant or mammoth "passed out of existence in the glacial period." We are further advised that up to the glacial period "he roamed over the entire continent. He was probably much taller than even the celebrated Jumbo, having been 12 feet, or more, in height with curved tusks 8 to 12 feet long."

As the glaciers ceased their operations many hundred thousand years ago, it is not strange that Dr. Gidley failed to find any of the beasts either in Oklahoma or Florida, in which States he has been hunting. He hardly expected to encounter many live ones anywhere in the United States. However, as the Smithsonian is without a complete specimen of a skeleton of an American mammoth, or elephant, he was trying to find enough fragments to rebuild at least one skeleton for the National museum.

While his hunting expedition was not completely successful, Dr. Gidley did find some teeth, foot bones and part of a skull of one of the animals near Alva, Okla., and he felt rewarded when he found in the same excavation with the mammoth's remains foot bones and lower jaw of a giant sloth, which he "believes to be a species hitherto unknown to science." He also found remains of a three-toed horse and those of a deer of the Miocene period.

Dr. Gidley next tried his luck in Florida, where he found bones that look as if they might prove to be just what is wanted in the way of frames of mammoths. He dug up a few, but has not enough from both graveyards to make a first-class presentable skeleton. What he needs most now is a skull and a pelvis, and if any Floridian who has met reverses is looking for a job he might get a shovel and try his luck out around Sarasota, where it is believed elephants were wont to congregate some time ago—in about the Paleozoic age, for instance.

If no one finds the desired pelvis and skull within a reasonable time, Dr. Gidley will start on another elephant hunt.

CALLING THE LIBERTY BONDS.

Interest will cease on all outstanding bonds of the second Liberty loan after November 15 next. This announcement from the office of Secretary Mellon is made in accordance with the terms upon which those securities were offered in 1917. While the life of the bonds is 25 years, it is optional with the Treasury Department to redeem them after 10 years, provided that notice of such intention to redeem is published six months in advance of the date of redemption.

The second Liberty bonds were of two species, one bearing 4 and the other 4¼ per cent interest, the latter class being converted to the higher rate of interest in accordance with the agreement that they might be thus changed should the government at any time in the future find it necessary to offer the higher rate in order to float another loa...

Because of the fact that the sales campaign at the time the second Libertys were offered was the most intensive, as well as one of the most effective, drives ever conducted in the financial history of the government, Secretary Mellon desires that all holders of Libertys shall have every possible opportunity to take advantage of the chance to redeem their holdings; and if it shall be decided to issue new securities in lieu of these bonds, they are to have the opportunity to avail themselves thereof. Banks and postoffices throughout the country are asked to spread the news. For the first time, also, the radio will be used for like purpose tomorrow when Assistant Secretary Dewey will broadcast the announcement.

The second Libertys were issued on November 15, 1917. The total face value of the issue is $3,807,865,000. If allowed to remain uncalled for the full period of 25 years the total interest would equal the principle. By paying them off in 10 years the saving in interest will be upward of $2,000,000,000. Even if another loan shall be floated to provide the funds to redeem these, as will doubtless be necessary, the new loan can certainly be floated at a rate of interest far below that paid by the second Libertys.

DISPERSING FOG.

L. Francis Warren, inventor of a system of shooting electrically charged sand from an airplane for the purpose of dispelling fog and clouds, is to have means placed at his disposal this summer sufficient to prove or disprove the efficiency of his system. With the backing of several wealthy men, some of whom are interested in aviation, he will establish a laboratory and workshop in Long island and will make an attempt to knock every cloud and fog that ventures his way "galley west."

Former experiments proved that as long as the machinery for distributing the sand held up, it was possible to dispel fog. In theory, the plane is used to cut away a clear place in the fog or cloud bank, through which the sun can shine. Once the sun has broken through, its warmth does the rest, so that by cutting several such paths a large area can be cleared in short order.

Now and then New York or London is visited by a fog sufficient to paralyze all traffic. Hundreds of vessels must be held outside the harbor; transportation systems are slowed up, and shipping of all sorts is delayed. The financial loss occasioned by such fogs is enormous. As the airplane assumes a greater place in commerce a similar condition will obtain when fog visits a landing field.

If the Warren system of fog dispersion proves practicable one of the greatest bugbears to seafaring men will have been removed.

NUISANCE TAXES.

Among the nuisance taxes which it is hoped that Congress will eliminate when it comes to providing for the reduction of the revenues next winter are the taxes on theater admissions and club dues.

The revenue act of 1924 provided a rate on admissions of 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction on the amount paid for such tickets in excess of 50 cents. Under the revenue act of 1925 the exemption was increased to 75 cents, effective March 29, 1926. The effect of this change is shown in the report of internal revenue collections, which covers the first nine months of the current fiscal year. This report shows that the amount collected as admission taxes for the nine months ended March 31 was more than $13,000,000, as compared with some $18,500,000 for the corresponding period of 1926. During the same period collection from club dues and fees was $7,350,000, as against $7,110,000 for the nine months ended March 31, 1926.

Nevada has the smallest population of any State in the Union, and the natural inference would be that taxes collected from admission tickets would be smaller in that State than in any of the others. During the first nine months of current fiscal year, however, the internal revenue collections in Nevada came to nearly $22,750, which was a greater amount than was paid in each of 14 other States.

EFFICIENCY OF THE POLICE.

Senator Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, is curious to know what basis there may be for the charge that the police force of Washington is grossly inefficient and excessively extravagant. Maj. Hesse has undertaken to gratify the curiosity of the senator as to the efficiency of the men under his command and control.

In the first place, Maj. Hesse shows that during the last five years there have been 143 homicides within the District, and that in all but 5 of these cases the police have been able to "solve the problem," which Maj. Hesse reports is equal to the record of the most efficient European police departments. He adds that in the matter of clearing up miscellaneous serious crimes there is only one municipality in the country with a better record. In the matter of arrests there are only seven other cities in the country that have a higher standing, considering the average of each policeman.

Maj. Hesse does not say so, probably because he does not wish to overpraise his prize arrester, but if only 10 per cent of the force could show such a record as that of Officer Sinclair, "the champion tagger of overtime parkers," no other town would have a chance against Washington. Certainly no other has so zealous a record maker as Tagger Sinclair.

While comparisons may be considered as odious, Maj. Hesse feels it incumbent upon himself to call attention to the fact that New York, Boston, Detroit, Cleveland and Newark have poorer records in the matter of arrests of persons charged with miscellaneous felonies. Besides, speaking of extravagance in the conduct of affairs of the police department, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Buffalo are among the cities costing more per square mile to police, besides New York, Boston, Newark and Richmond are cited as examples in which the cost per capita greatly exceeds the cost in this city.

Altogether, considering that Washington is the seat of the Federal government, to which thousands of visitors are attracted every week, these visitors being of "all kinds and conditions of men," Maj. Hesse thinks that, faced as it is with graver conditions than those confronting any other force in the country, the Washington police force ranks as high in efficiency and is as economically conducted as any police force in the country. The public will be inclined to agree with him.

PLENTY OF "GAS."

Throughout the month of March the daily average production of crude petroleum from wells in the United States reached 2,429,000 barrels, or a total of 75,304,000 barrels for the month, which was 24 per cent increase over the production of March, 1926. Gasoline production for the month amounted to 27,886,000 barrels, or a daily average of 900,000 barrels, while at the same time the daily average demand was 725,000 barrels.

On March 31, 1926, the total stock of gasoline on hand was 46,121,000 barrels. At the end of March this year this stock had been increased to 52,410,000 barrels.

With a daily average increase of 5,000 barrels of crude petroleum in March this year as compared with the production of March a year ago, it would seem that there is no immediate danger of shortage. Furthermore, the 329 refineries reporting to the bureau of mines, from which these figures emanate, were operating up to only 77 per cent capacity. The stock of gasoline reported on hand at the end of March indicated a supply sufficient to meet the demand for 63 days. There was a falling off in the shipments from California through the Panama canal, probably on account of the increase in the production of light oil in the mid-continent field. At the same time there was noted a marked increase in the domestic demand for kerosene and lubricants, while stocks of wax from the oil refineries passed the 200,000,000-pound mark for the first time since December, 1922. The low point for this commodity was 89,000,000 pounds in January, 1925.

Altogether the oil industry appears to be in a thriving condition, and there does not seem to be any reason that would warrant an advance in the price of "gas," but the summer ourist demand has not yet started, and that demand itself may serve as an excuse for boosting prices.

AMERICAN CUTLERY.

The United States exports of cutlery for the year 1926 to all countries, including Great Britain, totaled more than $9,450,000 in value. Exports to Great Britain last year came to only about $135,000. This decline was due to a British duty of 33 1-3 per cent, which went into effect December 22, 1925. As a result of this protective measure, the production of British cutlery increased.

Europe is the principal market for American cutlery, taking $4,796,000 worth in 1926, an increase of some $1,096,000 in value over 1925. The second most important market is Central America and the West Indies. Next comes South America, which last year bought cutlery valued at $1,556,000.

France is America's best individual customer, purchasing cutlery valued at $1,348,000 in 1926. Germany comes second, buying about $966,000 worth. Canada is third, with purchases of about $850,000 in 1926. Exports of American safety razors last year amounted to nearly $6,000,000 in value.

The American cutlery industry has grown to enormous proportions, but the most significant fact is that more than 85 per cent of the American production is sold and consumed in the United States.

MARCH IMMIGRATION.

During the month of March 4,546 immigrants from Germany were admitted to the United States, 2,295 came in from the Irish Free State, 1,600 from Italy, 1,098 from Scotland, 959 from Norway, 946 from Sweden, 941 from Poland and 852 from England. Other countries of Europe contributed less than 500 each. During the same period the western hemisphere supplied 13,473, of whom 92.9 per cent were from Canada and Mexico. March is invariably the peak month for Mexican immigration, and 1927 was no exception to the rule, as 7,900 came from south of the Rio Grande as against 4,615 from the Canadian provinces.

The total of immigration, aside from visitors, admitted through the ports of the country during the nine months of the fiscal year was 118,692, as contrasted with 112,889 for the first nine months of the year which ended June 30 last.

Three countries, Greece, Latvia and Luxembourg, exhausted their anual quotas during March, and no more will be admitted from any of the three until after the beginning of the new fiscal year, July 1.

Chinese patriots are queer; they use the bayonet to acquire loot instead of using contracts.

It's nice to have the country divided into States, so each can have something to ridicule.

Einstein says there is no such thing as time. What is it, then, that makes people virtuous?

Publicity is easy to get. Just be so successful you don't need it, and then you'll get it.

Men still yearn for the ability to say "No," but it is called sales resistance now.

Is He Convinced?

Springfield Republican: Gov. Ritchie of Maryland "would like to see the political parties convinced that political hypocrisy, political buncombe and political cowardice are no longer political assets." But is the governor himself really convinced?

Weighing the Floods.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Weather bureau statistics report the rainfall in this vicinity during the month of April as 6.3 inches. A rainfall of 6.3 inches in one square mile gives a volume of water which weighs 457,380 tons. The area of Missouri being 69,420 square miles, it follows that in this State during April nearly 30,000,000,000 tons of rain came from sky to earth.

If one takes the entire Mississippi valley, most of which was deluged by heavy rains in the weeks of April, and computes the weight of the water which eventually found its way into the Mississippi river, he will find reason to be grateful that the earth's crust in this part of the globe is as substantial as it is. The result of the stress caused by this additional burden, however, is a subject which interests geologists deeply.

No Panacea.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: A conference of social workers in New York has reached the conclusion that there is no panacea for crime. This is not a new discovery by any means, but social workers and publicists have long held the opinion that there would be less crime in this country if arrest and punishment followed as swiftly as they do, for example, in Canada and in the British isles. Our problem is the making over of the methods for the administration of criminal justice. Thanks to the technicalities of procedure which the courts permit to obstruct the swift trial and punishment of criminals, far too many of them escape altogether. Both bench and bar share the responsibility for this evil. Legislators, too, must bear some of the blame for interfering with the course of justice by imposing too many detailed regulations which bind the courts and deprive judges of that liberty of action which they should have. The courts are bound too rigidly by precedent and tradition, and they consequently do not function efficiently Swift and certain justice might not prove the sought-for panacea, but it would be an effective preventive.

What Could Be Sweeter?

Philadelphia Record: The advent of May day will soon begin to have an effect upon menus in the middle Atlantic States, since the crab season opened upon that notable occasion, and shellfish prophets along the Chesapeake are looking for a good year. It would be wise for the spidery brothers with their sidewise scuttle to hie them to the deeper waters, to fall for no dangling bait and keep clear of traps; but, fortunately for appreciative palates, they are unaware of the spring drive against them. What harmonizes more sweetly with pale green lettuce than pearly crab meat? What crawls more invitingly across the platter than a group of soft-shells? Please pass the tartar sauce.

Touche!

Baltimore Sun: The French Red Cross has announced that it is sending money and antityphoid serum to help the victims of the Mississippi flood. Is this unnecessary? Well, the American people—including those of Baltimore—have not oversubscribed the appeal of their own Red Cross.

No, the assistance of the French should be accepted by rich America as the gift of sincere and sympathetic friends. The directors of the French Red Cross, one feels sure, are just that sort of people. They may even lack a sense of humor. But the French public is not humorless, nor is the American public completely so. Out of the simplicity of those benevolent Frenchmen has emerged a jest that permits of no repartee. Impecunious France gives itself the privilege of sending aid to opulent Uncle Sam! And the joke is not on the French.

In Explanation.

Atchison Globe: The experts are going to make things safe for travelers in the air. They probably have despaired of doing anything for the pedestrian.

Statistics.

Minneapolis Journal: Chicago boasts a thousand millionaires—and about a hundred thousand others hanging around waiting a chance to get their watches.

Cart Before the Horse?

Philadelphia Public Ledger: But the average parent nowadays knows no more of the uses of Spartan hilosophy than his children do. He has little taste for simple and unpretentious things. That is one of the reasons why children emerge every year from monumental and showy high schools and colleges at the end of their formative period to begin the education by which they must live through hard contacts with a world as strange to them as a foreign country.

Schools, said Dr. Cox in his address to some Philadelphia teachers, should follow the lead of children and adapt their systems "to radio and dancing and athletics." The cart, in other words, should still go before the horse.

Mother of Progress

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE beginning of success is ambition, and the beginning of ambition is dissatisfaction with what you now are. The complacent aren't going anywhere; it is discontent that mothers progress.

But granting that you have the necessary discontent and the ambition to grow greater, there remains the business of finding the inspiration and the encouragement that will hold you steadfast until your ambition is achieved.

A better and surer method is to make personal contact with successful men—not because successful men are peculiar, but for an exactly opposite reason.

There is nothing in the appearance or manner of a big-league ball player to distinguish him from the bush league player. Publicity and imagination give him glamour, but close observation dispels it.

Thus it is with nearly all men the world calls great—writers, statesmen, financiers, actors and what not. The quality that distinguishes them from lesser men manifests itself only in their work, and is a product of native ability and infinite toil.

If you, being filled with discontent and gnawed by ambition, should meet one of these and find him an awe-inspiring creature wholly unlike yourself, you would say at once: "I have no chance. I perceive that the winners are made of superior clay and born to win."

If you have worshiped one of these from afar, close contact gives you a sense of having been cheated.

But out of your disappointment comes inspiration, and you say to your soul: "If these, who seem so ordinary, have made themselves great in the field I have chosen for myself, surely I need not despair."

The quality of divinity in the winner is a myth fashioned by hero worshipers. It is the myth that awes you and makes you doubt yourself.

We are a more honest people. Time was when a woman could wear a tattered something and say, "Oh, well, it won't show, anyway."

Friends are those who, during their intervals of sobriety, virtuously urge you to cut out liquor for the sake of your friends.

The man who once enjoyed predicting the ruination of the peach crop now has a son who enjoys as much as the conviction that Ford is going broke.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Overhanging Trees.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In some places in the city limbs of shade trees hang so low over the sidewalks that walking under them with an umbrella raised is impossible. The consequent result is that ladies frequently get drenched. Whose business is it to see that such overhanging limbs are cut off? A CITIZEN.

Chicago Indicted.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: For the past few days it has been my misfortune to read about hundreds of people put out of their houses, on the Mississippi.

I have yet to see one comment made by any paper on the fact that Chicago is stealing thousands of feet of water per minute and putting it into the Mississippi.

JAMES G. MACLAREN.

Montreal, May 5.

Bankers Can Make Peace.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Secretary Hoover is eminently right when he urges the bankers and masters of finance to refuse loans for war purposes. War is costly, and no nation can afford to make war if money is denied it for that purpose. The bankers are the great conservators of peace. They have it in their power to say there shall be no more war. Money without stint for the development of industry, for the expansion of trade, for the encouragement of peace and good will between nations and peoples, but not a cent for war. Let that be the motto and principle of action by the money kings and that time so long looked for and prayed for when swords shall be turned into ploughshares will have come to the earth.

Today America is the money center of the world. It passed from Amsterdam to London, and now is fixed in New York. Americans by nature and instinct are lovers of peace. In peace the people are prosperous and contented. In war there is a sudden blaze of apparent prosperity, but it is a flame that warms only a few. In peace all share in the prosperity. The bankers of New York can enforce peace on all nations. Peace or war rests with them.

RANDOLPH WHARTON.

Why Men Dodge Jury Duty.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial today on the insufficient pay for jurors is timely. But insufficient pay is not the only reason why men shun jury duty. There is another, and a very potent cause. It lies with the court itself. Especially does this cause prevail in criminal cases. Judges permit attorneys to consume days and often weeks in the trial of a case that could, and ought to be disposed of in a few hours. No man is inclined to leave his family for weeks to be tied up in court, listening to endless and futile questions and answers, while attorneys wrangle over the admissibility of the proposed evidence.

Defending attorneys operate on the idea that the more time they can consume the more it will benefit their client through confusion and forgetfulness on the part of the jury, and the court permits them to go on, asking endless questions, rambling over the universe instead of confining themselves to the question in issue. The pay is inadequate, especially for wage earners, but increase the pay to a reasonable figure and still competent men will escape jury duty whenever possible, until a reformation is worked in court procedure. American courts can learn much, and much that is valuable, from a study of how English courts are conducted. Let us have reform in both ways—adequate pay, and more speed in the trials.

STEPHAN WILL REVIEW CADET BRIGADE TODAY

CUP GOES TO McKINLEY

Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, commanding officer of the Twenty-ninth division, will review the Washington High School Cadet brigade this afternoon, at the annual brigade inspection and review at 4:30 o'clock in the Central High school stadium.

Following the annual inspection, Gen. Stephan will make honor awards to cadet units and student commanders who have excelled in military competitions conducted within the corps during the year. Gen. Stephan will be accompanied by his staff adjutant, Brig. Gen. Lloyd Brett.

The silver cup, offered by Col. Wallace M. Craigie, military instructor, for the most proficient battalion, will go to the first battalion, second regiment, of McKinley High school. A gold medal, given by school officials, will go to its commander, Maj. Leroy D. Voshall.

Company B, of McKinley, winner of the war games conducted in the schools, will receive the military instructors' cup, and its captain, Hugh H. Hussey, jr., will be awarded a gold medal by school officials. The First Regiment band of Central will receive the silver cup offered by the military instructors for winning the annual band competition, and its commander, Capt. Jesse L. Stimson, will be presented the medal offered by school officials.

A gold medal will be awarded Lieut. Col. Richard D. Schmidtman, in command of the second regiment of McKinley and Business High schools, which won the annual regimental competition. A silk flag will be presented the first battalion, second regiment, of McKinley.

Entertained at Tea.

The former Ambassador from Peru and Senora de Pezet were entertained at tea yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Noyes.

The Assistant Secretary of the Theasury and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey entertained last evening at an informal supper party. There were 40 guests. After supper the Assistant Secretary showed the motion pictures which he took while on his trip in the South.

Miss Madeline Couzens will entertain this evening at a dinner dance for Miss Helen Carusi, her fiance, Maj. Lombard, and their bridal party.

The counselor of the German Embassy and Mme. Kiep entertained at dinner on Saturday evening at the Wardman Park hotel in honor of the French writer M. Jules Sauerwein and the German novelist Mr. Walter Bloem, both of whom are en route to Europe from China.

Former Attorney General and Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer arrived at the Carlton yesterday.

The wedding last week in Paris of the Count and Countess Richard d'Etrimesini was the occasion for a great deal of entertaining. Countess d'Etrimesini, who before her marriage was Miss Adeline Oxnard, daughter of Mrs. Henry T. Oxnard, entertained at luncheon the day before her wedding at the Chateau Madrid, outside of Paris. There were 50 guests, the luncheon being given in honor of the bridesmaids, Miss Louise Branch, of Richmond, Va., and Miss Llovehas. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. David Bruce, the former Miss Eliza Mellon, daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mrs. W. Harry Brown has closed her apartment and has departed for Pittsburgh for a visit. Mrs. Brown will sail soon for London.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte will sail this month for Europe. They will return in August to be in Newport.

Col. and Mrs. Frank L. Hatch entertained at the dinner dance at the Wardman Park hotel on Saturday evening for their daughter, Miss Cornelia Hatch. The party included Miss Rebekah Lipscomb and Lieut. Thomas White, Miss Katherine White, sister of Lieut. White; Miss Evlyn Gordon, Miss Adelaide Douglass, Miss Frances Gore, Miss Frances Hopkins, Mr. Herron Slack, Mr. James Cox, Mr. Fontaine Bradley, Mr. James Carroll, Mr. Robert Wickes and Mr. Williamson.

Col. and Mrs. W. J. Nicholson, who have been passing the winter at St. Augustine, Fla., arrived yesterday at the Willard, where they plan to m[illegible] a short visit before continuing t[illegible] journey to their home in Lake Forest, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Henry Little, who have been the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Arthur Sears Henning, have departed for their home in Chicago, after a visit in Cuba. Mr. and Mrs. Henning entertained at dinner for them last evening at their home. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adlai Ewing, of Decatur, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lord entertained informally at luncheon at the Carlton hotel yesterday.

Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson entertained yesterday afternoon at dinner in home on Newlands street, Chevy Chase, Md. The guest of honor was Mrs. John Claybrook, of Texas, and the other guests were: Mrs. J. O. Ross, of Texas; Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi; Mrs. Mary T. Bangs, of Tennessee, and Mrs. Edward T. Smith, of Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sherrerd, of Haddonfield, N. J., who are passing a few days at the Willard, entertained at dinner there last night.

Dr. R. T. McIntire also entertained at dinner on Saturday night at the Willard.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Place, of Chicago, are passing a few days at the Carlton hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Rummell, of Charleston, W. Va., are also at the Carlton.

An informal wedding took place Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the rectory of St. Jerome's Catholic church, Hyattsville, Md., when Miss Elsie Frances Bresnahan, of Hyattsville, became the bride of Robert D. McElroy, son of R. J. F. McElroy, of this city. The Rev. Andrew J. Carey, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Maurice Bresnahan, wore a gown of white georgette with large picture hat.

Mr. and Mrs. McElroy departed for Philadelphia and New York. The bride's traveling costume was of black satin trimmed in green. She also wore a cloche hat.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. McElroy will live in Washington.

Mr. G. J. Seay Here.

Mr. George J. Seay, of Richmond, Va., arrived yesterday at the Willard, where he will pass the week.

Arrangements have been completed for the flood relief ball, which the President and Mrs. Coolidge will attend, this evening in the large ballroom of the Willard. Flags of the nations will decorate the room, and an orchestra from the Marine band will furnish the music. The ball will be well attended by diplomatic, congressional, judiciary, army, navy and resident Washington. Mrs. Robert A. Lacey and Mrs. Harry R. Fulton have charge of the sale of box seats. Mr. George H. O'Connor will entertain with a group of songs. He will be accompanied by Mr. Matt Horne. In view of the fact that the ballroom and music are to be furnished for this ball without cost, a large sum will be realized and turned over to the Red Cross for the relief of the flood sufferers, and the Mississippi society of Washington, under those auspices this event is given, takes this opportunity of thanking all those who have so generously aided toward making the ball a success.

Mr. Kurt Hetzel, pianist and conductor, will play at the musicale at Tuxeden, Edgemoor, Md., the residence of Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman May 17 at 4:30 p. m.

EUROPE CONFIDENT U. S. CAN KEEP WORLD PEACE

Attitude Held, Despite Difference on Economic Program, Alliance Told.

FRENCH RENOUNCE WAR

New York, May 8 (by A. P.).—Europe believes that America can prevent another world war, says Dr. Fred B. Smith, international welfare worker, in a report issued to the executive committee of the world alliance for international friendship through the churches, of which he is chairman. The report follows a ten-week study of political conditions by Dr. Smith in England, France and Italy.

"While Europe may not agree with our political and economic program, so far as our relationship to Europe is cincerned, it has the utmost confidence in our strength and influence to prevent war," Dr. Smith said.

Instead of finding that France had gone mad on the subject of war, said Dr. Smith, he heard the whole country talking about Briand's appeal to the United States for a treaty which would formally renounce war as a method of adjusting disputes between his country and ours.

England, he found, is "without a murmur or a sniveling whine, carrying on undaunted in her endeavor to maintain peace in the world," although the nation is taxed as no other people is taxed, and although it is a buffer for critical European complications and is vexed with Oriental discords.

Mussolini is so engrossed with an "Italy first" program, the report said, that "he does not care much about European entanglements, although he is a militarist. With this program he has won the hearts of the people. Yet it is altogether likely he would go to war within an hour if he were convinced that this were the best for Italy. He belongs to no peace movement. He tolerates none. There is a single peace society in Italy, but it can hold no meetings. It can print no literature; it can write no letters; it can make no appeal."

Everywhere in Europe, declared the report, the struggle for a warless world is being accepted as the supreme issue in religion, in politics, in education and economics. Great faith is centered in the new constructive implements for composing international disputes, and among these the League of Nations holds the first place.

Devices for Lumber Industry Win Prizes

(By the Associated Press.)

Lumber mill devices which the National Lumber Manufacturers association says will save 100,000,000 feet of timber annually by alimination of waste have been perfected as the result of an invention contest sponsored by that organization.

The first prize of $1,000, it was announced yesterday, has been awarded to William J. McHale, of Soperton, Wis., for an invention known as the "multiple guide dimension mill." A second prize of $500 was won by A. L. Thomas, of Charleston, S. C., for an automatically operated scale and indicator attachment for sawmill lumber edgers. Three awards of $100 each and four of $50 also were announced.

June 8 to 14 Slated For U. S. Flag Week

(By the Associated Press.)

Flag week, instead of the usual Flag day, will be celebrated June 8 to 14 under auspices of the United States Flag association, it announced yesterday, marking the sesquicentennial of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes. The celebration will include patriotic exercises in schools and communities. Many governors have agreed to issue proclamations touching on the event.

Chicago-Illinois Rail Revenue $5,645,800

Chicago, May 8 (By A. P.).—Net operating revenue of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railway Co. for 1926 was the greatest in its history, $5,645,800, according to the annual report.

It resulted in a net income of $644,354.81, or 297.8 per cent more than that of $161,967.55 for 1925. Finally reduced, the figures represented a balance of $418,904 posted as profit for the year, as against a deficit of $53,284.82 marked up in 1925.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C., May 8—8 p. m.

For Maryland and Virginia—Partly cloudy and warmer Monday and Tuesday, possibly local thundershowers Tuesday in extreme west portions; moderate southerly winds, becoming fresh Tuesday.

The western storm has increased further in intensity, and its center is moving slowly northeastward, North Platte, Nebr., 28.78 inches. Pressure is below 29.50 inches from North Dakota southward to the Rio Grande, and from western Colorado eastward to the upper Mississippi valley. Pressure remains low over the Canadian maritime provinces and east of Newfoundland, and it is high over the Canadian Northwest, and from Hudson bay southeastward to Bermuda, and off the north Pacific coast. This pressure distribution has been attended by showers within the last 24 hours in the Missouri, the Ohio and upper Mississippi valleys, the upper lake region, the southern portions of the middle Atlantic States, the plateau and Rocky mountain regions, and the plains States. Snow is falling tonight in portions of Montana, Wyoming, eastern Colorado and western North Dakota. Storm-shifting winds are reported from Minnesota and North Dakota southward to the Rio Grande and the west gulf coast, the highest velocity reported being 60 miles an hour from the Northwest at Cheyenne, Wyo. The temperature has risen in California, Alberta and the middle West, and it has fallen in the middle Atlantic States, the upper Ohio valley, the Rocky mountain region, North Dakota and Minnesota. Unseasonably high temperature prevails in the interior of southern Texas, San Antonio reporting a maximum of 102 degrees, the highest ever registered at that place in May.

The Western storm will move slowly northeastward and eastward during the next two days. It will be preceded by rising temperature in all sections east of the Mississippi river, and local thundershowers are probable Monday and Tuesday in the lower lake region and the Ohio Valley, and on Tuesday in Tennessee, the east gulf States and the Appalachian region.

Feel Lame, Stiff and Achy?

DOES spring find you lame, stiff and achy? Do you feel tired and drowsy—suffer nagging backache, headache and dizzy spells? Are the kidney secretions scanty and burning in passage? Do you wonder what is wrong?

Know, then, that these are often signs of improper kidney action. Active kidneys free the blood of poisonous waste. Sluggish kidneys allow acid poisons to remain in the blood and upset the whole system. If you have reason to believe your kidneys are acting sluggishly, assist them by using a tested diuretic. Doan's Pills have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have established a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended the country over. Ask your neighbor!

50,000 Users Publicly Endorse Doan's:

W. J. Jones, 2511 French St., Erie, Pa., says: "After an attack of the flu I thought my kidneys were not acting properly. Headaches bothered me considerably and there was a soreness across my back that made it hard for me to stoop. I felt tired and never like working. After using Doan's Pills I felt fine. I heartily recommend Doan's."

Mrs. Leon F. Dupre, 796 Park Ave., St. Paul, Minn., says: "My muscles and joints were so stiff I could hardly move. The kidney secretions passed only a few drops at a time. I had severe backaches and blinding attacks of dizziness. Nothing seemed to help me until I used Doan's Pills. Doan's put me in good shape."

George Facemire, 22 Orange St., Bridgeton, N. J., says: "My kidneys were not acting right and the secretions were scant and painful. Every morning I felt tired and languid and my back was so lame I had to have assistance in dressing. I started using Doan's Pills and in a short time was in splendid health. I gladly recommend Doan's."

HEARTS' HAVEN

By MILDRED BARBOUR.

With Illustrations by Armstrong Sperry

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS.

Christine Farr, pretty, popular, just 18, is invited to the commencement exercises of Reserve university by two inseparable friends of her childhood, both of whom are in love with her. They are:

THE RIVALS.

CHRISTINE leaned on the rail of the balcony that overhung the ballroom, where the commencement dance was in progress. Harvey was on one side of her, Lewis on the other. Behind her were several eager young men who clamored for dances on a program already overfilled.

Against the fairyland background of festooned lights in the college colors; of roses and laughter and flirtation; of a perfect orchestra executing a perfect waltz, she was an exquisite little figure.

Young, clear-eyed, confident, thrilling with the joy of living, she was the personification of the scene below. And because of what she saw in the eyes of the men about her, coquetry flashed in hers, and laughter bubbled to her pretty lips. She had never in her whole life known such happiness.

Her arms were filled with red roses. They were like pulsing crimson hearts against the white and crystal of her frock. A bandeau of crystal encircled her shining hair, and there were buckles of brilliants on her white satin slippers.

She was very small, an exquisite little creature. A Tanagra figurine—with gray eyes that could be resolute and very serious, with a firm little chin that was cleft by the deepest dimple imaginable.

Harvey's hands were playing with the crystal fringe of her frock. He couldn't keep from touching her.

"Let's duck all this," he whispered, under cover of the waltz. "If we start in to dance, half a dozen fellows'll cut in. Come out on the terrace where it's cool."

She cast a half-reluctant glance at the gay scene below, but she followed him obediently.

"Just a breath of air," she explained to Lewis, as they turned away. She caught the look that flashed between the two youths, and was puzzled.

The moon was shining on the terrace of the gymnasium ballroom, making the shadows under the campus trees all the darker. Soft, blurred shapes moved through the darkness; the light flutter of a girl's gown; the flash of a silver scarf, or the sudden flare of a match and a young face above a cigarette. Through the open windows of the ballroom the music drifted softly and the passing dancers made a colorful scene.

Harvey guided Christine to a rustic seat under a tree. The moonlight, sifting through the branches, made a pattern on her white gown. The air was cool and fragrant with the scent of Syringa in bloom.

Christine chatted on, but her companion had little to say.

"What's the matter, Harvey?" she asked, after a minute. "Not having a good time?"

He turned to her swiftly.

"This—is the matter," he said, in a queer, tight voice. And kissed her squarely on the lips.

"You're Going to Marry Me, Chris, Aren't You?"

She tried to push him away indignantly, though she was trembling, strangely weak after that kiss. He had never kissed her before, and she said:

"You know I don't like that, Harvey."

But he held her tightly and his young voice broke, as he whispered:

"You're going to marry me, Chris, aren't you?"

Somehow, she had always expected this. There had never been any one else in her life but Harvey—and Lewis. She thought with swift compunction of Lewis, and, as if her thoughts conjured him out of the darkness, suddenly he was standing before them, peering with uncertainty through the shadows.

Harvey was on his feet. She could see him only vaguely, but she knew how he looked by the triumphant ring in his laugh. His blond, shining head would be thrown back, his eyes splendid in their confidence.

"Come, Lew. It's your chance now. I've kept to the bargain—but I'm going in for a drink—of celebration!"

He was off, handsome, lithe, triumphant.

Lewis seated himself beside the wondering Christiana. He moved as though he were suddenly very tired. She watched him light a cigarette. The flare of the match revealed his face. It was graver than she had ever seen it.

"What on earth were you boys talking about?" she demanded.

He hesitated a moment. Then he said, gently:

"About you, Christine. We're all three too good friends for secrets. Harvey and I agreed, when you promised to come here for commencement, that we'd give each other a fair chance to—to ask you a question. Whatever you decided——" he finished with a shrug.

"But you haven't asked me anything." There was a silence. Then:

"I don't need to, Chris. I knew the answer when I came here. I hope you and Harvey will be very, very happy always. You are my best friends. I love you both."

He rose and held out his hand.

"Good-by," he said gently.

"Good-by?" she echoed incredulously. "Aren't you going to stay for the supper?"

"I'm taking the midnight train to Chicago. Had an offer from a chemical firm there—nothing big, just something to start with. I wired them today I was coming."

"But—then you had your reservation when you came to the dance tonight?"

He nodded.

"You see how well I—knew."

He turned and went striding across the grass. Something in her heart cried out: "You may never see him again. And he is your friend! Your friend! How can you be so cruel?"

She sped after him, caught his arm, lifted her exquisite face to his.

"Oh, Lew, please don't be hurt or angry. You see, I love you, too—only not the way I love Harvey."

He did a thing very unlike himself, much more like Harvey, who did such things so gracefully: He lifted her hands to his lips—and was gone, without a word.

But her hands were moist with tears.

Mr. Work's Pointer On Auction Bridge

THE pointer for today is:

WITH A NO TRUMP CONTRACT AND A SMALL CARD LED, HOLDING TEN-X OR 10-X-X IN DUMMY AND ACE-KING-X OR KING-QUEEN-X IN CLOSED HAND, PLAY THE TEN FROM DUMMY.

The reason in this case for disregarding the general "Second-Hand-Low" rule is that, when the Closed Hand has Ace-King, the lead may have been from Queen-Jack and, if so, the play of the Ten will insure three tricks When the Closed Hand has King-Queen, the lead may have been from Ace-Jack and, if so, the play of the Ten will ensure two tricks because it will permit the Declarer to keep both King and Queen which, when held together, must take one trick. When King-Queen-x is led up to, it may take only one trick if one of the high cards be forced on the first round and the next lead of the suit be made by the adversary on the right, through the then singly guarded honor.

Of course, when Dummy has Ten-x, the play is almost obvious as the Ten, left solus in the Dummy, would not be of any service. If, however, Dummy have Ten-x-x the Ten play may result unfortunately. When Closed Hand has King-Queen-x, it is possible (unless the Eight is the card led) that the Jack is in the Third Hand, and, with the Ten covered by the Jack, the Declarer might be held to one trick in the suit, the Ten play costing a trick; and when Closed Hand has Ace-King-x, the play of the Ten from Ten-x-x at times results badly because an honor may be played by Third Hand, Closed Hand win it, and subsequently the original leader, with the other honor and the Nine, be able to continue the suit advantageously when he could not do so if the Ten remained in Dummy.

The cases in which the play results disadvantageously do not, however, equal in number those in which it produces an extra trick. The size of the small card led is a material point to be considered; the larger that card is, the greater the chance that the Ten play will succeed.

Suppose the following cards be held by Dummy and Closed Hand:

Dummy—
♠ K-4-3-2
♡ 9-4-3
◇ 4-3-2
♣ 10-7-2

Closed Hand—
♠ A-8-7-3
◇ A-Q-J
♣ K-Q-3

that South is the Declarer with a No Trump contract, and that the first lead is the Eight of Clubs. What should Dummy play and why? Write your answer in pencil on the slip that follows, get your bridge friends to fill slips, keep them and compare them with my answer tomorrow; it will make an interesting contest.

Bridge Answer Slip for May 9th.

On trick 1, Dummy should play the ..... of .....

Conduct and Common Sense

By ANNE SINGLETON

A LETTER came to me the other day from some one who had lost a young nephew. She very naturally followed the dictates of sympathy and affection and went to see her sister as soon as she could. She wore a black dress which she had hastily made. To her surprise she found none of the child's family in mourning, and she felt uncomfortable herself because she had introduced this black note into the company of colored gowns. She wondered if she had been right or wrong.

In the world of society it would be considered unusual, to say the least, for a mother not to wear black for her child. She might not have been able to get mourning on the very day the death occurred, but she would manage to appear in black as soon as possible, and she would wear it for a year. This is convention. Some people do not approve of deep mourning, but I know of few women who would not put on black for a child, a husband, a brother or sister, a father or mother—even an aunt or uncle. And, of course, they would, equally, show this respect to their husband's relations. The time of mourning grows less, to be sure. Nowadays a year seems the maximum period for near relations. Six months of deep black is quite usual; perhaps less for "in-laws" and more distant kin, and the tendency is to make the wearing of conservative mourning as short as possible. But, when people are unhappy, they feel that black is a protection. It shows their acquaintances that they are not in the mood for gayety. It is the recognized sign of grief. Now, if they do not feel unhappy, it may be a false sign, but it is still a suggestion that, for the time being, they are not eligible for any social invitations.

These are the ordinary customs among social circles in different parts of the world. Such people use black-edged paper also, and black-edged cards. But there is a very large number of people who have no especial convention in customs about mourning and a still larger number who can not afford to indulge in a whole change of wardrobe when a death occurs, no matter how sad they feel. These last could, however, take the trouble to have a dress and coat dyed, if they wished to show that they held their dead in affectionate remembrance; and this, at least, the mother of the child mentioned in our correspondent's letter might have done.

Beauty and You

By VIOLA PARIS

HOW TO BEAUTIFY EYELASHES.

THERE is no one who does not recognize the fact that it is the eyes that most truly give expression, character and charm to the face. Everything that concerns the eye is important, and especially so are the eyelashes. Happily, the lashes are a feature of which the quality can really be cultivated. Naturally luxuriant eyelashes will become thin and lifeless if continuously neglected. And, conversely, short, sparse lashes can be improved by faithful tending.

This is not, of course, an overnight beautifying process. But, for that matter, what is? Patience is necessary, and for a considerable period of time.

First of all, the eyelashes need lubricating and nourishing. Each night, at bedtime, rub some oily substance well into their roots. Petroleum vaseline is as good for the purpose as anything I know. Castor oil (odorless) is also to be recommended. Rub it along the edges of the upper and lower lids and even over the lids themselves. With the tip of the forefinger, curl the lashes back; or if you like, do this with the aid of a small camel's hair brush.

Perhaps you have the habit of smoothing lanolin or some nutrient type of cream all around the eyes at night. It is an excellent habit, for it helps to iron out and to ward off wrinkles. If you do this, don't be afraid to rub some of the cream into the lashes. It will hasten their growth and make them glisten. A person who oils the lashes regularly is not likely to be troubled with granulated lids.

When making up the face for the day, see that every vestige of powder is brushed off the lashes. Instead of leaving the lids dry, smooth a very little cream over them. The shiny look is considered a point of beauty, and the emollient naturally helps to keep the skin soft and unlined and to nourish the roots of the lashes. Some women use a dark cream for this purpose—very good if skilfully applied, but it must not look obvious.

Conspicuous eye makeup is not in good taste, particularly in the daytime. Whenever you apply any preparation to the lashes, be sure to brush the upper lashes upward and the lower ones downward. This encourages a natural tendency to curl.

With such care as this, faithfully practiced, beautiful lashes can be assured.

Dear Viola Paris: Will you kindly tell me what causes little white spots or patches to form under the eyes? What can I use to remove them?

M. A. R.

Answer—I can not tell from this brief description exactly what the trouble may be. If you mean lumps of white matter in the skin—those are accumulations in the pores and should be treated as for blackheads or other blemishes. I take it, however, that you mean simply spots of white; these probably denote some internal condition upon which you ought to seek the advice of a physician.

NOW, I'LL ASK ONE!

Everybody's doing it! Get in the swim. Test your own knowledge—and that of your friends. It is a delightful game and is educational at the same time. Printed below are ten questions—if any of them stump you, you will find the answers on the last page.

QUESTIONS.

1. What house in Washington is now occupied by the President during the repairs to the White House?
2. What country was ruled by Emperor Maximillian?
3. Which is larger, the Atlantic or Pacific ocean?
4. In what country is Naples?
5. What is the name of the machine used to keep ships from rolling?
6. Who is known as the "Father of American Football?"
7. Were Andrew Jackson and "Stonewall" Jackson the same man?
8. What State in the Union is bordered by only one other State?
9. What is the smallest continent?
10. What ancient king ordered all male babies born in Jerusalem to be killed?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

OLD-TIME DRUG STORES GONE, BUT NO LOSS.

AN eminent citizen bewails the evolution of the drug store. He is particularly unhappy because the soda fountain and the lunch counter now take up the best space, and the man who wants to get a little medicine must find his way through lunch tables to the rear somewhere in order to make his puchase.

I am not so sure that the change is altogether for the worse. There was an odor of medicine about the old-style drug store that was easily transformed into an odor of reverence. The formal rows of stately bottles were somewhat cathedral-like in their impressiveness. To lose this was something of a loss.

But let us see what the soda fountain and the lunch counter really displaced. In the first place, let's consider the contents of those row on row of gallon bottles. They looked impressive. They had glass stoppers and raised porcelain labels, each bearing a title written in Latin and printed in gold letters. The preparations in those bottles are known in the trade as galenicals. The medicines themselves actually went out of use 20 to 50 years ago. The medicine in these bottles stayed there untouched, slowly changing with time, for say 20 years, taking up space—nothing but tombstones.

Of course, an up-to-date druggist, paying rent for space, must decide to give this space to something the people really cared for. And there was a world of proof that they did not care for the old-fashioned galenicals.

Next arose the question as to what should be done about the patents. There is still a call for some of these, but instead of 40 running feet 10 will now furnish all the space required.

In recent years I have visited a number of drug stores in Central American and Caribbean countries. One can not appreciate the decrease in the faith of the American people in the patents until he looks over the acreage of shelf space given to patents in these drug stores. As they are, so our drug stores once were. On their shelves they still have the hoary old fellows that began to disappear here twenty or more years ago. Here, again, the up-to-the-minute druggist must find some use for much of the shelf room once occupied by the patents. What if in the back the space is given over to cooking operations? In the older days there were percolators and percolations, pill mass, pill cutters, and sundry other operations now better done elsewhere and otherwise.

The underlying fact is that the people do not dope themselves like they formerly did. They still take far too much medicine. They take pills, powders, and potions when all they need to do is to let nature handle the job. But at that the habit is a dwindling one. A very bad custom—but not so bad as it was.

The lunch counter and the soda fountain custom or habit is taking the space formerly used to supply the drug taking custom or habit, and that is more of a gain than a lose to health.

CATCHING SCARLET FEVER.

Mrs. P. H. writes: 1. I would like to know when scarlet fever is most contagious. One doctor says during peeling, and another says during the fever period at the beginning of the disease. Which is correct?

2. Could a person possibly get the disease from an old house that was never known to have ha scarlet fever? My nurse advanced the idea, since this is an old house.

3. I don't believe germs live that long. Do they?

REPLY.

1. At the beginning of the disease.
2. No.
3. No.

SHE LIKES EXHAUST HEATERS.

Mrs. E. R. writes: I read your column every day and usually agree with you, but this one time I can not, when you say the exhaust heaters in automobiles cause carbon monoxide.

I have two exhaust heaters in my car and I am one of the great number of autoists that is thankful for that convenience which makes automobile riding such a great pleasure in winter time.

There are two kinds of heaters on the market now. One is called the exhaust heater, and the other is a hot air heater, and it is the latter one that does the mischief. It is supposed to take in fresh air easily, but it brings in dirt, dust, and the exhaust gas from the string of cars ahead. The exhaust from these cars is taken in through the hot air heater and forced into your car, and one can readily see what the results are. I know from experience that exhaust heaters, when properly installed and tested, are far superior to any other kind of heater.

REPLY.

Let's hope you will not need to die to be convinced.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

IN the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. "Lightly turns" and heavily regrets the turning. And so about this time each year the letters begin pouring in from the girls who have "been married one month and realize what a mistake it was," and whom the boys who "don't know how it happened." So now seems an opportune moment to utter a word of warning to those who melt in the spring, and feel impelled toward the idiotic. And this warning is inspired particularly by a letter from Florrie, stricken with the dementia of spring:

"My father and mother act as if I were some sort of criminal for wanting to get married. I am just 18, but look younger and am treated like a child of 10—which I resent. I have known the boy for over three years—all through high school. He is 20 and has gone to work, so we can get married and now my parents act like this, after he has given up college just for me. Now Miss McDonald, I will marry him no matter what they say or do, and I will take the consequences. They ridicule him, because he only gets $16 a week in a drug store. But I do not care. I will work and support myself and we will take nothing from his people or mine. Anyway, they refuse to give us any help. But I love him, and only him, and that is settled. But do you think parents have a right to act in such a way to children? We have done no wrong—and are old enough to marry—why should they take all the happiness out of it by being so hateful? His folks are wild at me because he has left college—and mine are worse toward him for wanting to marry me. Don't we have any rights at all?"

And if Florrie marries on $16 a week she will know—and very promptly—just why four parents are aghast at the imbecility of two people about to make a wreck of their future. If love is real it is founded upon regard that survives. That being the case, it does not demand that a man forfeit his chance of education and cripple himself commercially for life. The trouble is that most of the couples who plunge into matrimony headlong do not love, and would not know love if they found it. They are the people "intoxicated" by their own reactions, and when they discover the truth they hate each other with a good old-fashioned hate that freezes the very blood of the ordinary beholder. One sees them in court, and their story is so old that it seems a pity they could not have foreseen its telling. And when a child complicates the situation, their predicament is truly one that should not be. Then the parents must come forward, forgive and take the daughter and her child home to live, while the young husband, thoroughly disgruntled and disillusioned, gladly goes back to the parental roof—but not back to college. That chance is over—sacrificed. To what? Love? Never. To sheer ignorance of love, and of life, and of the human makeup. What a pity that our schools, teaching so much useless junk, can not find time to teach the truth about the practical side of life—and marriage. But no. With every girl in every high school in the land thinking of some boy and how she can get him, those high schools refrain from one word of advice or instruction on the one subject uppermost in every student's mind! Truly we are morons educationally, and our educational program proves it. And so Florrie has left high school to marry her boy friend who has forsaken college, and they will try to establish a home on $16 a week and will fail and separate, and all because it is spring and they know nothing whatever about themselves—much less about each other. A pity? Worse than that—a crime!

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FRIENDSHIP.

Wealth has a lavish way;
Fame is of the crowd.
Sympathy must have a day
When the head is bowed.

Pride has many things to boast,
Skill and power and place,
Fancying these things uppermost,
Which is not the case.

Friendship asks no special hour,
Sorrowful or gay.
Into beauty it will flower
Every passing day.

Wealth and fame and pride depart;
All that ever lives
In the memory and the heart
Is what friendship gives.

Ancient Banknotes Treasured in London

London, May 8 (By A. P.)—Many London banks possess collections of old banknotes, practically valueless as exchange, but much sought after by collectors.

The finest examples are to be seen at the Institute of Bankers, in Bishopsgate, London.

In this collection are examples from the original bank of England £1 and £5 issues, a Bank of Scotland note dated 1731 for £12 Scots (£1 sterling), a note for 13 pence Irish (1 shilling sterling), which was issued in 1804 by a Cork grocer, Dennis O'Flyn, and a £5 note issued by the Corporation of Liverpool in 1794.

Other curiosities are notes for 5 shillings and 2 shillings and 6 pence issued by the Birmingham poorhouse, and others issued by a Wednesbury manufacturer redeemable in pounds of rod iron.

Claribel Writes of Three Smart Dresses

© VOGUE

DEAR EVA: The Junior league, enterprising young things that they are, gave a fashion show recently for the benefit of something or other and showed clothes that had been made by seamstresses from very simple patterns. They were surprisingly smart and very encouraging to women who can not afford expensive dressmakers.

The dress at the left was in black and white, which, of course, is one of the smartest combinations of the season, and they very cleverly chose an ash blonde to model it. It was a coat dress of black crepe de chine with a wide border of white, tied across a pleated slip of white crepe de chine. Although it wasn't especially practical, you had the comfortable feeling that if you made it yourself you could afford to be a little impractical.

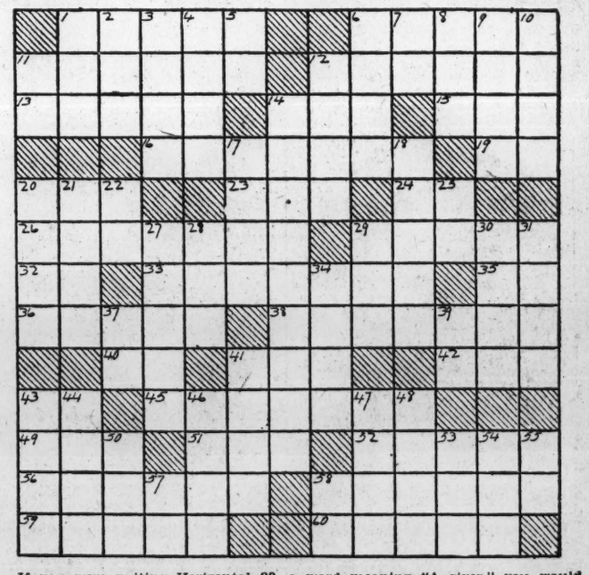

The dress in the middle, on the contrary, was an exceedingly practical dress and one that would be suitable for almost any daytime occasion excepting sports. It was made in blue crepe de chine—one of those soft blues with a lavender cast that are so very flattering. Its only trimming was the three rows of pleats on the skirt, and the bands of horizontal tucks at the hip-line. The uneven hemline, of course, was a very smart note. I should have liked very much to have had this dress myself.

The third was very gay and charming in its color scheme, bright red skirt and flower, creamy white blouse, all in crepe de chine again. This would be a charming dress to wear in the country or in one's own house in the afternoon.

I liked them all and thought them decidedly smart—in fact, I am seriously considering trying to make something myself, and you know, my dear, I hate to sew! Lovingly, CLARIBEL.

MODISH MITZI

Mitzi Believes in Being Forehanded

By Jay V. Jay

It isn't really necessary for Mitzi to do all her packing today. And it isn't necessary for her to do it when dressed in a dinner gown of crepe satin trimmed with fringe. Mitzi has her own idea on the subject, though, and it gives you a chance to see three of the frocks she is taking with her—a dinner dress with a deep oval neckline outlined with fringe, a daytime frock of crepe trimmed with bands and bows of ribbon and another daytime frock—two piece—with a diamond insert in the blouse. The insert is navy blue, matching the skirt. The blouse is lighter.

Mitzi carries this feverish determination too far, really. Here it's bedtime and she is still packing for Paris. Now she's packing underwear and is appropriately dressed in a chiffon step-in with side pleats and lace inserts at the waist. The maid is holding one of Mitzi's newest nightgowns of sheer silk with a silk flower on one shoulder (the shoulder she doesn't sleep on). A pair of step-in panties on the chair shows you how underwear is fitted about the waist this season—yokes make an undergarment so much smoother under fashionably fitted summer frocks.

ANOTHER
NINETY-EIGHT CENT 98c USED CAR SALE

Last week we had our first 98-cent Used Car Sale. The response was so great that we are inclined to believe that many were too late to take advantage of the wonderful bargains offered. It's needless to say that these cars went like hot cakes. A word to the wise is sufficient, so if you were not here last week, come now. This sale is all the last one was, and then some. The two cars offered at 98 cents are just a demonstration of what great bargains we are offering. Every car is proportionately priced just as ridiculously low.

Chrysler new car sales keep mounting and, of course, the trade-in cars keep stocking up. This unusual sales plan is adopted so that we need not slow up the sales of new Chryslers because of not being able to accept more trade-ins. We are in business to sell new Chryslers, the more trade-in cars we sell the more we can trade-in.

While this Great Sale starts at 10 A. M. Sunday morning the two 98-cent cars will not be put on sale until 8:30 Tuesday morning. This is done so that everyone might have a chance to see and buy these cars, which are in good condition ready to run. If you are from Missouri come in and see for yourself or ask some one who attended our last 98-cent sale. First come, first choice, so be on time.

SCAPA FLOW AND WHISKERY PREAKNESS CHOICES; BROWNS DEFEAT NATS, 8-3, WITH ZACHARY HURLING

Rookies Yield 7 Runs at St. Louis

Coveleskie Forced to Quit; Hadley and Crowder Fail.

Southpaw Master in Pinches; Reeves Clouts Triple.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

ST. LOUIS, May 8.—Old Tom Zachary today bit the hand which once fed him when he pitched the St. Louis Browns to an 8-to-3 victory over the crippled Nationals. In fact, the veteran left-hander was the whole show. In practically every inning the Harrismen had men on the bases, but Zachary always seemed to have something in reserve.

Stanley Coveleskie started on the mound for the Nats but for the third time this season, had to retire because some of his ageing muscles were not functioning properly.

When he left so did the Nats' chances of winning, for George Murray and Alvin Crowder, who tried to relieve him, were no puzzle to the Browns. Besides being hit hard and timely, both were wild. Irving Hadley was brought into the game in the sixth and he did well, but by that time the damage had been done.

The Nats broke the ice in the second, but the Browns knotted the count in their half and then stepped on the gas and in the very next inning took all of the competition from the game.

Catches by Williams, Gerber and Stewart featured the game, with Speaker, Cullop and Reeves each getting a pair of bingles. Adams led the Browns' attack in which all but Williams participated.

The Nats threatened in the opener when Rice doubled and Speaker singled, and then errors helped each team to a marker in the second. After Reeves had singled with one out and was picked off first, Ruel was given life and an extra base on O'Rourke's wild heave over first. Coveleskie then shocked the world by scoring the catcher with a clean one-base drive to center.

A bad throw by Ruel while trying to stop a double steal after H. Rice had singled, taken second on Schulte's walk, and gone to third on Gerber's sacrifice fly, gave

Tigers Halt Red Sox; Fothergill Checked

Detroit, May 8 (By A. P.).—Detroit took the second game of the series from the Red Sox here today when Marty McManus singled in the ninth with the bases filled. The score was 3 to 2.

Tony Welzer, the Boston pitcher, had filled the bases by purposely walking Fothergill and Manush after Warner had doubled. Fothergill went hitless for the first time this season. He had hit safely in eighteen successive games.

Ban Johnson Firm in Cobb Ruling

Suspension Indefinite, League Head Says; Awaits Protest.

Still Is President of Circuit, He Declares, in Newest Move.

ST. LOUIS, May 8 (By A. P.).—Ban Johnson, who signalized his resumption of active control of the American league by ordering suspended Ty Cobb and Al Simmons, Philadelphia outfielders, for alleged umpire-baiting in Philadelphia last Thursday, said today he was still unable to say when the suspensions would expire. Johnson left here at noon today for Chicago.

"I am awaiting word from Mr. Mack, of the Athletics," Johnson said, "for anything the club may have to say on the side of the offenders. Thus far I have been advised of no reply on the part of the club.

"The offense of Cobb in particular is a serious one, since it violates the rule which prohibits a player from touching the person or clothing of an umpire. My report (from Umpire Ormsby) states that Cobb shoved Ormsby around.

"Then, after realizing his offense, he began apologizing, but only after the actions of Simmons and himself had incited the crowd to the extent that the umpire had to be escorted from the field. Cobb knows the rules and apparently there is no extenuation. There was nothing to do but suspend him," Johnson asserted.

Asked if Cobb's suspension would prevent him from going on the field at Detroit's "home coming" Tuesday, Johnson said there is nothing to prevent Cobb from being on the field prior to the start of the game.

"The league's supervision begins when the umpires take charge and during the game. What happens before play is begun is a matter for the club to determine."

Johnson was informed that Cobb had said, "Anybody who said he had 'baited' the umpire, lied."

"Ormsby's report," Johnson said, "set forth that Cobb shouldered him and touched his person. Baiting umpires does not have to be done by word of mouth. Fans can not hear and do not judge of what is transpiring by words.

Goslin Leaves Hospital Today to Join Nationals

Pittsburgh, May 8 (By A. P.).—Rapidly recovering from an attack of pleurisy, Goose Goslin, Washington Americans' outfielder, expected to leave the Mercy hospital tomorrow for Chicago, where he will rejoin his club.

Announcing he was feeling much better, Goslin said today he hoped to be able to play by the latter part of this week at the latest.

Goslin was removed to the hospital Friday from the train which was carrying the Washington team to St. Louis. Jack Onslow, Washington coach, will accompany Goslin to Chicago.

TRIBE BEATS ATHLETICS ON ERROR

Collins' Fumble Paves Way for 2 Runs; Buckeye Winner.

CLEVELAND, May 8 (By A. P.).—Cleveland made it two straight from Philadelphia today, winning, 4 to 2, in a pitchers' battle between Ehmke and Buckeye. A fumble by Eddie Collins was the deciding factor. The veteran let a grounder roll between his feet in the fourth inning, giving Cleveland two runs.

Coach Gleason, of the Athletics, was put off the field by Umpire Nallin for disputing a decision at first base.

Gehrig's 7 Home Runs Lead Major Leagues

Chicago, May 8 (By A. P.).—The National league maintained its weekly average of around 30 home runs, in the past seven days, but the American league sluggers are growing weaker, according to totals compiled tonight.

The National leaguers registered 27 the past week, to 11 for the American league. Lou Gehrig, first baseman of the New York Yankees, holds the major league leadership with seven circuit drives.

There are but three American leaguers in the list of those who have scored more than two home runs.

Cobb and Hornsby Leading "Big Eight"

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—Ty Cobb has outdistanced Rogers Hornsby by a single percentage point in the batting averages of the "big eight," the class representing the highest salaried players in the major leagues this season.

The Georgia Peach, at present under suspension as a result of a dispute with Umpire Ormsby in Philadelphia, now heads the parade with a ranking of .408, while the rajah has dropped into second place with .407.

The standing, including games of today, follows:

| | G. | AB. | R. | H. | Ex.bh. | SB. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cobb, Athletics | 19 | 76 | 20 | 31 | 8 | 3 | .408 |
| Hornsby, Giants | 22 | 81 | 26 | 33 | 11 | 0 | .407 |
| Frisch, Cards | 20 | 81 | 15 | 29 | 13 | 5 | .358 |

WASHINGTON GREYS WIN.

The Washington Greys put over a four-run rally in the eighth inning to defeat the Collegian nine, 10 to 6. Frankineoff, who relieved Holen in the fifth, held the Collegian sluggers at bay during the final innings. The hitting of Pooley and Snyder featured the attack of the Greys.

It's a pleasure to wear THE Nettleton SHOE to that graceful, comfortable old age when its fine leather mellows like a Whippy saddle. It's sound economy, too.

Hagen's Team Vanquished Here

Armour - Cruickshank Win, 6 and 5, on Congressional Links.

Latter's Play Is Best; Sarazen No Help to Partner.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

TOMMY ARMOUR, the Congressional Country club professional, and Bobby Cruickshank, runner-up in the national open championship in 1923, yesterday defeated Walter Hagen, former national open and British open champion, and Gene Sarazen, former national champion, on the course of the Congressional club, 6 up and 5 to play, in a 36-hole match.

The star performer of the day was Cruickshank, who won the low medal score and an additional purse of $100 by negotiating the 36 holes in 145 strokes, 72 for the morning round and 73 in the afternoon. Sarazen finished with a total of 156, and both Hagen and Armour picked up, the latter on the twentieth hole and the former on the thirty-sixth when he was so far behind that he had no chance of winning.

Although the morning round was announced to begin at 9:30 o'clock, it was some time after 11 o'clock before the professionals appeared upon the first tee. Hagen was late, as usual. For an hour and a half he kept a crowd of over 2,000 golf enthusiasts waiting around the clubhouse before he finally condescended to appear, although he had been in the city since the previous evening and did not even offer an apology for his delay.

As a consequence the first round of eighteen holes was not finished until after 2 o'clock and as the second round was not started until after 3 o'clock, the remnant of the gallery was compelled to endure the discomfort of a heavy rain throughout the remainder of the afternoon.

Otherwise, the event was a complete success, for the officials of the club had organized an efficient gallery committee who handled the large crowd with intelligence and skill.

At the conclusion of the morning round, Armour and Cruickshank were 1 up, Cruickshank leading with the low card of 72. Hagen, who had played an indifferent 40 for the first nine,

Giants Beat Cubs, 5-4, Terry's Double Tells

New York, May 8 (By A. P.).—New York took the Chicago Cubs into camp today by 5 to 4, Terry's double with one out in the ninth sending Roush home with the deciding run. Earl Webb put Chicago in the lead in the first with his sixth homer of the year with English on base. A unique feature was that Chicago had no players left on base.

Before the contest Henry Grampp, a New York youth and now a Cub pitcher, was presented with a watch by the Yorkville boys, a local club headed by Senator Wagner.

52,000 See White Sox Blanked by Hoyt, 9-0

Chicago, May 8 (By A. P.).—New York handed Chicago its second consecutive shutout today when Waite Hoyt blanked the White Sox, 9 to 0. The Yankees hammered Blankenship off the hill in the third inning and continued to bunch hits off Connally and Cole, when their support wavered.

Pat Collins, Yankee catcher, smashed a home run in the seventh inning with Connally on the mound. The ball went into the left field grandstand. More than 52,000 fans, the largest crowd that ever witnessed a ball game in Chicago, gathered in the remodeled Comiskey park.

Scapa Flow the Best Seller At Mutuel Windows Today

Derby Dims the Preakness, Says Pegler, Deploring Idle State of Baltimore's Distilleries—$50,000 at Stake.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 8.—Most of the better 3-year-old horse-animals in the eastern part of the country and maybe a couple of the best from Kentucky will be lined up on the Pimlico track tomorrow afternoon for a race called the Preakness, which is supposed to be the Eastern counterpart of the Louisville derby in tradition and social glamor and that sort of thing. The racing association goes into the cash register for $50,000 to make the effort worth while to the owners, whose efforts are purely vicarious, like the valiant striving of a baseball magnate in a world series.

With the starting fees of $1,000 per horse and the nomination fees of $25 each for the 85 original nominees the money lumps up as $70,000—give or take a few thousand. Of this the winner's owner gets about $60,000.

For some reason the Preakness isn't much of an occasion, compared to the Kentucky derby, and the local enthusiasm usually is well in hand before, during and after the big race.

For one thing, they run it on Mondays, when the majority of the job-holding people can't get away to do any active shopping around at the parimutuels window, and, for another thing, Baltimore is a minor league way station between two major league towns—Washington and Philadelphia—with no capacity for rip-roaring enthusiasm.

Perhaps if those old Baltimore distilleries were still stilling Baltimore would appreciate this big horse race, but any way. Baltimore does not take the spark and you could get yourself held up in front of the biggest dairy lunch room in town at 10:30 p. m. on the night before the Preakness without a soul around to witness the dastardly deed.

If you put up a yip you might attract a couple of night police reporters, but hardly any one else. Most every one on the streets after 10 o'clock at night in Baltimore is a night police reporter.

Down in Louisville the merchants dress their windows in the stable colors, and some of them create ghastly effects with wax dummies in jockey clothes sitting in the store fronts astraddle on spirited harness dummies.

The streets seethe with grifters and grafters, sport writers from all over the land, gamblers, gate crashers and, so the theory goes, any way, an ocasional man or woman enduring the 48-hour melee merely for the love of the horses There is distinctly swell social class to the derby, too, and although there are indubitable dudes at the Preakness, there aren't enough of them to put on the same show.

Some of the original 85 nominees for the Preakness have been made into mucilage by now, and the field of probable starters is down to no more than twenty.

Scapa Flow, a son of Man o' War, owned by Walter M. Jeffords, probably will be the best seller at the ticket windows Monday afternoon because he ran away from his field in the Bowling Brook purse at Pimlico last week, reversing the form that he showed a short while earlier when he showed distinct traces of mule. The horse people allege that Scapa Flow is a great horse again.

The Whitney horses, Whiskery, Pandera and Bostonian, are suposed to be the ones that Scapa Flow will have to beat.

Walter J. Salmon, who owns a big tower on Forty-second street in New York, has had the custody of the Woodlawn vase, the trophy of the Preakness, for two years, as his horses won the race in 1926 and 1923. This time he is sending in a horse called Black Panther, but this one is rated among the rest of the field, which is to say that he might win, but on the face of things hasn't any right to.

Rhem Allows 2 Hits In Beating Robins, 5-1

Brooklyn, May 8 (By A. P.).—Flint Rhem and Chuck Hafey proved an all-powerful combination here today as the St. Louis Cardinals evened the series count by taking the second game by 5 to 1 before 30,000 fans.

Rhem allowed only two hits, both coming in the sixth when the Robins obtained their lone tally. Hafey hit two home runs and a single, the first circuit drive coming with one on in the second inning and the other in the eighth with none on base.

Crew Race Spotlight On Harvard and Yale

A great race was expected of the boys from New Haven who have raised the blue banner high aloft on the 12-foot oar in recent years, but few looked for such rowing as the Crimson flashed in trailing the Navy by a scanty length and rowing rings around the Sailors in the "Jayvee" race.

The same strong Navy eight that finished just three seconds ahead of the Crimson varsity beat Penn by five lengths and Massachusetts Tech by three in previous races, a fact which gave Cambridge men high hopes of a new era of winning Harvard crews.

It was another fine Yale crew of the leader school that added another to the "Miracle Man's" long winning streak by outstripping Columbia and Penn in the feature race at Derby.

Today's Race May See 15 At Post

Whitney Holds Strong Hand in Pimlico's $50,000 Classic.

Track May Be Fast Despite Rain; West Represented.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 8.—At the Pimlico course where George Washington and "Old Hickory" Jackson once went to the races, 15 thoroughbreds are tonight awaiting the running of a $50,000 turf classic. For it will be Preakness day in Maryland when the sun begins to peep in on Old Hill Top tomorrow.

No longer is this historic meeting place of gentlemen and their blue-blooded thoroughbreds known as Old Hill Top. They call it Pimlico now and the running of the Preakness in mid-afternoon tomorrow will be just one more famous race to be decided over the oldest race track in America.

The Preakness is the first of America's great 3-year-old classics to be decided this year. Its running comes five days ahead of the famous Kentucky derby. Twelve of its 15 overnight entries are eligible to the derby. Some six or eight or ten of them may travel on to the Blue Grass country tomorrow night to fight it out in the derby struggle.

The Preakness has usually been strictly a sectional turf affair. The East has sent its best into the race. The West has waited until the derby to dispute the issue. This is not the case this year. Of the fifteen possible starters four are from the West—three from Chicago, the other from Kentucky. Canada is represented by two entries, the East by nine.

But in this delegation of nine possible starters, the East holds a powerful hand, a hand which may sweep to victory in the Preakness, then go on and race to another and more glorious triumph in the derby of next Saturday afternoon. For it has Whiskery and Scapa Flow, Bostonian and Saxon and other lesser lights with which to turn back the invaders from the West and Canada.

Whiskery and Scapa Flow!

As the crowds came into town tonight for the lavish Monday afternoon turf entertainment these names were on every tongue. Whiskery, the Preakness and derby hope of Harry Payne Whitney; Scapa Flow, one of the greatest sons of Man o' War, which will race in the silks of Walter M. Jeffords, of Philadelphia.

Those Westerners on the sidelines, getting but little or no consideration, were Buddy Bauer, which will represent Col. Edward R. Bradley, of Kentucky; Candy Hog and Crystal Domino, which will race for H. Teller Archibald, of Chicago, and Justice F., owned by William Daniel, of Chicago, and the most talked about 3-year-old last winter.

The two Canadians are Sir Harry, winner of the Coffroth handicap, and his stable mate, Wandering Minstrel, neither of which has been given any more consideration than the bold quartet from the West.

Harry Payne Whitney has three strings in his Preakness bowl. Whiskery, spectacular winner of his only two starts this year, is, of course, his chief hope, and this son of Whiskbroom II—Prudery will likely be his chief hope in the derby.

For his running mates tomorrow Bostonian and Pandera have been named. The latter, a filly, has not been named for the derby. Bostonian, a big lumbering son of Broomstick—Yankee Maid, may get his chance in both the Preakness and derby.

Among the Westerners Buddy Bauer is the only one given any consideration. His fine race at Lexington last week gave this loyal crowd of Easterners a few nervous chills. Bradley has come into Maryland in other years and won races. He has a futurity to his credit. Other stakes have been won by his horses. The Easterners are a bit afraid that he is making a strong bid for a Preakness cup tomorrow.

Justice F. was beaten at Tia Juana by Sir Harry. This might not have been a truly run race but it was enough to convince the crowds here that he has but little chance in the Preakness. They don't give Sir Harry much of a chance.

Justice F. in the rating is bel[illegible] Sir Harry. This Daniel stable[illegible] a crafty outfit. Long Tom S[illegible] of New York, is said to hav[illegible] finger in the Daniel stable [illegible]

WEST REGAINS CONFIDENCE IN DERBY CANDIDATES

East's Stars Disappoint In Races

Candy Queen Likely to Be Only Filly in Turf Classic.

Special to The Washington Post.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 8.—Two weeks ago Kentucky and the West were just about forlorn hopes so far as the fifty-third Kentucky derby was concerned. There was such a galaxy of Eastern-owned colts with good 2-year-old records among the probable starters that the West seemed outclassed, barring one of those possible surprises for which the classic event is noted. Now, six days before the greatest 3-year-old stake of the year, all this feeling has changed.

Kentucky and the West have perked up, have hope and even confidence that the highly bred and highly tried invaders will be turned back in defeat as they have been many times in the past.

There is not less regard for Scapa Flow, Valorous, Whiskery and others so much as there is increased confidence that Hydromel, Rolled Stocking, Buddy Bauer, Bewithus and Mr. Kirkwood have improved greatly over their juvenile form and are capable of giving an argument to anybody's horse.

This confidence was generated by good races by a majority of those named and accentuated when Osmand, future book favorite, proved a "flop" against Rolled Stocking Saturday. It may gain added momentum after Hydromel and Mr. Kirkwood show their wares at a mile in the sixth race tomorrow.

Despite Osmand's six-length defeat by Rolled Stocking, the Widener stable connections are not willing to concede he is merely a sprinter. It was Osmand's first start and the first serious work he has done since he picked up a nail more than a week ago. Probably he was a trifle short. Jockey Earl Sande did not punish Osmand unnecessarily when he saw the gelding was beaten, but kept him going to work out a mile and an eighth in 1:56 3-5.

Excuse was also advanced for Candy Queen, the little filly, which may be the only one of her sex to go Saturday. Trainer George Walker says the Queen was knocked almost to her knees in crowding at the start of the derby trial at one mile, and after that did not run her race, although she made up some ground, only to lose it at the end.

Followers of Hydromel and Buddy Bauer were notably heartened by Rolled Stocking's triumph, because they figure their choices on a parity with the Pennant colt on Lexington performance.

While 21 are listed in the foregoing table to probable starters, it is likely several will go into the discard before Saturday, while others may be added as a result of the Preakness tomorrow.

In advance of the running of the Pimlico feature the feeling here is that Harry Payne Whitney holds the strongest hand in the East with Whiskery, Valorous and Bostonian, with the Man o' War colt Scapa Flow next in favor.

All indications are that the largest crowd in Churchill Downs history, with the blue book and financial "Who's Who" represented as never before, will be present when the post bugle is sounded for the $50,000 stake.

Rialtos Lead Firemen, 4-0; Rain Halts Game

Rain prevented the Rialto club from finishing its game with the Jefferson District Fire Department on the Addison field. Rialto was leading 4 to 0 in the fourth inning. After Rosenblatt cleaned the sacks with a two-bagger in the first inning, it was a pitchers' duel between Sauber and Lefty Jones.

The Rialto club have an open date next Sunday and are anxious to book a strong club in preparation for their entrance in the Capital City league. Would like to hear from the St. Josephs, Chevy Chase, Mount Rainier or any fast unlimited club. Call Nate Sauber, Main 7795.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

By BERT E. COLLYER

H. P. WHITNEY ENTRY.

The $50,000 Preakness stakes is the piece de resistance down at Pimlico today. Harry Payne Whitney is starting three—WHISKERY, BOSTONIAN and the grand filly PANDERA. All three are thoroughly fit for the big fray, and I look for WHISKERY to take down the big end of the purse, with one of the others grabbing another portion of the prize. SCAPA FLOW or SAXON will be the ones to beat.

Look out for PENSTICK in the fifth spasm. This Ross trick had to give away too much weight to BLACK PANTHER the other day. Has LOUNGER to beat here.

HARRY CARROLL to come right back in the second.

KATHLEEN CROSBY is the hot one in the third.

ALLETACHE, on her last race, should mizzle home in the seventh.

Down at Louisville, where the Kentucky ham is being worked overtime, the lads with the second split watches slip me PORTIA in the Mockingbird Valley race, as "in." I hope it won't be a sour note.

HYDROMEL, which turned in a nice victory at Lexington, appears to be in a soft spot in the sixth.

The Louisville gang is ready to swim if MIDNIGHT ROSE fails to connect in the seventh.

At Aurora, the boys whisper MISS ROSEDALE, in the fifth. Commissions were planted here overnight.

For the boys at Akron, I have TIPPITY WITCHET in the seventh spasm. FENDER SETH, in the fourth, also looks like money from home.

More anon.

N. Y. QUINTET SEEKING PRO FRANCHISE

League Heads to Meet Tomorrow; New Schedule Likely.

FINAL plans for the 1927 schedule and a hearing on an application for franchise from New York promoters will be the main business to be taken up by American Basketball League club owners tomorrow in a meeting in Chicago.

Owner George P. Marshall, of the Washington club, will be unable to attend owing to important business matters which will keep him in Eastern cities throughout the week. Mr. Marshall has sent his proxy to Joe Carr, president of the league.

Mr. Marshall seeks to have Washington assigned its home games in three or four-game series, much on the order of the plan followed by professional baseball teams. With interest having shown an increase locally in the 1926-27 season and with a new Arcadia hall which will seat 11,000 persons, the Washington magnate thinks that court fans hereabouts are ready for more of the big indoor professional sport.

The new Arcadia, it is planned, will be opened by October 15, so that the Washington players may stage their training stunts on the same floor on which league games are to be played, instead of having to practice at another court as in the last four years.

Col. Hammond, representing the Madison Square Garden Corporation, will attend the meeting in Chicago to obtain a franchise for New York city. Last season the Celtics, who won the pennant, represented both New York and Brooklyn, but held their contests in the latter city. If the franchise is given Col. Hammond, it is likely that the Celtics will move their headquarters over into Manhattan, while the Brook-Visitations will acquire the Celtics' old franchise and represent the Flatbush borough.

Among the Visitations are Roddy Cooney, Red Conaty and Bob Grody, who performed for Washington two years ago. They proved to be valuable men in the Visitations' drive for the Metropolitan league flag last season.

Other matters to be disposed of at the meeting include the deposit by each club of $2,500 for a guarantee fund which will cover any financial need in an emergency the league might meet and the deposit of another sum to cover the league operating expenses for the season.

Crandall Nine Wins Fourth Straight Game

The Crandall Midgets won their fourth straight game yesterday by defeating the Arrows, 11 to 4, in a free hitting game. Albert Miller pitched a good game in his first start of the season. For games with the winners call Potomac 5016.

BAN JOHNSON FIRM IN SUSPENDING COBB

The actions and attitude of the player toward the officials are what convey the player's intent to the spectator."

Johnson stated that he was still in office as president and that he had been relieved of duty to enable him to regain his health, which he has done, he said. "I have been fulfilling the duties of the office for several days and am going back to Chicago to continue to do so, while my health permits."

Johnson, temporarily deposed because of ill-health, was replaced by Frank Navin, vice president of the league. Johnson insists that he has recently carried on the duties of president. His contract at $40,000 a year expires in 1935.

Johnson conferred this morning with President Phil Ball, of the St. Louis Browns, but the nature of the conference was not revealed.

He apparently was in good health. Umpire Ormsby, whose row with Cobb and Al Simmons resulted in the suspension, declined tonight to comment on the case.

"I have sent a complete report to Mr. Johnson and the matter now rests with him," Ormsby said.

Smithfields Defeat Stanley Jrs., 5-3

The Smithfield Juniors defeated the Stanley Juniors, 5 to 3, yesterday in an abbreviated game halted by rain. The winners staged a rally in the fifth inning and pushed over three tallies. Winston, on the mound for the winners, pitched a steady game, holding the Stanleys to six scattered hits. P. De Angelo was the batting star with three hits.

FANS FAVOR M'TIGUE TONIGHT

Veteran 7 to 5 Choice Over McCarthy in Bout at N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 8 (By A. P.).—Mike McTigue, the perennial pugilist, meets Pat McCarthy, of Boston, another battling Irishman, in a fight tomorrow night at Madison Square garden, which he firmly believes will carry him to within striking distance of Jack Delaney's light-heavyweight title.

"If I ever wanted to win a fight, it is this one," confided Pat. "I'll earn the Jack Delaney bout himself."

Although McTigue at 39 is 10 years older than his rugged opponent, the odds were 7 to 5 on the former champion as the hour of the fight drew near. Both men were pronounced in good physical shape, and the advance gate promised a good attendance.

On this battle of the Celts tonight hangs McTigue's chance of a bout with Delaney June 22 in the Yankee stadium. Six other big men are on the supporting card.

Matched in the prelims are Johnny Risko and Pat Lester; Jack Demave and Earl Blue; Arthur de Kuh and Jose Dominquez, latest Spanish importation. All four fights are set for ten rounds.

Another big boxing carnival is set for Friday night. The feature ten-rounder will match Sid Terris, lightweight idol of New York's East Side, with Stanislaus Loayza, of Chile, while Ruby Goldstein swaps punches with Jimmy Goodrich, former lightweight king, in a six-round scramble. Two other fights at ten rounds pit Jack Bernstein against Bruce Flowers and Petey Mack against Pierre Decaluew.

Brookland Boys Club Beats St. Mary's, 17-2

The Brookland Boys club nine slugged its way to a 17-2 victory over the St. Mary's team yesterday in a weird game. Flanagan, with a pair of triples and a double, led the rampage for the winners. Dove pitched effectively for the Brooklanders in the pinches, retiring fourteen via the strikeout route.

15 MAY RACE IN PIMLICO CLASSIC

Whisky Vieing With Scapa Flow for Favoritism.

And Long Tom has put over many a fancy betting coup in his years on the turf.

Two others, both arrivals from New York, are given a long shot chance to turn back Whiskery and Scapa Flow. They are Mrs. Payne Whitney's Saxon and Walter J. Salmon's Black Panther. In their only meeting this year Saxon beat Black Panther a nose in a stubborn ding-dong finish at Jamaica.

Either may be better than his record indicates. But they were both easy for Scapa Flow as 2-year-olds last season. They haven't shown the speed or the stamina of Whiskery this year. Other possibilities are Fair Star, a filly owned by William duPont, of Delaware, and Jopagan, owned by A. G. Weston, of New York. Neither has shown Preakness or derby class.

Noted absentees are Rip Rap, a derby future book favorite, which was reported to have been shipped to Kentucky tonight for his derby engagement, and the Rancocas stable's Sweepster. Sam Hildreth, the aged trainer of Sweepster, made no comment about dodging the Preakness nor has he announced whether his horse will go West for the derby.

While a drizzle of rain was falling here tonight, the Pimlico track remained fast. It will take a downpour between now and post time to slow up the going. Most of the field of fifteen have turned in good races in the mud, and even a heavy track is not expected to reduce the field to less than a dozen starters. If there are scratches, the horses likely to be withdrawn are Pandera, Crystal Domino and Wandering Minstrel.

MT. RAINIER'S NINE STOPS ADDISON

Gerhardt Gives Three Hits as Maryland Wins, 7-2.

MOUNT RAINIER upset the dope yesterday by defeating the Addison A. C., 7 to 2, giving Mount Rainier its first victory of the season. The Addisons had previously defeated the Union Printers and were favorites to win.

Gerhardt, pitching for the winners, allowed but three hits, although the game went only six innings. He had held Addison scoreless the first five innings.

Mount Rainier started off with a vengeance in the first inning, shoving across two runs, adding two more in the third and winding up the scoring with three in the fifth. Rain halted the game after six innings.

Eleven hits were garnered off Cullinane and Robinson, the Addison pitchers, Mosedale and Gerhardt hitting two-baggers and Green a triple. Mosedale had a perfect day at bat with two hits in two trips to the plate. Becket, also of the winners, hit twice in three attempts, and Beall connected two out of four times.

CAPITAL CITY LEAGUE CLASSES TO FORM THIS WEEK

Teams Meet At Jewish Center

Directors Will Elect President at Meeting Tonight.

FOUNDATIONS for the six championship sandlot baseball series will be played this week by the Capital City league, which has obtained the permission of the Jewish Community center to hold its meeting in the center's building at Sixteenth and Q streets northwest.

The program for the Capital City league's "organization week" will be as follows:

Tomorrow—Peewees and Insects, at 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday—Midgets and Juniors, at 7:30 p. m.

Thursday—Seniors, at 8 p. m.

Friday—Unlimiteds, at 8 p. m.

While the entry lists for the six divisions will not close at these meetings, it is important that every team have its manager or representative present. The league secretary will be in charge of the meetings and will be ready to explain the rules and regulations governing the championship play as well as to answer any questions relative to the series.

The board of directors of the league will be in meeting tonight to elect a president to succeed Capt. John R. D. Cleland, the first leader of the league, whose army duties forced his resignation.

While several highly acceptable men have been unofficially nominated, the election has been postponed until it has been determined who would accept the post.

With a few minor differences the rules and regulations of the league will be the same as proved satisfactory last year. The only changes made were those which were the result of experience gained by the league officials in last year's campaign.

The age limits for the six classes follow: Peewees, under 12 years; Insects, under 14 years; Midgets, under 16 years; Juniors, under 18 years; Seniors, under 21 years; Unlimiteds, any age.

In each of the classes a player must be under the age limit for the division in which he intends to compete on June 1 of this year.

League officials have already voted to use the District association umpires. This will necessitate the charging of a franchise fee, which, as was the case last season, will be paid before the opening of the league and will be the only cost to the competing teams.

All Petworth Games Are Stopped by Rain

All games in the Petworth Senior league yesterday were rained out. The Tremonts, winner of the championship last season, met the strong Sport Mart nine and led during the first two innings by a 2-to-1 score. This game was called at the beginning of the third inning. Baker, pitching for the Tremonts, struck out five of the six men to face him. Avery was the pitching choice of the Sport Marts.

The Takoma Tigers and T. T. Keane game went four innings, neither team being able to score. Phipps, for the Tremonts, and Freschi, for the Keanes, were the opposing pitchers. Holy Rosary and Yorks also were rained out, before a run could be sent across the plate.

It is possible that yesterday's schedule will be played next Sunday. A meeting of the league will be held at 610 Rock Creek Church road northwest Wednesday.

BROWNS BEAT NATS, 8-3; ZACHARY HURLS

the Browns their marker. Coveleskie's arm, or leg, or back, or something, started hurting him in this frame and Murray faced the home team in the next.

The Browns greeted him effusively, a pass, a hit batsman and Sislers' single being turned into a run, while Reeves' error on Williams' sacrifice filled the sacks with none down. H. Rice's out scored one and Schulte's one-baser scored another before the rally was put down.

With one down in the fourth Reeves tripled to right center but was left when Ruel lined to Sisler and McNeely, up for Murray, fanned. This batting change brought Crowder to the hill for the Nats in the home half. Almost immediately the enemy knicked him for a run when, after Zachary had singled and been forced at second by O'Rourke, the latter stole and counted on Adams' one-base liner.

After the Nats had received no benefit from a pass and Cullop's single, the Browns used their portion of the fifth to bring their total to eight, scoring three markers from two walks, two sacrifices, Reeves' error and singles by Dixon and Adams.

Hadley took up the Washington mound burden in the sixth and pitched two hitless frames. Then the Nats scored two runs. Cullop opened the eighth with a single and Judge doubled him home, taking third himself on Adams' error on the return peg and registering under Rigney's sacrifice fly. This ended the scoring for the day.

Eastport A. A. Nine Stops Shamrocks, 4-2

Annapolis, Md., May 8.—The Eastport A. A. nine scored a 4-2 victory over the Shamrock A. C. team, of Washington, yesterday in an abbreviated game, which was halted by rain in the seventh inning. The Shamrocks were blanked until the last frame.

BEHRLE RETURNS.

Eddie Behrle, who ranked among the best third basemen of District teams a few years back, has answered the lure of the diamond, and is performing at the far corner of the infield for the Pullman nine.

MOOSE NINES WIN IN TWO GAMES

Seniors Beat Soldiers, 4-1; Juniors Stop Waverly, 5-4.

THE Moose teams enjoyed a gala day yesterday, scoring a pair of impressive victories over formidable opponents.

The Moose Seniors, launching a savage attack in the first inning that resulted in three runs, handily defeated the Washington Barracks unlimited nine, 4 to 1, in a well-played game. Rain halted hostilities in the fifth inning.

O'Conner, who pitched brilliantly for the Moose, holding the soldiers to a brace of hits, also took a prominent part in the team's attack. He collected two hits in three times at bat to lead the batting of both teams.

The Moose Juniors also got away to a substantial lead in the early innings and won from the Waverly Juniors by a 5-4 score. Waverly threatened in the latter rounds but fell one run short of tying the count. Lanham, on the mound for the winners, was effective throughout. Daniels, Malley and Dyer, of the Moose team, each accounted for a trio of hits.

Potomac Wins Game In Bankers League

The Potomac Savings Bank won its opening game in the Bankers Baseball league, defeating the Metropolitan team in a slugfest, 14 to 7. Despite the large score few extra base hits were made, the feature being a triple by Sisson, Metropolitan first baseman.

Durham, pitching for Potomac, allowed Metropolitan only seven hits, but loose fielding marred his performance. Potomac hit Perkins' offerings freely.

TREMONTS TO MEET.

The Tremont Senior baseball team will hold a meeting tonight at the home of Pete Ciango, 4527 Iowa avenue, at 7:45 o'clock. It is urgent that all members be present.

SCHOOL GAME DOUBTFUL TODAY

Business-Tech Contest May Be Postponed; to Gain Players.

THE Tech-Business High school baseball game, postponed from last Friday and arranged to be played today at the Eastern High stadium, may be postponed for the second time, although the diamond may be in playing condition. Coach Collins of Business will make efforts today to arrange the game later in the week as several of his players will participate in the cadet drill at Central stadium today.

Coach Collins not only will be without the services of several of his players should the game be played today, but there is a possibility that two of his regulars may become ineligible when the advisory marks take effect today. Keefer, third baseman, and Revelle Jones, a pitcher and outfielder, are known to be of doubtful status.

While Business may be weakened by ineligibility, Tech stands a good chance of picking up added strength. Coach Glenn expects three men of the basketball team to be eligible after the marks are announced today.

The men are Rooney, a catcher and Gillotta and Heiss, both outfielders. Benner, an infielder, and Sweeney, first baseman, are also expected to be eligible. Rooney, Galotta and Heiss, however, stand the best chance of displacing any of the present regulars. Tech expects to lose Price, a pitcher, Augustopher, a catcher, and Finn, but all three are second string men and their loss will not be keenly felt.

Coach Glenn is contemplating shifting his line-up if his players do not come out of their hitting slump. The team is strong on defense, but the hitting in the last few games has been noticeably weak.

Either Emsor or Young will do the pitching if the game is played today with Business. Edward Marosey, injured about two weeks ago, has recovered and Coach Collins contemplates using him against Tech today, or whenever the game is played.

The Tech-Business game was called off last Friday due supposedly to wet grounds at Central stadium, but it was declared the field was in fair playing condition and that the Central team practiced on it at 3:15 o'clock. An effort will be made to have Business and Tech play the game at Central instead of taking the contest over to Eastern.

Elliott A. C. Beaten By Naval Receivers

The Naval Receiving Station team defeated the Elliott A. C. nine yesterday, 8 to 5. Cox displayed some neat base-running in the first inning when he singled and stole second, third and home. Warburton pitched steady ball for the Sailors throughout.

GOVERNMENT NINES FACE 5 GAMES

Interstate Gets Away to Early Lead by Beating Printers.

THE Government baseball league got away to an auspicious start in its first week's games. All the teams in the league in their initial appearances presented formidable nines that are certain to be in the pennant race.

Interstate jumped into the lead by virtue of its victory over the Union Printers, but the latter obtained revenge at the hands of the Government Printing Office team in a 3-to-1 battle. Roudabush twirled impressively for the winners.

The Printing Office nine broke into the winning column with a victory over the General Accounting Office team, last year's champions, in a 4-to-2 game. Corkins hurled effectively, while Hollis and Simons were prominent in the team's attack.

Interstate annexed its second win of the week by surprisingly overwhelming the Union Printers. The winners bagged the game in the initial inning when they scored nine runs. Richardson, Gold and Murray proved themselves swatsmen of no mean ability in this slugfest.

Rain prevented the Commissioners from making their appearance in the league, but they are expected to cause plenty of trouble. With Lefty Flynn and Cullinane on the pitching staff, Johnny Goets and Dick Williams, Earl Steele, Rhinehart and other capable players, the Commissioners shape up as a strong contender.

The schedule of games for the week is: Monday, G. P. O. vs. Interstate; Tuesday, G. A. O. vs. Union Printers; Wednesday, Commissioners vs. G. P. O.; Thursday, Interstate vs. G. A. O.; Friday, Union Printers vs. Commissioners.

Watson Presses Urban For Masonic Pin Prize

With but two weeks of the race left, Arthur Urban is being pressed for average leadership of the Masonic circuit by Watson, only four pins separating the two bowlers at this time. Urban's mark is 113-51.

City Postoffice Nine Beats Bearcats, 3-2

The City Postoffice nine defeated the Arlington Bearcats, 3 to 2, yesterday on the Arlington field. The game developed into a pitchers' battle between Fredericks and Snooks, with the former having a slight margin throughout.

The Mailmen jumped away to a 2-run lead in the opening round and added another marker in the third. Fredericks held the Bearcats scoreless until the seventh, when the home team pushed over its first tally. The Bearcats threatened to claw their way into the lead in the following frame, but Fredericks brought a sudden stop to the rally by fanning Arlington batters for the second and final outs.

Capitol A. C. Victor; 14 Fanned by Bladen

Bladen, with fourteen strikeouts, was the outstanding star in the Capitol A. C. nine's victory over St. Martin's yesterday in a seven-inning game, 6 to 3. He allowed only four hits, while his teammates got to Stafford for fourteen sound wallops. Stafford's effectiveness at times saved his teammates from suffering a worse fate. He struck out eleven men.

Baseball and Tennis On Day's School Card

Four baseball games and one tennis match are listed for today. The baseball games, with the exception of the Tech-Business High school contest, which may or may not be played off today, bring together Eastern and the Catholic university freshmen; St. John's and Woodward and Georgetown freshmen and Georgetown Prep. at Garrett Park. Woodward and Friends play in the tennis match on Friends' courts.

PANELLA SHOWS FORM.

Thurston to Face Browns In Last of Series Today

Harris and Bluege to Return to Line-up in Chicago Tomorrow; Hadley Is Slightly Injured in Batting Practice.

Special to The Washington Post.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 8.—The first stop of the Nationals' Western trip ends with a game here tomorrow. Manager Harris then takes his men to Chicago, where Goose Goslin will join the team. The Brownies are expected to send Milton Gaston to the mound for this series-ender while Harris states he has Hollis Thurston ready.

Any one successfully guessing a day ahead just who will pitch, or who will be in the line up, qualifies as a clairvoyant. Not only has the Nat leader a most active mind but conditions change every minute.

Friday night, for instance, Garland Braxton was announced as Saturday's pitcher. At game time, Harris switched to Fred Marberry because the day was dark and he thought conditions were ideal for Marberry's speed. Braxton, it was said, would be held over until today but he suddenly appeared on the hill as Marberry's relief.

Thurston last night was announced as today's mound starter but Stanley Coveleskie got the call because the weather was warm and considered made to order for him. Tonight the former White Sox flinger is slated to perform tomorrow, but fans are advised to make no wagers on it.

Just when Harris and Bluege will get back into the line-up is uncertain. Both were expected to play yesterday, the latter getting into the game for a few innings because of necessity, but he is far from ready. Bucky now states that he will be in the game against the White Sox Tuesday and that Bluege also is likely to play. But don't bet on this either.

Nick Cullop announced before today's game that, for the first time since he was "beaned" by Dutch Ruether Wednesday, his head felt ok, and just to prove it he crashed one into the stands in deep left in batting practice with Walter Johnson on the hill. Tucker also was in a hitting mood, for he followed Nick to the tee and poled out two practice home runs in succession.

The name of Pitcher Bump Hadley temporarily went on the Washington club hospital list today when the rookie flinger tried to stop a drive from Cullop's bat with his foot in practice before the game. Hadley now is sporting a bad swelling on the top of his right foot, which Trainer Martin diagnoses as a "flesh tumor." The hurt was not severe enough to keep him out of the game, however.

Spencer Adams, former Washington utility second sacker, whom the Browns obtained from the Yankees, is making quite a hit with St. Louis fans. Not only is he fielding well but his hitting, although not hard, has been timely. He is subbing for Oscar Melillo but has a fine chance of winning himself the regular berth.

Although weather was ideal for baseball here this afternoon only about 8,000 fans turned out. Maybe the crowd will be larger tomorrow as it will be "Ladies day."

Altrock and Schacht are seriously considering a movie offer which will net them $2,500 per week apiece after the season ends. Before signing and taking the long trip to the coast, the comedians want to make sure whether they get $2,500 or cigar store coupons. They made a big hit here before the game with their burlesque Richards-Lenglen tennis match and other stunts.

Golf AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Is it good practice to stab putts when greens are slow and rough?

By AL ESPINOSA,
Chicago District Champion, 1925.

In my estimation, it is never a good thing to stab a putt at any time.

The follow through on the putt gives you the true direction and overspin desired to get results, while with the stabbed putt the tendency is almost always to hook or slice.

Waverly Juniors Split In 2 Games, 4-5, 6-2

The Waverly Juniors broken even in their double-header yesterday, losing the first game to the Moose Juniors, 5 to 4, and winning the second game, from the Senators, 6 to 2. In the first game, although he was the losing pitcher, "Lefty" Fulmer struck out seven Moose and out of four trips to the plate succeeded in crashing out two triples. Lanham pitched a steady game for the Moose, while Nally hit safely three out of five times.

The Waverlys easily defeated the Senators in a seven-inning battle. Donaldson pitched effectively with men on the bases, fanning nine. Maddox's home run in the fourth was the batting feature of the day. Adams and Ryan did the bulk of the work for the Senators at bat.

Coca Cola Juniors Win Fourth Victory

The Coca Cola Juniors won its fourth consecutive victory of the season yesterday by defeating the Peerless Juniors, 7 to 3.

McCracken, pitching for the winners, allowed only four hits. Manager Hart, who last season brought the same team through to victory in the midget ranks, is out for all honors in the Capital City league with his junior aggregation.

Bowling Stars Open Sweepstakes Tonight

Glenn Wolstenholme, Clem Weidman and Walter E. Megaw will be the favorites to win the Class A trophy of the classified sweepstakes of the Washington City Duckpin association, which opens at Convention hall tonight. It will be recalled that these three bowlers finished in the order named in the Howard Campbell sweepstakes held here during midwinter. It was during this event that Wolstenholme averaged better than 120 for fifteen games.

Much interest, however, will be centered about the bowling of Al Work, who was voted second place in the rating of local bowlers. Mandley, who was voted first place, is not entered in this event.

Besides the Class A entrants many of the local pin artists that fall to average with the topnotchers have been entered in classes B and C. The event calls for the rolling of five games tonight, five at King Pin Wednesday, with the final five at the Coliseum Friday. Total pinfall determining the winner of each class.

Class A—Al Work, Glenn Wolstenholme, F. A. Geisler, R. W. Reichard, W. E. Megaw, A. Logan, C. Weidman, M. Sweeney, T. McKay, O. Pacini, T. A. Nolan, W. W. Kessler.

U. S. Youth Hampered by Rattled Referee and Injury.

BERLIN, May 8 (By A. P.).—William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter finished up their championship play with the German tennis champions today, Tilden winning from Dr. Heinz Landmann, 3—6, 6—1, 6—0, 6—3, while Froitzheim defeated Hunter, 6—1, 8—10, 6—2, 6—3.

The play today was more or less formal, the Americans having won the championship in the previous two days' play when they won three matches, two singles and a double.

Hunter was troubled by a slight strain of the right ankle, and his match was further marred by the interference of a section of the crowd with the linesman's business, to Hunter's disadvantage.

In two cases the linesmen, not seeing anything wrong, let the play continue, but when the crowd yelled, "Out, out," the linesmen called the balls out after an exchange of several shots. The referee repeatedly shouted for quiet.

Tilden bewildered Landmann with dazzling play before a crowd of 4,500. At times he turned loose all the tricks he possessed for the edification of the spectators. Tilden scored 23 points and Landmann 27.

In the second set Tilden lost only the fourth game, scoring 33 points to 20 for Landmann. In the third set Landmann scored only 5 points to Tilden's 24, two being love games. In the fourth set Tilden lost only the first, second and eighth games, scoring 36 points for Landmann's 27.

HAGEN AND SARAZEN LOSE IN MATCH HERE

found his stride on the homeward journey for a fine 33, two strokes under par. Armour was playing his wood and iron shots in masterly fashion, but had fallen down on his putting, having no less than three 3-putt greens in the first nine.

Cruickshank, on the other hand, while also driving a long straight ball, was a wizard with his putter and had three 1-putt greens to his credit, with never three putts on any green.

The afternoon round was a Waterloo for Hagen and Sarazen, for Armour recovered his putting touch and Cruickshank never faltered. On the second hole Cruickshank holed out a 30-foot putt for a par and a win, while on the fourth green Armour sank a putt that was 20 long paces from the cup for a birdie 3.

On the sixth hole, 380 yards, Cruickshank scored another birdie 3 after an approach which laid his ball within 3 feet of the pin, and on the seventh, 447 yards, Cruickshank was on the green with his second shot and holed out in two putts for another win.

On the ninth, 171 yards, Armour came to the rescue with a birdie 2 by holing a putt of 6 feet, so that he and his partner were 6 up at the turn.

With this substantial lead for Armour and Cruickshank, the conclusion of the match was only a matter of four additional holes. Sarazen won the eleventh, 200 yards, with a par 3, making a remarkable recovery shot from the rough, some distance beyond the green and laying his ball dead to the pin. Then both Armour and Cruickshank won the short thirteenth, 163 yards, in par 3s, ending the contest.

With the exception of a long putt on the eighteenth green, which gave him a par 3, Hagen did not exhibit exceptional skill, while Sarazen's game was totally lacking in the brilliancy which has made him victorious in many matches. It was the stocky, diminutive Bobby Cruickshank who gave the gallery the worth of its money for he played the entire 36 holes in one stroke under par. Hardly an error marked his game, either in the morning or afternoon, and his ball on the putting green ran toward the cup with the certainty of the needle of a compass swinging toward the pole. In the kickers' handicap at the Manor club yesterday the magic number drawn by Al Treder, the club professional was 78, but no competitor in the tournament was fortunate enough to have a net score corresponding with this figure. Earl McAleer missed a putt on the home green which would have won the prize.

When all the cards had been examined it was found that Earl McAleer, 77—0—77, and Russell T. Edwards, 97—20—77, and G. N. Confort, 99—20—79, and W. B. Gibb, 103—24—79, were tied for the nearest figure to the number drawn and the prize was therefore divided between these four players.

The low gross prize in the sweepstakes event at the Indian Spring club yesterday was won by Basil M. Manly with a card of 90, while the low net prize was won by Perry B. Hoover, whose gross score of 92, less 14 handicap, gave him a net 78.

The rain yesterday afternoon interfered with two events scheduled for local clubs. The qualification round for positions on the club team at the Argyle club was postponed until next Saturday and Sunday, while the twelve man team match at the Bannockburn club was also postponed until next Sunday, although the few scores made by players yesterday were allowed to be counted as part of the competition.

The monthly event of the Womens' Golf association of the District today will be a team match on the Bannockburn course, three teams to compete under captains to be chosen at the first tee. Competition will be in threesomes and at the conclusion of the tournament the players will meet at a luncheon in the clubhouse. In case of adverse weather the matches will be postponed.

EAGLES SEEK FIRST BASEMAN.

The Anacostia Eagles are looking for a first baseman to round out their infield. The services of Raymond, who is playing with the Carlisles, are particularly sought. He is asked to attend a meeting Wednesday night at 1712 Thirteenth street southeast.

CARLISLES TAKE THIS.

The Carlisles won a slugfest from the Camp Meigs Juniors by the score of 13 to 10. Games with the winners may be arranged by calling Manager Thomas Neff at Atlantic 1584.

PRINTERS WIN AT SEVERN, 6 TO 3

Errors Aid to Typos; Hutchinson Fans 3 to End Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 8.—Six errors by the Severn Baseball club aided the Union Printers of Washington in scoring five runs in their annual game here this afternoon. The visitors topped the locals 6 to 3.

The Printers scored in the second inning on two hits and a wild throw by Jarosik. In the third, Phipps led off with a triple for the Severns but was caught off third. In the fourth the home club evened the count. Keller singled and Manager Clark missed a home run by inches, the blow bounding off the top of the fence for a double.

Three miscues gave the Printers two tallies in the fifth. While three singles and a pair of wild heaves accounted for the final three runs in the seventh. The first of three runs in the seventh was the visitors' only earned counter.

In the eighth singles by Phipps and Hoyle followed by Keller's two base hit gave the home club its final scores. A double play cut short the rally in this session after Douglas walked and Jarosik got hit. Hutchinson fanned three pinch hitters in the ninth.

WRC WILL BROADCAST "LA GIOCONDA" TONIGHT

Ponchielli Opera Will Be Put on the Air by National Company Singers.

ROXY GANG ON PROGRAM

Ponchielli's "La Gioconda," the only one of his operas that found its way abroad, will be broadcast in tabloid form by the National Light Opera company through WRC of the Radio Corporation of America tonight from 9 to 10 o'clock. The featured artists will be Florence Mulholland, soprano; Devora Nadworney, contralto; Guiseppe di Benedetto, tenor; Giovanni Giovannelli, baritone, and Nino Ruisi, bass.

"La Gioconda" is an opera in four acts, on a libretto by Arrigo Boito, after Victor Hugo's play, "Angelo, Tyrant of Padua." It was first produced at La Scala, Milan, in 1876; in London, in 1880, and in New York the same year. It was revived at the Metropolitan opera house in 1904 and has been on the Metropolitan repertoire steadily.

Two selections by Tschaikowsky will be included in the A. & P. Gypsies program tonight. The first of these selections will be "The Sleeping Beauty Waltz" and the second "Dance Chinois."

Pleasant Mexican melodies will be heard in the Harvesters musical jaunt to Mexico, broadcast over WEAF. Florence Mulholland, the Schumann-Heink of the organization, will be the featured artist with Roxy and his gang. No radio headliner has a more enviable reputation than hers. Before joining with Roxy, Miss Mulholland specialized in church and concert singing. Notwithstanding the fact that she is an American, she started her career singing Scottish folk songs for a modest sum in a little gathering of the clan in New York, and her success was so great that within a few seasons she was one of the highest salaried soloists singing for the various clans throughout the country—the Scotchman's highest tribute to her talent.

Through the courtesy of Center Market, WRC will tonight inaugurate a series of market talks to be entitled "What's In Center Market," and to be given three nights weekly—Monday, Wednesday and Friday. These talks will be prepared and delivered by Miss Anita Hawkins, who will make a tour of the market on the day of the broadcasting and will tell the radio audience all of the marketing news.

An advance program of the outstanding hits and bits of the "Wall Street Follies of 1927" will be broadcast tonight from WEAF's studio. The actual performance of the "Wall Street Follies" is to take place at Mecca temple, New York city, on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. The "Wall Street Follies," which is said to be the world's largest amateur theatrical, is participated in entirely by employes of New York's financial district, and was organized in 1925. It is staged for the benefit of Broad Street hospital, in that part of the city, and it lists among its patrons Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Mayor James J. Walker, Lewis J. Clarke, Benjamin Strong and many other prominent bankers.

Everything in connection with the presentation as far as administration, production and even lyrics and songs has been donated. The production is being directed by Frederick W. Brydon, of the National City Co.

Opportunity to broadcast to their native countries will be given the delegates to the Pan-American commercial conference just concluded at Washington when they are in Pittsburgh on the tour which they will make, starting the latter part of next week. Announcement was made today that arrangements have been completed whereby this broadcasting will be done through KDKA on Sunday evening, May 15. Each of the representatives of the Latin-American countries will be given five minutes to speak on the air, not only to the people of the United States but to the people of his own country.

The fact that the initial performance of "A Night at Tony Pastor's," staged by WABC, New York, brought 600 letters of approval, has indicated to the station the public's interest, and as a result a series of "Tony Pastor" nights will be given, made up of old-time favorites in the way of acts and songs.

Jules Lande, the Shenandoah valley fiddler, and his Hotel Carlton dance orchestra will take the air from WABC at 7:45 o'clock tonight.

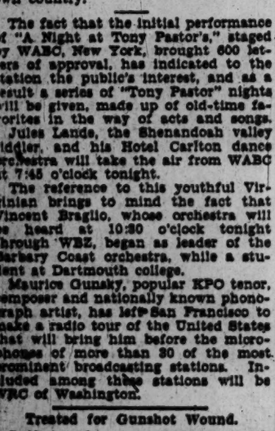

The reference to this youthful Virginian brings to mind the fact that Vincent Braglio, whose orchestra will be heard at 10:30 o'clock tonight through WBZ, began as leader of the Barbary Coast orchestra, while a student at Dartmouth college.

Maurice Gunsky, popular KPO tenor, composer and nationally known phonograph artist, has left San Francisco to make a radio tour of the United States that will bring him before the microphones of more than 30 of the most prominent broadcasting stations. Included among these stations will be WRC of Washington.

Treated for Gunshot Wound.

Suffering from a gunshot wound, which he said was inflicted accidentally, near his home, William Jackson, colored, 20 years old, of Kensington, Md., was brought to Emergency hospital in an automobile by James Bland, 6000 Piney Branch road northwest, early yesterday. After treatment, his condition was pronounced not serious.

UNITED STATES COURT OF CUSTOMS APPEALS.

Present: Presiding Judge William J. Graham and Associate Judges James F. Smith, Orion M. Barber, Oscar E. Bland and Charles S. Hatfield.
The following decisions were handed down today:
No 2861. United States vs. J. R. Gaunt & Son et al. Opinion by Graham, presiding judge. Metal buttons and badges prescribed for use by the officers and men of the army, navy and marine corps were assessed at 80 per cent as articles designed to be worn on or attached to the person. The importers protested that the buttons were properly dutiable at 45 per cent as metal buttons embossed with a design; and the badges as articles of metal, at 60 per cent if plated and at 40 per cent if not plated. The United States customs court sustained the protest of the importers and their judgment is affirmed.
No. 2863. United States vs. K. G. Frank. Opinion by Graham, presiding judge. Steel sheet piling, with fabricated steel corner pieces and steel ramming heads were assessed by the collector as follows: The piling as steel not specially provided for, at the appropriate rates according to value, and the corner pieces and ramming heads at 40 per cent as manufactures of steel. The importer protested that the piling was dutiable at one-fifth cent per pound and the corner pieces at 20 per cent as structural shapes of steel. The United States customs court sustained the protest of the importer and their judgment is affirmed.
No. 2817. Cresca Co., Inc., vs. The United States. Opinion by Smith, associate judge. Merchandise invoiced as "grenadine flavored sirup cresca" was assessed at 20 per cent as a nonenumerated manufactured article. The importer protested that it was properly dutiable as a sugar sirup according to the total sugar content. The United States customs court overruled the protest of the importer, and their judgment is affirmed.
No. 2837. United States vs. Hawley & Letzerich. Opinion by Smith, associate judge. In an importation of jute bagging the importer protested that duty was assessed on the basis that each bolt was 45 inches wide, instead of 44 inches wide, and that therefore duty was taken on a greater number of yards than had been actually imported. The United States customs court sustained the protest of the importer and their judgment is reversed.
No. 2858. O'Connor-Harrison & Co. et al. vs. United States. Opinion by Smith, associate judge. Braids made of sea grass in its natural state and cords made in part of dyed sea grass were assessed at 35 per cent as manufactures of vegetable fiber. The importers protested that the braids were dutiable at 25 per cent as manufactures of grass or at 10 per cent as sea grass manufactured, and that the corded sea grass was similarly dutiable or dutiable at 15 per cent as nonenumerated manufactured articles. The United States customs court overruled the protest of the importers, and it is held here that the goods are dutiable as nonenumerated manufactured articles, but that as the importers did not make that claim for the braids, the collector's assessment must stand as to them. The judgment of the lower court is therefore modified.
No. 2878. William H. Ellis vs. United States. Opinion by Smith, associate judge. So-called spear buoys were assessed at 40 per cent as articles of metal. The importer protested that they were properly dutiable at 25 per cent as sylindrical or tubular tanks or vessels for holding gases, liquids or other materials. The United States customs court overruled the protest of the importer and their judgment is affirmed.
No. 2727. United States vs. D. F. Young. Opinion by Barber, associate judge. Pieces of African cedar, 7 by 2 by ¼ inch, were assessed at 20 per cent as manufactures of wood. The importer protested that they were free of duty as lumber. The United States customs court sustained the protest of the importer and their judgment is affirmed.
No. 2835. United States vs. Bernard Judae & Co. Opinion by Barber, associate judge. Tooth brushes were assessed at 60 per cent as articles in chief value of compounds of pyroxylin, the law providing that all such articles, whether or not more specifically provided for elsewhere, shall be dutiable at that rate. The importer protested that they were properly dutiable at 45 per cent as to toothbrushes. The United States Customs Court sustained the protest of the importer, and their judgment is reversed.
No. 2857. S. & G. Gump Co., Inc., vs. United States. Opinion by Barber, associate judge. Majolica ware was entered at the invoice price less a 10 per cent discount. The local appraiser disallowed the discount and added certain packing charges and a 1 per cent tax. On importers' appeal to reappraisement and re-reappraisement the finding of the local appraiser was sustained. Judgment affirmed.
No. 2875. United States vs. W. H. Horstmann Co. Opinion by Barber, associate judge. Same issue as No. 2861, supra. Judgment affirmed.
No. 2884. United States vs. A. Kaster & Bros. Opinion by Bland, associate judge. Key chains of metal were assessed at 80 per cent as chains designed to be worn on the person. The importer protested that they were properly dutiable at 4 cents per pound as chains. The United States Customs Court sustained the protest of the importer, and their judgment is reversed.
No. 2838. Popper Gray & Co., Inc., vs. United States. Opinion by Hatfield, associate judge. Cheeses 2 feet in diameter and 12 inches in height were assessed an additional duty of 10 per cent as not being marked with the country of origin. The importer protested against the additional duty on the ground that the cheese could not be so marked without injury. The United States Customs Court overruled the protest of the importer, and their judgment is reversed. Bland, associate judge, dissents.
No. 2877. United States vs. D. C. Andrews & Co. (American Optical Company) et al. Opinion by Hatfield, associate judge. Books entered at the invoice value were appraised at a higher value based on the wholesale price in England. The United States Customs Court sustained the invoice value of the importers, and their judgment is reversed.
No. 2796. United States vs. Julius Schmid, Inc. Legality of reappraisement—rubber balls. Dismissed upon stipulation of counsel.
No. 2911. Sheep Shearers Mdse. & Com. Co. vs. United States. Blades for animal clippers. Dismissed upon stipulation of counsel.

BERLIN CHEERS MILDLY AT STEEL HELMET MARCH

EXPECTED RIOTING FAILS

Berlin, May 8 (By A. P.).—The "steel helmet" demonstration passed off quietly today. Forty thousand "steel helmeteers," Germany's world war veterans, marched through a segregated area of Berlin, while an equal number of spectators mildly cheered their progress.

Despite ominous forebodings with which the demonstration had been viewed in the past few weeks, it resolved itself into a picturesque social function, offset against a true soldierly background and executed with old-time military precision. The men goose-stepped past the reviewing stand, wherein two Hohenzollern princes, several scions of lesser royalty and a number of former army and navy officers were conspicuous.

Pince Eitel, the former emperor's second son, marched with his old comrades and was warmly greeted as he goose-stepped past the official reviewers.

To forestall a possible counter demonstration by Berlin "reds," the police confined today's review to the Lustgarten area, adjacent to the former imperial palace, to which admission was by card only. There was little heckling of the marchers, as the police made short shift with spectators who attempted to annoy the veterans.

Berlin evinced only a passive interest in the steel helmeteers' so-called invasion of the metropolis, due chiefly to the fine May sunshine, which lured the populace to the countryside, presumably also because it resented the war veteran organization's implication that the capital was in need of national reawakening.

Although the organization denies that it pursues political motives, and asserts that it is primarily interested in the social welfare of the former fighting men, its two days' program in Berlin took cognizance of neither the German republic nor the republican colors.

Berlin Has Its First Postoffice in Store

Berlin, May 8 (By A. P.).—The American institution of postoffice stations in large department stores, hitherto unknown in Germany, has been adopted by a leading house on the Potsdamer platz.

The innovation is regarded as much of a novelty and attracts many shoppers.

This first department store postoffice is listed officially as Substation, No. 114, Berlin (West), and has the same sort of equipment as those in American department stores.

French Girls Prefer Women's Shop Jobs

Paris, May 8 (By A. P.)—French girls prefer dressmaking, millinery and similar "women's work" to the "dressed-up" jobs of stenographer and saleswomen.

A third of the Paris girls graduated from trade schools are dressmakers and only 1 in 25 seek training as a stenographer or secretary.

Girls outnumber the boys two to one in these schools, which graduate approximately 1,000 well trained young people each year.

SECOND LIBERTYS CALLED BY TREASURY

though payment will not be made until a month later. It is also probable that between now and the due date the government will issue some form of short-term security at a lower interest rate which the holders of the bonds may take in exchange, but the form of such an issue has not been determined upon yet.

The step taken by the Treasury yesterday is the second tending to reduce the interest charges on war-time obligations. Earlier in the year more than $1,360,000,000 worth of the second Liberty loan bonds were refunded into Treasury notes bearing 3½ per cent and running for three to five years.

The second Liberty loan was offered for subscription on October 1, 1917. Subscriptions amounting to $4,617,532,300 were received from 9,400,000 subscribers. A total of $3,807,865,000 was allotted. The bonds issued were dated November 15, 1917, bore interest at 4 per cent, were payable 25 years after date of issue, but were subject to redemption on and after ten years after date of issue, at the option of the United States. These bonds carried a conversion privilege which might be exercised in the contingency of the first subsequent bond issue at higher rate. This contingency arose when the third Liberty loan was issued May 9, 1918, and thereafter $3,707,933,850 of the 4 per cent bonds were converted into 4¼ per cent bonds. The terms of the 4¼ per cent bonds were identical with those of the 4 per cent bonds except for the interest rate.

Of the original issue of $3,807,865,000, $750,361,800 have been redeemed on various accounts and $1,360,166,150 have been refunded into 3½ per cent Treasury notes of 1930-1932. A balance of $1,697,337,050 is now outstanding. A total of 14,938,073 bonds were originally delivered on full paid subscriptions; 19,801,102 bonds have since been delivered on conversion and exchange against the cancellation of a like par amount of other bonds. Altogether 34,739,175 bonds have been delivered to owners. These bonds, the Treasury said, would weight 222 tons, and if spread out would cover almost exactly one square mile of the earth's surface.

Since 1917, Treasury statisticians also revealed, 31,114,759 bonds have been canceled on all accounts, leaving now outstanding 3,624,416 bonds. During the life of the issue interest aggregating $1,327,006,885 will have accrued and become payable on this loan to May 15, 1927, involving the issue and payment of more than 7,750,000 interest checks and the payment of more than 130,000,000 interest coupons.

NEVITT MAY SOLVE BAKER BOY'S MURDER

ing part in investigation of the crime.

Commonwealth's Attorney Cole tonight denied reports that the authorities had given up hope of solving the crime.

"As a matter of fact," Cole declared, "we have just started getting somewhere in the case."

Cole stated tonight the investigating authorities were in possession of "something" that is likely to cause investigators to concentrate on the running out of one theory. Although he carefully avoided stating what this "something" is, he added that he hoped it would result in an arrest.

Several anonymous letters have been received by the parents of the dead boy during the last ten days, it is learned. One of the letters, received by Mrs. Baker Tuesday, several hours before her son's funeral, was of a particularly vicious character and is being investigated by police.

The authorities are convinced the Baker boy was murdered by a person who knew him, having abandoned the theory the crime was committed by strangers to the city.

Police so far have two theories of the more than a dozen advanced for the crime which they are carefully running out. First, they point out, the Baker boy may have been murdered by negroes living near his home. The boy was last seen watching the activities of three negroes who were near an automobile in an alley near the boy's home. These negroes have been questioned by the authorities, but each denies having ever seen the Baker boy the day of his disappearance.

The second theory, given much credence by police, is that the Baker boy may have been injured or killed accidentally, as no motive for the murder has been discovered, and that his body later was tossed in the river to cover up his death.

HISTORY OF BUILDERS OF KISH IS STUDIED

cient Sumerian construction, built on plano-convex brick, as well as ancient sculptures and painted pottery. For five years the expedition has labored under the burning Mesopotamian sun, delving into vast ruins in search of historical remains of the mighty kings of Kish who guided the destinies of the earliest known civilization in the region of Sumer for many centuries.

Next year the excavators hope to make a thorough search beneath the temple of Nabonidus to find authentic records of the history of the Sumerians. So far they have unearthed, beneath the ancient temple, fine black and red painted pottery and a fragment of an excellent marble bas-relief, showing a sacrificial scene of the very oldest archeological period.

LUNCHEON TO CLOSE CAMPAIGNING TODAY FOR WAR MEMORIAL

Reports Will Reveal Whether the Bandstand Can Be Started Now.

DIRECTORS IMPRESSED BY POLICE COOPERATION

Patrolmen, So Far, Have Turned In $1,198 Gifts for Project.

With the success or failure of the plan immediately to build Washington's memorial to her sons and daughters who fought and who died in the world war still hanging in the balance, team captains and workers were urged by telephone calls from campaign headquarters yesterday afternoon to attend the closing luncheon at the Willard hotel today, when final reports will be received and plans probably will be discussed tentatively as to whether the amount received will enable anything to be done toward erecting the memorial at this time.

Reports received at headquarters last night shed little light on the status of the campaign since the luncheon Saturday, when reports received sent the total during the week to a little over $56,000. A number of inquiries were received, however, asking whether the drive would be continued, and the answer to these questions is that the luncheon this afternoon will formally close the campaign. Workers and others who inquired were asked to make every effort to report full quotas.

Following the luncheon a force of workers immediately will be assigned to the task of making last-minute check-ups on receipts in order that the memorial commission may formulate plans for the future. If sufficient funds are reported, those in charge hope to announce the memorial will be built, but this question still remains to be decided.

Campaign directors have been particularly impressed with the fine work of the police in the campaign. Although it originally was contemplated that the police would be helpful if they confined their efforts to the distribution of cards and buttons, the police so far have turned in $1,198.96, about all of which is in cash, with very few pledges. That police have taken an interest in the campaign is indicated not only in their total returns, but because of the rivalry shown between the precincts for the cup offered by the memorial commission for the precinct turning in the largest number of contributions by the end of the campaign.

The results last night showed that No. 10 precinct, with a total of $210, is now leading in the race, with the detective bureau running second, with $190.50 turned in. The standing of other precincts follows: No. 1, $93.75; No. 3, $166.40; No. 11, $3; traffic bureau, $69.50; No. 6, $87.76; No. 8, $41.80; No. 5, $145; No. 12, $17; No. 7, $107.60; No. 14, $3; No. 4, $59.70; No. 13, $2; No. 9, $3.50; No. 13, $3.

A contribution received Saturday was made in the name of Commander and Mrs. Harry Kimmell, "in memory of our beloved son, Maj. Harry L. Kimmell, Sixteenth infantry, first division."

Another contribution from Mrs. Joseph D. Strong bore the notation, "from one of the soldier's mothers," and a check from Mrs. Julia H. Cox was made "in tribute to Capt. Theodore C. Cox."

"Contributions such as these," said Newbold Noyes, chairman of the campaign last night, "are what spur us on and make us realize that we can not fail in this memorial."

Costello Post Memorial Action Declared Regular

Denying that action taken by the Costello post, American Legion, disapproving the proposed memorial to soldiers of the world war was in any way irregular, as charged by Detective Sergeant Henry M. Jett, vice commander of the post, in a letter to the memorial commission, William F. Franklin, adjutant of the past, last night declared 84 members and 13 officers were present at the meeting.

"Costello post never has taken any action approving this memorial in the form proposed," Adjutant Franklin said last night. "At the time the matter was first brought before the post on April 6, 1926, the post voted down a motion to appropriate $50 for this form of memorial." He declared there was no debate opposing the resolution when the final action was taken at the last meeting.

"Commander Mitchell has directed me to make it plain that as the citizens of the District have not erected any memorial commemorating the civil and Spanish wars, it would be improper to erect a memorial commemorating the world war alone," Franklin said.

Police Say Man Cut Wrists and Throat

Sylvester Woltz, 42 years old, of Pillsbury, Pa., police report, attempted to end his life yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Miller, 508 D street northeast, whom he was visiting. He slashed his throat and wrists with a knife, according to police.

Taken to Casualty hospital, Dr. Joseph Angelo, of the hospital staff, closed the wound in his throat with twelve stitches. The flow of blood from his wrists also was checked. After treatment physicians at the hospital reported his condition as serious. Ninth precinct police attributed worry and despondency as the cause of the alleged attempted suicide.

Memorial Bus Line To End Service Today

The Washington Rapid Transit Co. will discontinue its bus service from Sixteenth and Columbia road to the Lincoln memorial today, Alexander Shapiro, vice president and assistant general manager, announced yesterday.

The service was instituted during Easter week from 9:30 a. m. to 3 p. m. to accommodate the many visitors here, but the patronage now does not justify the continuance of the service, Mr. Shapiro stated. The company will resume the night double-deck bus service as soon as the weather permits, however, he stated.

Sixth Presbyterians Give Church $45,045

Pledges amounting to $45,045 were reported by the canvassers' committee of the Sixth Presbyterian church last evening. The drive to raise $150,000 for an addition to the building at Fifteenth and Kennedy streets northwest got under way yesterday, when 40 workers called on persons in the vicinity to solicit funds.

The Rev. George G. Doney, of New York, who is conducting the drive, has called a meeting of the officers of the church for this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the City club, where further plans will be discussed.

WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE DEFENDS CHILD BUREAU

Recent Attacks Assailed as Made Through Misunderstanding of Work.

MANAGEMENT IS PRAISED

Deploring recent attacks upon the children's bureau of the United States Department of Labor, the board of directors of the National League of Women Voters defended the bureau in a statement issues yesterday. The statement charged that the attacks had been made through misunderstanding of the bureau's methods and work.

"The scientific spirit of investigation and research, the effective popularization of the results of that research and the able administration of the entire bureau have commanded the admiration and respect of the members of the league, who regard it as one of the most successful demonstrations of the functioning of the government in the interest of general welfare.

"We believe that it constitutes an adequate reply to those who fear that undesirable bureaucracy is inevitable as a result of cooperation between the Federal and State governments," the directors held.

The statement further added that "there is nothing more subversive in its effect of breaking down confidence in our government and loyalty to it than these reckless attacks upon the work of a bureau which is ably carrying out the work laid down for it by Congress."

MONTGOMERY CIVIC FEDERATION TO MEET

Association to Be Guest Tonight of Silver Spring Chamber.

The Montgomery County Civic federation will hold its last meeting prior to the summer adjournment tonight at 8 o'clock in the Knights of Columbus hall at Silver Spring, Md. The federation will be the guest of the Silver Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, of the public buildings and parks, and engineer commissioner of the District, J. F. Bell, will address the meeting at 9 o'clock, following which there will be dancing.

Policeman to Train At Fort Eustis Camp

Samuel Preston Smith, 1332 Twenty-first street northwest, a Washington policeman, has been accepted for training at the citizens' military training camp opening at Fort Eustis, Va., July 7, headquarters, Third corps area, announced yesterday.

He will enter the "white," or second-year course in infantry training, and although he has never attended a training camp before, his advancement was decided on in view of his civil occupation and previous cadet training. Smith has two brothers who also will be enrolled at the Fort Eustis camp.

CHILD HEALTH TALKS BY EXPERTS TODAY

American Association Will Open Three-Day Conference This Morning.

Child health will be discussed by many Washington experts on that subject at the fourth annual American Child Health association conference which will open at 10 o'clock this morning at the Willard hotel for a three-day session. Daytime sessions will be held at the hotel and evening sessions at the United States Chamber of Commerce building.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, will speak on "Child Health and Labor," at the morning session. Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the children's bureau of the Labor Department, will preside at the afternoon session today and will speak Wednesday. Vernon Kellogg, secretary of the National Research council, will speak on "Determining the Normal" at the evening session.

Miss Ruth Henderson, assistant director American Junior Red Cross; Mrs. Sidonie Gruenberg, director, the Child Study association; Miss Betty C. Wright, of the Federation of Organizations for the Hard of Hearing; L. C. Drake, Boy Scouts of America; Miss Miriam Birdseye, extension agent of the nutrition service, Department of Agriculture; Dr. James F. Rogers of the bureau of education, and Dr. John A. Foote, professor of pediatrics at Georgetown university, also will speak at the sessions.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED BY BEREAN BAPTISTS

Rev. D. F. Rivers Preaches 29th Anniversary Sermon; Brooks Gives Praise.

The fiftieth anniversary of Berean Baptist church, Eleventh and V streets northwest, was celebrated yesterday. The anniversary sermon was preached by the Rev. D. F. Rivers, who has preached 28 anniversary sermons during his pastorate. The Rev. Walter H. Brooks, pastor of Nineteenth Street Baptist church, the mother organization, said:

"I desire to extend to the pastor and people my hearty congratulations and the good wishes of the Nineteenth Street Baptist church for your church's greater growth and larger service in the half century to come. From the time of my coming to this city until the present the church always has had my good wishes."

Mrs. C. E. Pierre recounted services and efforts of founders. Last night the Rev. W. Stuart Nelson, of the Howard university school of theology, preached. M. Grant Lucas, church clerk, recounted incidents in the development of the worshipers. The anniversary musical program was in charge of Alston Burleigh.

INQUIRY TODAY IN KILLING OF ALLEGED RUM RUNNER

CORONER DELAYED CASE

Blame for the fatal shooting of William F. Dement, 29 years old, 1354 Spring road northwest, alleged rum runner, will be fixed today by a coroner's jury at an inquest in the District morgue. Patrolman G. C. Deyoe, of the police liquor squadron, and W. A. Schotter, of the traffic bureau, who are alleged to have fired at Dement during a liquor chase, are suspended pending the outcome of the inquest.

Dement died Friday night in Casuality hospital, a day after surgeons had operated on his head, removing a part of the brain and a bit of bullet. He was wounded in the course of a race with the police liquor squad, under command of Sergt. George Little, the night of April 13. After being shot his car careened into a house in Fifteenth street southeast, tearing away a portion of the front porch.

Dr. J. Ramsay Nevitt, coroner, postponed the inquest Saturday after criticizing the police for their method of handling the case. The coroner declared the police investigation was incomplete and the actual report of the shooting vague. Sergt. Little declared that although he and three other policemen took part in the chase, only Deyoe and Schotter fired at the fleeing car, which is alleged to have operated a smoke screen.

Funeral services for Dement will be held at his home and Sacred Heart church this morning at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in Congressional cemetery.

JEWISH HEADS HEAR SIR ALFRED T. DAVIES

Addresses Conference of the United Palestine Appeal Leaders at Luncheon.

Sir Alfred T. Davies, noted Welsh educator and one of the most earnest non-Jewish advocates of the Palestine movement, addressed a conference of united Palestine appeal leaders at a luncheon yesterday at the Jewish Community center. Sir Alfred just has returned from a tour of the Jewish homeland.

"For Jewry not to seize with avidity, to support with liberality and to develop with foresight and energy the great opportunity now offered to it of reestablishing itself in its old home whence it sprang, with which its religion and tradition and culture are all intertwined, and in which its language had its birth, would seem to me an act of such stupendous folly that I simply can not imagine Zionism being left to perish or even to hunger for lack of support by Jews," he said.

Further plans were made for the mass meeting of members of the drive teams to be held tonight at the community center, which will also be the official starting of the $50,000 campaign. The principal speaker will be Rabbi Edward L. Israel, of Har Sinai temple, Baltimore, former Jewish chaplain at Chaumont, Pershing's headquarters in France. Following this address new motion pictures of the building of the Jewish state will be shown.

Boy Injured by Auto.

Nine-year-old Jack Birge, 330 Adams street northeast, was injured yesterday when struck by an automobile at North Capitol street and Rhode Island avenue. Jack, L. Farren, taxicab driver, 1518 W street southeast, was backing the vehicle and ran the child down. He was taken to Sibley hospital and treated for bruises about the feet.

JEWISH WOMEN OPEN NEW SETTLEMENT HOUSE

SOCIAL CENTER PLANNED

The Juanita Kaufman Nye Council house, at 609 Sixth street southwest, was formally opened yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Mark Lansburgh, vice president of the Washington section, National Council of Jewish Women, accepted the key to the house from Billy Nye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Nye.

The house is a gift to the Washington section of the National Council of Jewish Women by Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Kaufman in memory of their daughter, Jaunita Kaufman Nye, and is to be used as a social center and community house for children of the Southwest.

The dedication ceremony, which was planned for Mother's day by Mrs. Harry Lewis, was opened by Dr. Abram Simon, rabbi of the Washington Hebrew congregation. Miss Carrie Hart told of the work accomplished by the council in the Southwest section in the past, and Mrs. William Ilich disclosed future plans for the section. Selma Selinger Klein gave the vocal selections, accompanied by Margaret Boyd Grant. Hymns were sung by children of the Southwest Sunday school.

Following a short address by Mrs. Harry Rosenberg, chairman of the religious schools for the council, the ceremony was closed with the prayer by Dr. Moses Horwitz.

Citizens Vote Today In Friendship Heights

Residents of Friendship Heights, Md., this evening will go to the polls to select from eleven candidates seven members of the Friendship Heights citizens' committee, which serves as a governing body for the local taxing area. Balloting will take place at Dellinger's store, Wisconsin and Willard avenues northwest, between 5 and 9 o'clock.

Candidates for the committee are James C. Dulin, William Tyler Page, Albert E. Shoemaker, Henry W. Offutt, Alfred G. Seiler, Charles Roach, Mrs. Sullivan Ross, E. E. Dellinger, S. Walker Bogley, J. A. P. Farnham and Emory Bogley. A group of these have announced themselves as "progressives" and in favor of a program of beautification in Friendship Heights. Election judges are James E. Chamberlain, Charles W. Ripley and Robert L. Hughes.

GOSPEL ASSEMBLY OPENS NEW CHURCH

400 Attend Services Conducted by the Rev. Harry L. Collier in Structure.

The congregation of the Full Gospel Assembly celebrated the opening of its new church building at the corner of North Capitol and K streets northeast with testimonial services. The Rev. Harry L. Collier, pastor of the church, led the services. Approximately 400 attended.

The church was organized nineteen years ago, at which time its members gathered for worship in a private residence. Five years ago it was incorporated and the congregation moved into its church at 930 Pennsylvania avenue.

Special services will be held tomorrow, Wednesday and Friday. Those who participated in the services yesterday were William E. Hadden, song leader, and the following soloists: Isabelle Anderson, Grace Ford, Ruth Scoeffield, Ruth Kierna and E. G. Swailes. A choir of 35 sang special songs.

3 Capital Students End Financial Study

Three Washington students, seniors at the Wharton school of finance and commerce of the University of Pennsylvania, have completed studies for the research department of the institute, it was announced yesterday.

They are Perry H. Jacob, 3414 Seventeenth street northwest; Charles P Given, 1741 T street northwest, and William P. Nordlinger, 1933 Nineteenth street northwest.

PAN-AMERICANS HOPE FOR METRIC SYSTEM

Delegates of 21 Republics to Open Standardization Conference Today.

With delegates from 21 American republics in attendance, the second Pan-American standardization conference will open here today. The conference will continue until Thursday.

Introduction of the metric system of weights and measures in the United States will be one of the most important issues up for discussion at the conference. All the republics which will be represented at the conference, with the exception of the United States, already have adopted the system.

The first standardization conference was held in Lima, Peru, December, 1924, and January, 1925. Resolutions urging that the units of weights and measures in the countries tend toward the metric system were adopted at that conference.

THIRTY THEFTS MARK WEEK-END IN CAPITAL

Policeman's Shots Scare Would-Be Robbers From Gasoline Filling Station.

BURGLAR FOUND IN HOME

Thirty larceny reports made their way to police headquarters yesterday as the result of activities of thieves over the week-end. A policeman foiled the attempts of two robbers to break into a store, while two civilians came upon men in the act of robbing and frightened them off without loss.

Patrolman C. W. Durden, of the Eighth precinct, chanced upon two negroes attempting to break into a gasoline filling station at 1731 Kalorama road northwest. They spied his approach and fled. He fired two shots at them, but lost them after a pursuit of five blocks.

Henry Myers, 706 C street southwest, found a man on the third floor of his home, robbing his room. The man eluded him and fled down the stairway, dropping $28 in his flight. George M. Seibert, 50 Canal street southwest, reported that the caught a colored youth attempting to break into his home. The negro fled.

Accused of felling Ernest West, colored, 38 Decatur street northeast, and robbing him of $10, Jesse Williams, colored, 19 years old, 1201 Twenty-first street northwest, was arrested yesterday by police of the Second precinct. The robbery occurred at Tenth and O streets northwest. West told police he was on his way home when he was struck. He identified Williams as his assailant.

The other reports concerned the robberies of household articles and furniture, automobiles and accessories, jewelry, clothing and similar articles.

Hadassah to Hold Luncheon Tomorrow

The fifth annual spring luncheon of the Hadassah will be held tomorrow at the Willard hotel, at 12 o'clock, instead of 1 o'clock, as previously announced. The committee in charge of arrangements is under the direction of Mrs. John M. Safer, president of the chapter, who recently made a tour through Palestine, making a thorough study of conditions there.

Mrs. Irma L. Lindheim, president of the New York National Hadassah, will be the principal speaker. Mrs. Saks Bricker, of Philadelphia, will give several vocal selections, and Mrs. Herman Hollander will read a poem of her own composition dedicated to Hadassah. Sir Alfred Davies, until recently head of the administration of education in Wales, also will be a guest and speaker.

RECITAL IS GIVEN BY MARR DANCERS

Music Accompanies Performance by Ensemble at Shubert-Belasco.

A delightful bit of music visualization, with outstanding numbers by Florence Berry and Eugenie Omberg, and successful ensembles, was presented last night at the Shubert-Belasco theater, in a concert dance recital by Helen Jane Marr and her troupe of dancers.

"Soaring," by Annette Queed, Goldie Halstead, Eleanora Peake, Miss Omberg and Miss Marr, was especially well rendered, as was the concluding number, "An Indian Nautch," with Miss Marr and the ensemble. "Dans Le Jardin," with Virginia Ford in the cradle song; Mary Ann Bishop, in "Valse Bluette," and Misses Omberg, Berry and Peake, called forth special comment.

Other numbers of interest included the "Tango," with Miss Peake and Horace Peacock; "La Danza," with Ivy Randall; "La Cachuca," with Kitty McLeod; "Gypsy Portrait," with Miss Marr, and Mary Bishop, Miss Halstead, Peggy Sanders, Miss Queed, Teresa Bishop, Grace McEwen, Ann Shelden, Loretta Murphy, Miss Randall, Vernoll Berry, Helen McEwen and Thelma Schmit in "Romance." "Aragonaise" was well presented by Dorothy Cooper, Mary Francis Cooper and Mona Laurent.

Autoist of Vienna, Va., Injured in Collision

Ruxford Swartz, sr., 41 years old, of Vienna, Va., was injured seriously last night when an automobile driven by his son, in which he was riding, was in collision with another car at Fourteenth street and Ohio avenue northwest. Swartz was treated at Emergency hospital for a fractured arm and severe cuts on the head.

Both automobiles were damaged badly. They were driven, police said, by Ruxford Swartz, jr., and Colanell Stevens, 1751 Eighth street northwest.

Woman Hit by Car Critically Injured

Miss Tillie J. Robertson, 63 years old, of the Sherman apartments, Fifteenth and L streets northwest, was critically injured last night when run down by an automobile while crossing the street near her home. She was taken to Emergency hospital suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, scalp cuts and bruises.

Raymond Steele, of 1748 Columbia road northwest, drove the car. He was questioned by Third precinct police and released pending the outcome of the woman's injuries.

PRIEST TO EXPLAIN ROTA ANNULMENT

Catholic Marriage Laws Topic of Lecture Tonight by Fitzgerald.

The Very Rev. E. G. Fitzgerald, of Catholic university, will explain the action of the rota at Rome in its annulment of the marriages of the Duke of Marlborough and William Marconi tonight at 8 o'clock in St. Dominic's hall, Sixth and F streets northwest, in a talk on "The Marriage Laws of the Catholic Church."

The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Holy Name society of the St. Dominic's church. Last night before the Holy Name society Father Fitzgerald urged the members to obey constituted authority and to follow rules of their religion in such a manner as to attract the attention of all men.

The society admitted nineteen new members. They are Edmund J. Zeis, James L. Deschard, George J. Dier, William D. Ballenger, James J. Springmann, Vincent J. Coll, Norman Hoyle, John M. Curtin, Joseph M. Costello, George T. Zeman, Samuel Ablett, John O'Connor, Lawrie Gibson, Joseph A. Nagel, Robert R. Ryan, John M. O'Neil, R. Rice, Joseph E. Morgan and John D. McGregor. The Rev. John Sullivan, O. P., gave the benediction. The Rev. P. T. McAllister was in charge of the reception to new members.

Obliging Druggist Robbed by Customer

A rain-soaked stranger limped into Queen's drug store, at 3704 Fourteenth street northwest, last night and purchased a corn plaster. Five minutes later he walked briskly from the store after having stolen $90 and a quantity of narcotics.

L. F. Queen, owner of the store, told police that after the man had purchased the corn plaster he asked permission to go into a rear room to apply it to his foot. Queen assented and showed the stranger into the room where he stored his drugs. While Queen was waiting on another customer the man picked the lock on a medicine cabinet and stole the money and narcotics. As he left he thanked Queen for allowing him to use the room.

Republican Colored Women Hold Session

The Women's National Republican Political Study club was addressed yesterday at the home of Mrs. M. D. Butler by Theophilus J. Houston, who spoke on "The Power of Organization." He urged closer organization of colored women for protection of the rights of the negro in America.

He advocated the slogan, "Law Enforcement," for political organizations of colored women and urged development of a program in advocacy of enforcement of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments. Injection of religious issues into national political campaigns was deplored.

Research Federation Opens Meeting Today

The Personnel Research federation and the Taylor society will hold a joint meeting today and tomorrow in the National Research council.

Tonight a banquet will be held in the Powhatan hotel at 6:45 o'clock. Graham Wallas, of the London School of Economics, and Arthur H. Young, of the Industrial Relations Counselors, Inc., will address the banquet.

Fire Does $5,000 Damage.

Fire of undetermined origin caused damage estimated at $2,000 in the home of Luther Franks, 3014 South Dakota avenue northeast, yesterday afternoon. The fire started on the second floor of the house, a two-story frame dwelling. Neighbors saw smoke and summoned fire apparatus.

CITIZENS' MEETINGS TO DISCUSS 1-MAN CARS DURING WEEK

Playgrounds, Traffic System and School Improvements Are Other Topics.

SIGNALS TO BE URGED IN MARYLAND AVENUE

Many School Children Have Met With Accidents on This Thoroughfare.

The proposed extension of one-man car service in the District will be the principal topic of discussion at citizen association meetings this week.

Improvements in playgrounds, streets, traffic system and school problems also will come in for consideration at the meetings. Associations to meet are: Stanton Park, tonight in the Peabody school; Piney Branch, in the Hamline Methodist Episcopal church tonight at 8 o'clock; Lincoln Park, tomorrow night in the Bryan school; Michigan Park, Wednesday in the Bunker Hill school, and Takoma Park, tonight in the Takoma library.

Stanton Park, Piney Branch and Lincoln Park will consider the street car situation. The question before these associations is, "Shall we favor more one-man street cars at the present fare, or shall we favor more double cars with increased fare?"

Want Better-Lighted Streets.

Members of Stanton Park will take steps to obtain traffic lights on Maryland avenue. D. F. Manning, secretary, pointed out that serious accidents have occurred on the avenue between Fifteenth and Fourth streets, including the death of George Langford, schoolboy patrol. Children from approximately six schools cross the avenue several times daily, and it is a question of hazard and not of convenience, he said, adding that the traffic bureau should take some steps to eliminate these accidents.

The association also will consider the question of married women remaining teachers. It was pointed out that married teachers in the school tend to discourage high school girls from entering normal school, and those already in normal school from completing the course, since vacancies in school positions are sparse.

To Urge School Appropriation.

The Piney Branch citizens will request an appropriation to start construction of a high school at Thirteenth and Allison streets to take the place of the Business High school. The association also will ask that a junior high school be erected in Brightwood. The Manor Park citizens are asking that the Junior High school be located east of Brightwood.

Dr. George C. Havenner and Kenneth P. Armstrong will address the Lincoln Park citizens. Ladies' night will be celebrated and a program has been arranged for the occasion.

Takoma Park will consider improvements to the playground bound by Van Buren, Whittier, Third and Fourth streets. Mrs. Marguerite Colton, newly appointed director of the municipal playground, will address the meeting.

Inquiry Today in Death Of Boy Traffic Guide

Benjamin F. Smith, 50 years old, of Mount Rainier, Md., will face a coroner's jury at 11:30 o'clock today in the District morgue when Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt will conduct an inquest into the death of George Branston Langford, 13 years old, 610 Fourteenth street northeast, Pierce schoolboy traffic guide, who died Saturday.

The boy was injured March 14 while on patrol duty at Fourteenth street and Maryland avenue northeast. Smith was driving an automobile, which was in collision with another vehicle and then pinned the boy against a lamp post. Funeral services will be held at the home tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Fort Lincoln cemetery. The boy is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Langford; three sisters, Irma, Bernice and Thelma, and a brother, Harry Norton Langford. He was the first victim of the schoolboy patrol.

Old Garfield Doctors To Form Association

The former house medical officers of Garfield Memorial hospital will give a banquet and reunion in the Hamilton hotel next Monday night. At the banquet an alumni association will be organized.

Dr. A. B. Bennett, Dr. William Sprigg and Dr. Deane C. Howard will speak. Dr. Albert L. Stavely will be toastmaster. Slides depicting changes in the hospital organization since its inception will be shown. Dr. E. Clarence Rice is chairman of the committee on arrangements. Those assisting him are Dr. Bennett, Dr. Joseph B. Bogan, Dr. William Earl Clark, Dr. Custis Lee Hall, Dr. Howard, Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, Dr. Maurice S. Selinger and Dr. Stavely.

Boy Scout to Be Given Award for Saving Life

Scout James Pryor, jr., of Troop 25, Boy Scouts, will be awarded a certificate of heroism for life-saving by the national court of honor at a meeting of the Boy Scouts training course for leaders of boys tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Wilson Normal school.

Pryor rescued a boy from a creek near Chautauqua lake in New York last year. The meeting is one in a series to train leaders of scouts. Tonight camping and troop committees will be the subjects of discussion. Dr. Frank Bartsch will talk, and a moving picture depicting scout camps will be shown.

Social Agencies Slate Meeting for Today

The Washington council of social agencies will hold its final spring meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Burlington hotel. Alan Johnstone, of the Baltimore community fund, will speak on "New Methods of Financing Social Agencies."

The annual election will be held at the business session. Nominations for the offices are: Mrs. John J. O'Connor, president; Arthur C. Moses, vice president; Newbold Noyes, treasurer; M. O. Chance, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. W. A. Roberts, executive secretary.

Man Struck by Auto.

Run down by an automobile, driven by Archie Raun, 1349 Massachusetts avenue southeast, yesterday at New Jersey and Rhode Island avenues northwest, James H. Johnson, colored, 72 years old, 1532 Fifth street northwest, was bruised about the legs and body. He was treated at Freedmen's hospital.
